

50 Per Cent Better

"I have used less than one bottle of Cardui," writes Mrs. Gertrude Ward, of Rushville, Neb., "and am feeling fifty per cent better than when I began taking it."

"Before taking Cardui, I had suffered with female trouble, for eight years. My greatest trouble was irregularity. I also suffered with severe pains, every month, but now I am greatly improved and will recommend Cardui to all my suffering friends."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The rare medicinal herbs of Cardui are imported by the manufacturers direct from Europe and are not to be found in any other medicine.

These ingredients are what give Cardui its superiority, as a female medicine and tonic, over any other medicine.

For over 50 years Cardui has been the favorite woman's medicine. The ladies like it, because it is so easy to take, so gentle, so safe, so reliable in its results, and they have faith in its curative powers, because of the thousands of other ladies it has helped. Try it today.

It's easy for people to make money who don't need it.

Clever Paris Beggars.

Begging is forbidden on the Paris boulevards. But one day recently a pale, poorly dressed man was seen humbly approaching various pedestrians. He was evidently not used to begging, and as he told his pathetic story without the requisite boldness people passed him by unnoticed. A man dressed in black stepped up to him and showed him a card. He carried a thick stick and wore a heavy mustache and thick boots, which are the outward and visible signs, with a multicolored ribbon in the buttonhole, of a detective in plain clothes.

"Now, then, get out of this or I'll run you in," he said roughly. Then in a lower tone, "Poor chap!" and fortunately he gave the man some silver.

People had seen him do it, and, cheering the kind hearted policeman, they, too, gave to the poor beggar. A few minutes afterward in a side street the two men divided the spoils and moved off separately to ply their trade elsewhere. The detective wasn't a detective at all, but a beggar made up for the part.

Finally Lost It.

"I may have lost my golf ball," thought the old man as he crept on all fours round the bush into which it had rolled, "but I will not lose my temper."

So he continued to grovel and grope and to wear a persuasive, patient smile. His knees begged, his back ached horribly, and the bush bestowed upon his hands a generous quantity of thorns. But he refused to discard his smile and kept on repeating:

"No; I will not lose my temper. I will not!"

Suddenly the elusive ball caught his eye. Flopping flat, he stretched his hands toward it, grasped it among its nest of thorns and gingerly withdrew it.

"Holy-toity!" exclaimed an old woman behind him. "You ought to be ashamed, bird nesting at your time of life!"

And then he did lose his temper.—London Answers.

A Fearless Quaker.

Uncle Abe was noted for his ability to turn his clouds inside out and show the silver lining. If any particular cloud was dark through and through he wisely supplied it with the lining from another. His yoke of steers had taken the cash price on the first day of the fair. On the second some new contestants were entered, and Abe would probably be outclassed. But, as usual, he had made the most of good fortune while it lasted.

"Aren't you quaking in your boots?" a friend asked.

Abe thrust out a foot clad in new tan leather.

"Why, yes," he said; "I am quaking in my boots. But when I got that $50 yesterday I made sure they should be new boots. It ain't so bad to quake if you can do it in new boots."—Youth's Companion.

Ghiberti's Famous Doors.

The world renowned doors of the baptistery at Florence represent nearly the entire life work of Ghiberti. He began the first pair when he was twenty-three years old, and when he finished the second pair he was seventy-three. Excepting the three statues outside Or San Michele and one or two minor works, these two pairs of bronze doors represent his labors for half a century. These doors, declared by Michelangelo "fit to be the gates of paradise," represent the book of Genesis in all the depth of its meaning, and the skill of the artist has never been overpraised. It is impossible to exaggerate the glory of the work, and if one has the time and money the sight of those wonderful doors is well worth the trip to Florence.—New York American.

Pull or Push?

Is there any such thing as pull? Does the horse pull the cart, or does he simply push on his collar and so draw it along? Would you pull a weight that was fastened to your coat-tails, or in that case would you simply be pushing against your clothes? Do our political opponents always get their jobs through their own push, or is it usually a matter of pull? This is an interesting problem. Think it over.—New York Globe.

Very Strong.

"I see," said Sators, "that our old friend Blinks had a strong article in one of the Boston papers the other day."

"Really?" said Blinks incredulously. "I'd never have believed that of old Bill. What was it?"

"A recipe for pickled onions," said Sators.—Harper's Weekly.

Long Drawn-Out.

Little Elmer had just been given a piece of pie. "Are you going to give me another piece, mamma?" he asked.

"Why do you ask, Elmer?" she queried.

"'Cause if you ain't I'll eat this piece real slow," was the reply.—Chicago News.
