ing Manifested and Helpful Ses-By an old Comrade!

By an old Comrade; Writing a sketch of Dr. Hancock is to me a great pleasure. I knew him only about five or six years. I first formed his acquaintance at a debating society in 1855. I admired him for his firmness, for his gentle manners, for his integrity, for his firmness in his arguments in debat-ize, in fact for all his noble qualities and loyalty of principles that he transmitted to posterity, and especial ly to his only child, who at his death, was about three years old, and who is now one of Randolph county's brightert jewels. Dr. Hancock was educated in the

Dr. Hancock was educated in the ommon schools of his county, never ad an opportunity to go to college r attend high schools of his county or attend high schools of his county for when quite a young man he went in defense of his beloved' Southland. He was reared on a farm about six miles south of Ashe-boro in Cedar Grove township, was the son of isanc Hancock, who was at one time sheriff of Randolph County.

In 1866 Major Hancock was ap-pointed by the county court to fill out the unexpired term of Joseph Brown, and was clerk of the county court, but died while in office, at it end of his term, and during the time he was acting as clerk, he read medicine, and afterward attend ad Jefferson College, Philadelphia, Pa., and obtained license to practice medicine.

nedicine Under the administration of Goy Worth the militia was reorganized, and, if my memory serves me right, and, if my memory serves me right, four counties composed one briga-uler general's district. Major Han-cock was elected brigadier general, defauting John A. Gilmer, Jr., of Guilford, by eleven hundred ma-jority. But in a short time Gen-eral Camby stepped up and said. "I nm 'l' spelled with a big 'I'. You Rebs step down and out, for I am Major Domo of this whole shooting match." In 1870, I think it was, Major Hancock was a candidate for The way of the source the the source of the source the the source of the sour
