

TRUE GREATNESS

While studying our Sunday School lesson for November 23d, the above thought was revealed to me, and I deemed it worthy of further consideration. We know that the only real test of greatness is goodness, and in this sense we want to bring afresh to our minds a few points along that line. In the lesson we had Christ for an example, and nothing was ever known of Him but goodness. All down the ages since, we have had the same Christ for our example, but how near His perfection have we lived? Yet, the same Christ was then and is still; then He was here in person, but now in Spirit; yet He is our guard and our guide, if we let Him be, and speaks to us through our conscience and through the Bible. Thus we are redeemed from all iniquity, and made ready to be received into the Kingdom of God. Goodness, then, will carry us through and make us great in the land beyond. True greatness is to be true to God. We are sometimes inclined to think of greatness as belonging to a person who has his name in the papers, who has great wealth, or who possesses the finest education, but all this bestowed upon one man would not make him truly great, if he was not good, too. The eyes of the body should not be single, but should behold mankind, then the body should obey the summons of the eye when it beholds an opportunity to help some member of that human family. It behooves each of us to obey the call of duty in order to be a good people, and to do that means to possess a truly religious character, in which the first stone of the foundation is, "Humility," because pride has never accomplished anything but destruction. Sincerity and Fidelity are two other important stones in the foundation of a true character, and when we find one who has obtained these three precious stones, we find one who is indeed good and who is great in the estimation of the soundly thinking people. Goodness and greatness go hand in hand, and is ours for the acceptance. Our duty is not to self alone, but to all mankind, and we are not great until we learn to think of those around us, showing our having sympathy, or regard for them. But man cannot lead such a life without the help of that Divine Leader, because man is for quantity while God is for quality, which He will bestow upon us for the asking in a lowly, contrite spirit. "This life is the childhood of which yonder life is the manhood. As the childhood is, so shall the manhood be. We are making heaven now," said David Gregg. Yes, we are, day by day, obtaining our greatness, and to what extent shall it be? The judgment will tell. Will we be proud of our character, then, or shall we hang our heads in shame? We cannot look to our friends to make our lives, they are just what we make them ourselves. Nothing less nor more. And we have had all the encouragement we need, from earliest history to the present age; for "Lives of great men all remind us, We can make our lives sublime, And departing, leave behind us Footprints in the sands of time. Footprints that perhaps another, Sailing o'er life's solemn main, A forlorn and shipwrecked brother, Seeing, shall take heart again. We cannot attain greatness at a single bound either, but we must start with little things and day by day convert them to greater, until the of living comes with the striving for greatest is obtained, and the pleasure something better further on. All along the journey of those who really care and tries. Hope is singing in melodious tones, "It is better further on." Shall we believe the message and keep striving? There is nothing like trying. The clouds of discouragement, or sorrow, often hang low; but beyond those clouds the sun still shines, so let Hope be a booster for us. In conclusion, let me say, with P. F. Bailey: "We live in deeds, not words; in thoughts, not breaths; in feelings, not in figures, on a dial. We should count time by heartbeats. He most lives Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

Party Given Friday Evening Nov. 28

One of the most delightful parties of the season was given Friday evening, November 28, by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ingram in honor of their daughter, Miss Fay Ingram's, 16th birthday. The guests were met at the door by Miss Alberta Ingram and ushered into the dining room where profuse decorations of autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums and potted plants gave a pleasing effect.

Mrs. C. L. Cranford received in the library which was attractively arranged with autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums.

Miscellaneous games were played progressively during the time and at the end of the games Miss Lucile Caviness was the winner of the prize, a handsome box of candy.

An elaborate salad course was served by the hostess assisted by her little daughter, Mabel Ingram.

YOUR COLD EASED AFTER FIRST DOSE

"Pape's Cold Compound" then breaks up a cold in a few hours

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all the gripe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged up nostrils and the air passes in the head, stops nose running, relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness, and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Clear your congested head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which cost only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—Insist upon Pape's!

Kiln Dried Tennessee Rock Lime

Conway, N. C., January 24, 1919.

Craven Brokerage Company, New Bern, North Carolina, Gentlemen:

I have used American Limestone Company Lime for one year and find it satisfactory for Peanuts, Corn and Oats, especially on bottom land for Corn and Oats. I used it entirely for Peanuts. I am satisfied it is as good or better than the other lime. I think it doubled my crop of Oats which was on bottom land, applied in the spring after Oats were hand high. I think it doubled my corn on bottom land. I will use it this year.

Yours truly, (Signed) ABNER LASSITER.
