A Railroad That Pays

The Clinchfield Railroad was built with two distinct purposes in mind. One was to give the maximum of good service and the other was to make money. It has been doing both. Its good service both in freight and passenger traffic is a matter of public knowledge. In a vague way it has been understood, also, that the road is making money, but at what particular rate the public is not so well informed. The last financial statement of the company throws light on the subject. The road is earning money at the rate of $12,000 a mile. Its gross earnings last year were over $3,000,000. Its net earnings were tied up at the rate of 1,740,000, making in the clear $7,000 a mile. The bulk of this is to be credited to the road's coal traffic, but the Clinchfield also does a large passenger business. When its 35 miles of extension to Elkhorn, Ky., is complete, the Clinchfield expects to show gross earnings of $20,000 a mile. And no doubt its expectations will be realized.—Charlotte Observer.

In Memory of Little Leotis Harman Gaddis

On New Year's morning so early that the east wind entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gaddis and吹了 the baby of the house, little Leotis Harman. While the baby had only been in the home three months and 25 days it had endeared itself to all the family and neighbors. A sufferer from birth it had showed the spirit of sweet patience and leaves behind it the lesson of endurance.

The little body was carried to Mt. Zion church in Fabernace township and laid to rest by loving hands Rev. C. L. Whitaker, pastor of the M. P. church, conducted the service.

We extend to the bereaved father and mother and two little brothers our deepest sympathy in this hour of trial.

In Memoriam.

Wilson L. Boudin died at the hospital at High Point Dec. 11, 1913, aged 72 years. Surviving him are one daughter Mrs. N. C. English, Mrs. J. C. Teague and Mrs. J. J. Gentry, F. S., W. L., M. M., J. O., Dr. G. L. and D. L. Boudin.

He was a veteran of the civil war, having served throughout the entire period of four years as a member of the Sixth N. C. Regiment. He went through this struggle and came back home without a scratch of violence on his person.

His sickness was of long duration. Especially the last six months of his life his suffering was intense and at times seemed more than human patience and fortitude could stand. All that medical skill, family and friends could do seemed a failure to arrest the malignant disease preying upon his once strong and robust body. The great professional skill at home and at Johns Hopkins Hospital failed to stay the ravages of the cancerous disease. For some time prior to his death he seemed to realize that his temporary career was rapidly drawing to a close. Deeply impressed with this thought he began arranging his secular affairs with this end in view. He passed away leaving assurances to his family and friends that all was well with him in the life beyond time and sense.

He was buried at Abbot's Creek by the side of his companion who preceded him to the grave eight years ago. He became a member of this church several years ago and had been a consistent member ever since. A short service was conducted at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. Teague, by the Rev. Dr. Tyree, pastor of the Baptist church at High Point. The services were further continued at his own church by Elder W. P. Willard, his pastor, and Rev. D. U. Cox.

Those ministers brought words of great satisfaction and consolation to his friends and family in the enumeration of his virtues and qualities manifested in life for his home friends and neighbors. He gave lavishly of himself and his means for the welfare of his family and his church. His remains were very tenderly borne to the grave by his six grown sons.—High Point Daily Enterprise.

Get Rid of the Shacks.

City authorities in not a few places take it upon themselves to require the removal of buildings of a class known as shacks—wooden fire traps, which constantly invite private or public disaster. We have come to Raleigh beyond question, and any citizen with ordinary eyesight can point at a dozen of them in an hour. Such buildings increase insurance rates, of course, and equally of course detract from the appearance of any place, thus serving no useful purpose. All of us have seen all the effects of more attractive buildings. Happily, Raleigh is not such a place; yet, we have fire traps which the city commission would do well to condemn, and some of these are in the fire district.—Raleigh Evening Times.

Timely Don'ts.

Don't look—look at all fires in good condition before starting fire in them. It is wiser.
Don't forget—that four or five ounces of a common table salt will extinguish a fire in a flash.
Don't forget—that gas will be a major factor between the brick, especially if the proper amount of cement is not used.

Don't forget—to tell the department that it is a fire fire.

Don't forget—to put the matches where the children can't get them.

Don't forget—to turn off the electricity.

Don't forget—that a few buckets of water, or better still, a small portable chemical extinguisher, could extinguish the average fire in a moment, before the fire department would arrive, or at least help to control the fire until the fire department does arrive.

Don't forget—to carefully inspect rubber floor connections to gas pipes; rubber with crack and allows gas to escape. If it is not cracked now, it is only a matter of time until it will be, and a pipe is cheaper than rubber hose and is a great deal safer.

Don't forget—Mr. Business Man, that a great many fires start from trash and rubbish left in the back yard or in the basement, and there are cases where employees go to these places to smoke because it is out of the way, and there is no one to say anything but the porter. It is just as important to protect your business as it is to see that a clerk treats a customer properly.

Don't forget—that your careless neighbor may burn your neighbor's house.

This Means You.

Every householder should make a personal inspection of his residence and other buildings for the discovery of possible fire dangers.

Look at the chimneys, especially at this season of the year. Has the mortar in the upper parts decayed either from the action of weather or gases from the fuel used? Defective chimneys are a frequent cause of fires at this time, and are always a menace.

How do you dispose of ashes? Never let ashes come in contact with wood, even though they are apparently cold.

Is there any rubbish lying around awaiting only a spark to start a fire? Look at your gas connections, and remove that rubber hose, if you are using one.

If electricity is used, examine the wiring.

See that stovepipes do not pass through wooden partitions or common wood at any point.

These are only a few things to be looked after, but a brief inspection may save your property.

The First Essential in Economical Soil Building.

Nitrogen is the most costly plant food, if it is bought; it is the one most likely to be lost from the soil by leaching, and it is generally deficient in Southern soils. This deficiency is probably due more largely to climate conditions than to faulty farming methods, although both have played an important part. The nitrogen necessary to maintain or increase soil fertility is economically obtained only through growing of legume crops, which take in from the air and store it in the plant.

Humus not only improves the texture of the soil, but also enables it to hold moisture and soluble plant foods, and in its decay furnishes nitrogen to feed the crops and affords activity or bacteria, which in breaking down the humus or organic matter also set free acids which dissolve other plant foods.

In other words, grow legumes that gather nitrogen from the air to supply humus, and the question of nitrogen, as well as many other important soil difficulties, are solved.—Fait Butler, in The Progressive Farmer.

CONSUMPTION VERSUS WAR

GERMS FAR MORE DESTRUCTIVE THAN GENERALS

But Hear's Emulsion Tones Up System and Tends to Prevent Lung Disease.

Civil War Deaths 1861 to 1865, 205,000.
Consumption 1904 to 1907, 640,000.

Would it not be a sad time in your home if your husband, wife, daughter and son would have to march out today in another civil war?

Look at the above figures again. They are facing an army that is commanded by an officer that is far more destructive in his attack than Lee or Grant ever were. The officer waits until you are down, then jumps on. The quiet way these attacks is made is a relief, but you going to die about it? Let it be from dry to dry? Or are you going to build up your system, that is, weakening away and expiring, to this consumption germ? Hear's Emulsion is the remedy to ward off this germ.

For it not only maintains normal conditions of vitality, but has a well defined preventive influence upon the symptoms of the germ. Another special advantage which gives the remedy the preference is that it is invariably beneficial to the disordered digestive organs. For disturbance are almost constantly present. In this way as in many others, Hear's Emulsion proves to be better than any other remedy sold. One dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars. Express added if you can't get it from your druggist.

Diversified Farming Is Making the South

Planters are finding that it pays to rotate crops. Corn, hay and cotton follow each other with a sure profit. Besides raising diversified crops, more planters use fertilizers containing enough to balance the phosphoric acid. Enough Potash means at least as much Potash as phosphoric acid. To get full value out of your fertilizer, insist on high-grade goods. If your dealer doesn't carry such grades, buy Potash separately. Potash Pays.

Look for the TRIANGLE

LOOK for this triangle before you buy any heater.

It is the trademark of the latest model of the Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater.

It is the sign of the greatest improvements ever made in oil heating devices.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

The Perfection Heater, as now made, gives more heat, holds more oil, is better made and works better than any other heater on the market.

It has a wide, shallow oil font, which allows the oil to pass readily up the wick and insures reliable, unchanging flame and heat, whether the font is full or nearly empty.

The Perfection is smokeless, because the patent locking flame-spreader prevents the wick being turned up high enough to smoke. It is easy to re-wick, because the carrier and wick are combined—just turn out the old and slip in the new.

Indicator tells how much oil is in the font. Filler plug is pushed in like a cork—no screw, no thread to wear. Attractive latticed window frame.

The Perfection Heater is finished in vitreous turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel drums; looks well, lasts well, easy to carry wherever wanted.
