ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness. Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebium, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots, and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "33" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently help to restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "33" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by aiding in making every hair root, follicle, and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give Rexall "33" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it only at our store—The Rexall Store.

APOSTOLIC SUCCESSION UN-SCRIPTURAL.

Mark III, 7-12; Matthew v, 13-16—April 21.

Today's lesson shows the particularity with which the twelve Apostles were chosen. Some of the things said to and respecting them are equally appropriate to every one of Jesus' followers, but other things said to The Twelve and respecting them apply to no others of their day nor since. As for instance, the Savior said to The Twelve, and to none others, "Whoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The import of these words clearly is that the persons indicated were assured that they would be so specially guided of Divine providence that they would set forth as the Divine will amongst men nothing to which Heaven would not assent; and they would declare not blinding upon the followers of Jesus only such things as in God's sight would not be blinding. In those twelve men, therefore, we recognize a plenary inspiration, or special guidance not accorded in this particular degree to others of the "brethren."

Surely there is no intimation in the New Testament that as one after another of the Apostles died other men were recognized as succeeding them. On the contrary, the Scriptures repeatedly refer to the "Twelve Apostles of the Lamb." Moreover, as the Jewish Dispensation began at the death of Jacob, in the recognition of his twelve sons, so the Christian Dispensation began at the death of Jesus, in the recognition of His twelve Apostles. And as one of the tribes of Israel was cut off, and is not mentioned in the enumeration in the Apocalypse, but the tribe of Manasse substituted, so amongst Jesus' Apostles Judas is dropped and a successor is appointed.

St. Paul to Succeed Judas. In the past we may have read too carelessly the account of how the eleven faithful Apostles exceeded their authority in the selection of Matthias to take the place of Judas. They should have remembered that the Master specifically told them to do nothing until after receiving the heavenly benediction. Accrediting them with the very best of heart intentions, it was, nevertheless, affronting to their part to select two names and to determine that one or the other must be the successor of Judas. They had no authority for so doing. As for the one upon whom the lot fell, Matthias, we hear nothing further of him. In God's due time, He Himself brought forth Saul of Tarsus. St. Paul tells us that he found evidence that God had chosen him for a special service from his mother's womb. And such special preparation and supervision we doubt not was applicable to all of The Twelve.

"A Crown of Twelve Stars." The Lord's specialization of the twelve Apostles is variously referred to. He said, "Have not I chosen you twelve?" And again, "Ye shall sit on twelve thrones." In the symbolical book of Revelation He pictures the Church as a woman clothed with sunlight, standing over or near to the moon, which symbolizes the Jewish Law Covenant; and upon her head was a crown of twelve stars, representing the twelve Apostles of the Lamb.

Again, later on in the same book, we find pictured the Church in glory beyond the veil, the Bride—the New Jerusalem. Of this City we read that it had twelve foundations, and in the twelve foundations the names of the twelve Apostles.

The recognition of successors to the Apostles was one of the first errors after their death. Every bishop was recognized as one of the successors and hence as possessing Apostolic authority. It was not long until the words of the original Twelve were neglected. The living bishops were acknowledged as speaking with the same Divine authority—up-to-date. Later great Church Councils were called in which these bishops, as claimed successors to the Apostles decided what should and what should not be believed by the Church, what was and what was not orthodox.

It can be readily seen that this exaltation of false apostles (Revelation II, 2), contrary to the Divine arrangement, opened a flood-gate of error, however well intentioned all concerned may have been. It is surprising that so many still hold to the creeds thus formulated by pseudo-apostles. The need of the hour is a recognition of these facts and an abandonment of all those creeds and a return to the words of Jesus and the Apostles and the Prophets. Only thus can we extricate ourselves from the multiplied errors represented in the six hundred divisions of the church of Christ.

Senator Simmons Stood Ready To Sacrifice His Property. It is said that the memory of a people for past benefits is short, but we do not think that the political history of North Carolina during the past fourteen years will ever be forgotten. Faced in 1898 with a situation in the Eastern and Central parts of the State in which a black majority threatened our institutions, it was by the wise counsel and a sterling leadership of one man a noble effort that we found a way out of the wilderness, and that man was the Hon. F. M. Simmons. So deeply did we feel about this crisis in our affairs, so vital did he regard the White Supremacy Campaign of 1900 that he stood ready to sacrifice his own property and did, we are reliably informed, mortgage his realty to secure funds to conduct this campaign. Where else in the history of North Carolina will you find such fidelity to a cause? What were the actual conditions in Granville County when Senator Simmons bravely stepped into the arena? Surely we can not forget that there were seventeen negro school committees and eighteen negro magistrates in this county, and a seven negroes actually composed a jury before which a white citizen was arraigned. It was Senator Simmons that dispelled the dark cloud that hung so menacingly over the Old North State.

A gentleman who recently visited several of our eastern counties which were most seriously threatened prior to the memorable campaign of 1900 was in conversation with several gentlemen of prominence and questioned regarding their choice for United States Senator. They were surprised that such a question should be asked in the light that Senator Simmons had delivered that state from the dominion of vampire, recalling, as it were, the dark period prior to the sledge-hammer blows he rendered in welding the Democrat party in North Carolina. "No we will not forget," they say, "his courage in leading us to victory, and shall not hesitate to give him our hearty support." What is true in the eastern part of North Carolina is equally true in other parts of the State. The people are debating the Hercules task that confronted Senator Simmons in the days that tried men's souls; they are comparing recent history with past history, debating men and measures, and will be governed accordingly.

Trying On Shoes. If possible, says a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, try on your shoes in the evening. The feet are larger and more sensitive at night, because of the exercises they have had during the day. The muscles are also more tender from constant motion and the augmented flow of blood. The weight of the body so seriously affects the circulation of the blood that women obliged to stand all day suffer much from swollen feet. This, too, often causes varicose veins. When one is in good health the feet return to their normal size after a rest. This is because they no longer have to sustain the weight of the body. Never wear new shoes when taking a long walk. Wear them first in the house for several days, then on short walks. In taking the precautions which I have advised you will ensure as much comfort to your feet in a new shoe as in an old one, and your boots, shoes and slippers will last a great deal longer.

Denton An Ideal Town. Those who have not been to Denton for a year would be astonished at the growth of the town. Brick buildings, wooden buildings and all kinds of buildings are going up. It is a live, up-to-date town and is growing rapidly. A lot sale of the most valuable property in the town will take place on Friday, April 20. Values are not high at Denton, but with the new industries going up and the developments now made and planned for the future, money invested in real estate there will be as safe and profitable investment as one can make.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance have moved to their home, Mr. Nance having purchased the Pat Pickett place.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help, Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer."

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm. There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles. N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

Rev. U. S. Crowder who is now pastor of the M. E. Church at Winner, South Dakota, writes the editor of The Courier that he intended to visit his old home and the scenes of his youth in Randolph, but his duties as pastor kept him away, and he also represents his masonic lodge at the State Grand Lodge this month. Mr. Crowder now expects to visit this State during his vacation in the early summer. He says they are having fine weather low in South Dakota. Large herds of cattle are on the plains feeding. Also bands of Sioux Indians are roaming over the plains. After discussing national politics and closing with the statement that Taft is ahead with the Republicans while Clark and Wilson about equally divide the Democratic first. Mr. Crowder's closing sentence is that he would like to see Aycock go to the United States Senate. The letter was written April 3 d just two days before his death.

Trying On Shoes. If possible, says a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, try on your shoes in the evening. The feet are larger and more sensitive at night, because of the exercises they have had during the day. The muscles are also more tender from constant motion and the augmented flow of blood. The weight of the body so seriously affects the circulation of the blood that women obliged to stand all day suffer much from swollen feet. This, too, often causes varicose veins. When one is in good health the feet return to their normal size after a rest. This is because they no longer have to sustain the weight of the body. Never wear new shoes when taking a long walk. Wear them first in the house for several days, then on short walks. In taking the precautions which I have advised you will ensure as much comfort to your feet in a new shoe as in an old one, and your boots, shoes and slippers will last a great deal longer.

Denton An Ideal Town. Those who have not been to Denton for a year would be astonished at the growth of the town. Brick buildings, wooden buildings and all kinds of buildings are going up. It is a live, up-to-date town and is growing rapidly. A lot sale of the most valuable property in the town will take place on Friday, April 20. Values are not high at Denton, but with the new industries going up and the developments now made and planned for the future, money invested in real estate there will be as safe and profitable investment as one can make.
