Mr. N. A. Kimery, Liberty, One of North Carolina's Foremost Farmers

Mr. N. A. Kimery, who returned to his native county a few years ago to cast his lot, has proven that he is one of the foremost farmers in the country. His wheat crop which was about 1,000 bushels, was shipped from his farm one mile out from Liberty from a side track leading to the farm. Mr. Kimery has been offered $75 per acre for his land, for which he paid $22.50 per acre in 1907. The following is an expression from Mr. Kimery:

"I went West in 1893 and was engaged in farming in Moulton, Iowa. In 1900 I sold my farm and went to Greeley, Colorado, where I bought a 640-acre farm, which I sold during the year 1914. Knowing the many advantages offered in my native county, I returned to Liberty, North Carolina, in the year 1907, and bought a farm one mile from town, containing 200 acres for $22.50 per acre, where I have devoted my attention to raising corn, wheat, oats and grasses. I now have nearly 100 acres in cultivation, and during the year 1915 I raised something over 3,000 bushels of corn from 55 acres at a cost of about 20 cents a bushel and nearly 1,000 bushels of wheat from forty acres. In addition to the corn and wheat crop I raised oats, clover, truck and pumpkins for home consumption. My gross receipts from this farm for 1915 were something over $4,000, and a net profit of over $2,000.

"Lands in this vicinity can be bought at $20 to $30 per acre, according to location and improvements."

What Mr. Kimery says of the Liberty section of Randolph county is equally true as to other sections of the county. Randolph is truly a fine agricultural county. Much land can be bought in the county for ten dollars an acre and less.

County-Wide Celebration of Woodrow Wilson's Re-election in Asheboro

On last Friday night Democracy from all over Randolph county came to Asheboro to participate in the celebration of the re-election of President Wilson. The Asheboro Courier was the first newspaper in the state to publish the glad tidings and did so filling a message that the Philadelphia North American had given out the news, notwithstanding the fact that the Greensboro Daily News in response to an inquiry over the phone claimed to know nothing at that time of Wilson's re-election. Everybody who came to Asheboro was happy. The Democratic citizenship of the town was happy and everybody came with the idea of having a good time. A barrel of tar had been provided and was burning when the pedestrians from the suburbs came in and when the automobiles reached the town. An old-time torch light procession started the parade, about one hundred boys of all sizes leading, while near the front was a large picture of President Wilson, carried by Mr. Austin, the tallest and biggest man in town. To the music of the factory whistles, the honk honk of the automobiles the procession formed at Randolph Motor Car Company passed Depot Street to Fayetteville Street, then north to Salisbury Street and down Church Street where the parade disbanded. From the sidewalks and business houses came shouts and cheers for Wilson. Mr. L. C. Phillips made from one of the automobiles a stirring speech.

Great numbers of people were in Asheboro from all the near-by townships and many were present from every township in the county. The streets and sidewalks were literally full of people. A few miscreants, dare-devil Republicans, undertook to break the parade and celebration. Ed Sykes at the power house was called up and asked to give the fire alarm, that the house of Mr. Hammer was on fire. Having doubt about the correctness of the information, he called central and asked from what phone the alarm was sent in, and was informed that it was from the home of Mr. Frank Phillips.

Tacks were scattered over the streets in the direction of where the alarm was sent in, and also on other streets. Many auto tires were ruined. Some of the inner tubes had as many as fifty to seventy-five holes in them. Many who came to town from remote sections of the county before getting far on the road home found all their tires going down. All the tires went down and in many instances women and children were forced to remain for hours and some remained until nearly day. Warrants have been issued for several of the offenders. The evidence is not given to the public, but the authorities claim that June Frazier had tacks, which he says were given him by Carl Richardson who said "they are having their fun now and we will have ours." Frazier says he knew the tacks were given to him to scatter on the streets, but he did not scatter them. Mr. Richardson denies that he scattered any tacks, but says he knows who did scatter tacks, but for the reason that when he goes in with another to do anything he will not tell on him. There are others implicated but the officials are keeping their information to themselves.

Mrs. W. M. Wilson, Archdale, Dead

Mrs. Mollie Sink Wilson, Archdale, died at her home Thursday of last week. Mrs. Wilson was reared in Davidson; she was married in early life to Winslow M. Wilson. Deceased was 78 years of age. She is survived by her husband and only son, Oscar E. Wilson, who with his family resides with their parents. Mrs. Wilson was a splendid woman, always active in community upbuilding, and ministering to the needs of humanity. Funeral was at Springfield church, services being conducted by Rev. George Welker, after which the body was laid to rest in the Friends graveyard at Springfield Saturday.

Miss Evelyn Smith Hostess to Book Club at Ransauer

Last Friday evening, November 10, Miss Evelyn Smith entertained the social meeting of the Bachelor Maids Book Club, at the home of Mrs. John Black, in East Ransauer. The younger men were guests of honor and a delightful evening was spent. Book was played at four tables. The hostess served ice cream and cake at the close of the entertainment.

Those participating were Misses Evelyn Smith, Jessie Whitehead, Edith Scott, Lee Cramer, Ophelia Barker, Nellie and Mabel Spoon, Madge Moffitt, and Messrs. Sam Black, Thurman Whitehead, Wessley Marley, Phillips, Lee Black, Egbert Baldwin, Vernon Slier and E. D. Wegger.

Dr. Clarence Poe Advocates Medical School Inspection

Medical school inspection work which is on the program of the State Board of Health to be done in various country and city schools this winter has already begun and is now in operation in Beaufort, Iredell and Scotland counties.

Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, says there should be a medical inspection of school children against typhoid, malaria, hookworm and tuberculosis. Some plan must be worked out by which the stricken child of the poor may have as good medical and hospital attention as the stricken child of the rich.

Linn's Brown Shot By Accident

Linnie the sixteen year old son of Neil Brown of Pleasant Grove township was accidentally shot by Kiss Jones, while out rabbit hunting yesterday afternoon. Shot took effect in the face and the young man is in a critical condition. Dr. Hayworth Coleridge was in Asheboro today and said the unfortunate boy cannot live.

Died

Laluh Hobson, the wife of Perelman Hobson, died at her home November 8. She leaves a husband, two sons, a father, mother, brothers and sisters and other relatives and a host of friends. The flower girls were Altha Pike, Lela Leomans, Lena Wright, Ethel Wright, May Andrews, Foy Vestal, Annie Pierce and Fonna Vestal.

Bessie Frances Wicker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wicker, who lived near Flint Ridge church, died November 3rd. She was 26 years of age. She had been a member of that church for a great portion of her life, having given herself to the service of the Lord at the early age of 12 years. She had always been a faithful worker in the church, and when her time was near to die she was at peace with God. She bore her long sufferings well. She leaves a father, mother, brothers and sisters and a host of friends to mourn her departure.

Cyrus B. Watson Dead

On last Saturday at his home in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Hon. Cyrus B. Watson died, after a lingering illness, aged 72 years. For several years he had suffered from diabetes. The deceased was a member of the Methodist church and was one of the state's most prominent men. He was an able lawyer, distinguished as a criminal lawyer and as a civil lawyer as well. He served two terms in the State Senate, was defeated for Governor in 1896 by Daniel L. Russell. He was a candidate for the U. S. Senate against the successful candidate, Hon. Lee S. Overman, fourteen years ago.

Surviving him are five children: Thomas W. Watson, Mrs. P. J. Brame, Mrs. J. F. Morris, Fred Watson, and Mrs. G. A. Pollin, the latter of Jacksonville, Fla. All, with the exception of Mrs. Pollin, were at the bedside when the end came.

Winter Institute of Newspaper Men at the University

The winter institute for newspaper men of the state will be held at the University of North Carolina, December 7, 8, and 9. It is the purpose of the institute to bring together the newspaper men to discuss the many problems that arise in their work. L. C. Sells, the big man of The New York World, who probably knows newspaper making better than any man in America, will make one of the principal addresses. President Taft will also address the meeting on the first day and will speak to the editors on the night of the 7th, when the sessions begin. Talcott Williams, head of the Pulitzer School of Journalism, will be on the program, as will also Walter Williams, president of the School of Journalism at Columbia, Mo.

Death of Mrs. J. A. King

Mrs. James A. King Why Not died at her home Monday night following a long illness. Mrs. King was taken to the hospital in High Point several months ago and her case was then pronounced hopeless, however she was relieved temporarily. Mrs. King was the daughter of John C. and Nancy Owen. She was more than fifty years of age. In early life she connected herself with the M. E. church but after her marriage October, 1908, to Mr. James King, she identified herself with the M. P. church at Fairgrove, where she has been a faithful member. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. L. Whitaker, pastor of the M. P. church of Asheboro. Twenty-five children in primary department of Sunday School of which Mrs. King was teacher, were flower bearers. Deceased is survived by husband, one brother, Lonnie Owen Bennett, and two sisters, Mesdames Lucy Ritter Kanoy and Mary Coley Ercet.

Vivian Holder Passes

Vivian, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Holder, of West Asheboro, died Monday at 4 p. m.

Vivian was in school all last week; on Friday she complained of not feeling well but did not want to go home. On Friday night she was taken violently ill. The doctors pronounced her case scarlet fever and diphtheria. She had a weak heart and although the family summoned all of the physicians of the town, they could do nothing to help her. Vivian was a quiet, unassuming girl, punctual for her school duties and church services and conscientious in her home. Funeral was conducted at her grave by Rev. C. L. Whitaker, her pastor. Interment was in the local cemetery. Beautiful flowers were sent as sympathetic offerings to the bereaved family.

Quail Season Opened November 15th

The hunters of the country are rejoicing over the opening of the quail season. Rabbits are on the market, too. Some of the citizens of Asheboro have been out hunting.

Randolph County's Progress Ten Years Ahead of the Voters of the County

Since the Democratic defeat of our county no doubt many questions are being asked as to the real cause of the defeat, and a variety of answers are given. I do not claim to know the cause but like all citizens of the county I have my opinion and as usual many minor things enter into the cause, but the real or main cause is county progress. In the last few years we have gone forward in improvement in our schools, roads, public buildings and farms and it has almost swept the voters from their feet—the citizens of our county is good, but when we mention to them our progress and name the things that have taken money to give these improvements and benefits, I fear they do not fully understand the full meaning of the fine things our county should be very proud of—and many really are—and it seems many have not fully realized the meaning of the fine things—schools, roads, public buildings, bridges and farms. Not everybody seems to be interested in getting their children into church work, but all want their children in school, and they should have an education, and the Democratic party has done and is doing all in its power to educate the children of the county and to succeed has required quite a sum of money. In road building we have made wonderful progress and required much money, but the people demanded that the roads be built and no way was open but to borrow the money and as for me, I am glad of our county's indebtedness and wish it were double what it is if we had the same good things in return as we now have for what has been spent. There are many roads and bridges in this part of the county that need building next year and the people are expecting them and have a right to expect them, but will they be built? No. The progress and development of Randolph county is not due to the Republican party, but is due to the Democratic party. Who started the good roads movement in this county? Was it the Republicans? Who started it in Davidson? The Republican party in Randolph county is not progressive but would have the voters think so. They haven't the nerve to carry out their progressive ideas for fear of defeat, and very well considered. Seeing their opportunity to cry high taxes to the people they have been successful in getting the offices of the county but they will not hold them long. They cannot, for just as fast as the voters of the county are educated up to the right place they will quit the party. The progressive leaders of Randolph county are ten years ahead of the voters of the county in advancement and development and we are proud of our highway commission, our county board of Commissioners, our board of education, our county farm demonstrator, because they are no less than ten years ahead of our voters in modern ideas and we need in this county a political awakening and will have it and when this is done the Republican party will be hopelessly defeated as is just ahead for them. Education is the hope of the country and the people of Randolph county need time to see what has been done for them during the last few years. When a new court house and jail was advocated I was much opposed to them—only a case of being behind our leaders, but when they were built I saw my great mistake. Many others could say the same and to say the voters of the county are proud of both, but I am sorry to say our citizenship is badly behind on information concerning road building. The public improvements given us during the five or six years we were not prepared to accept them for lack of time. Take for instance, the question of prohibition and stock law. It required the voters years to catch up with our leaders but today after we have resisted and made all kinds of objections we have had time to think and catch up with the leaders of these great questions and we are proud of such leaders and in a few years our people will be proud of our progress and praise will take the place of criticism.

Yours truly,
ROBERT L. CAVENESS,
Coleridge, N. C.

Hunting on Lands of Another Forbidden

It is against the law to hunt, trap, or trespass on the lands of another without permission, and written permission is required in Asheboro, Cedar Grove and Back Creek townships. There is a determination on the part of the public to enforce the law against those who overrun the farms and fields in an effort to kill birds. It is to be hoped that every one who knows of violations of this law will report every person who is seen hunting to the game warden or to the other officials.
