When asked if his son did not do most of the work Mr. Spoon replied, no, he could not hold out to do as much as he himself could do for he could plow a whole day. The citizens of Staley are interested in the prospective new school building for which arrangements have been made. An illicit still of only one quart capacity was captured in a brush pile near an abandoned house not far from High Point, a few days ago.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Seven men, three white and four colored, all convicted of first degree murder, now occupy cells in "death row" at the State Prison, Raleigh. All the condemned men have lost in their appeals to the Supreme court for new trials, and unless Governor Morrison intervenes they will be put to death in the electric chair during the next few months. Among the condemned men is J. T. Harris, formerly a well known merchant of Kittery, who was convicted in Buncombe county last November, of the murder of F. W. Monnish, of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, at Kedgecrest, last September. Mrs. Margaret E. Lippard, of Iredell county, celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birth last Monday, with a family reunion and all-day picnic. Mrs. Lippard has eight children, 58 grandchildren, 110 great-grandchildren, and 14 great-great grandchildren. Captain Marion B. Fowler, Lieut. Luther Barbour, former Lieuts. Victor S. Bryant and George W. Tandy, along with a score or more non-commissioned officers and privates of the Durham machine gun company have been sued for damage in Alamance county by the widow of the late James Ray, who was killed when a mob is alleged to have attacked the Alamance county jail, last summer, while the machine gunners were guarding the jail, in which three negroes charged with assault on a prominent white woman, were confined. The Rockingham Times is a new paper made its first appearance at Rockingham last week. It is to be a weekly paper, published by ex-Sheriff J. M. Smith, with Mr. Charles A. Brown as assistant editor. Ed Collins, somnambulist, was probably fatally injured last Thursday morning, when he walked while asleep through the second story window of his boarding house in Dunn. R. E. Powers, a prominent citizen of Rutherfordton, a Confederate veteran, and ex-member of the legislature, died at his home in Rutherfordton, last Friday. Sunday school workers of the Southern Presbyterian church met at 6 o'clock last week. The key note of the conference seemed to be, "America's greatest peril the spiritual neglect of childhood." An anti-typhoid campaign is being waged in Lenoir county, and large numbers of the citizens are taking the vaccine, alarmed by the increase in number of cases throughout the county. H. B. Pendry, a white man, 39 years of age, is under bond in High Point, on the charge of advising Miss Edna Burton, a 17-year-old girl, to use medicine to cause abortion. Fred O. Shanner, of Lynchburg, is the father of 19 children, 18 of whom are living. He says he has run out of names and is asking his friends to suggest a name for the last one, a boy of two months. Myron T. Herrick, of Ohio, successor Ambassador Wallace as ambassador to France. Mr. Herrick held this position during President Taft's administration. Six persons were killed and about fifty injured, last Sunday, when a Martin bombing plane crashed into a group of automobiles parked on the ground at Moundsville, West Virginia. Leaders of the nation mourned the country's war dead at a memorial service at Hoboken, New Jersey, last Sunday, while 7,264 men who made the supreme sacrifice on the fields of France lay on the piers. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright, and General John J. Pershing were among the speakers, and prayers were offered by a Protestant minister, a Catholic priest, and a Jewish rabbi. As a feature of the sixth world's convention of the Christian Endeavor Society, in New York City, last week, 10,000 Endeavorers marched in a mighty parade, singing militant hymns. Governor Morrison has leased a home in Grove Park, Asheville, for the summer. He and his family will have their residence there until September 1. The governor has never entirely recovered his strength since the strain of the campaign last year, and wishes to get some rest in the mountain city. Peculiar Death Clark Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Andrews, of Mathews township, died at his home last Saturday night. The young man had suffered with tooth ache for several days and on Saturday had the tooth extracted. He was apparently better all day and in the afternoon cut the wood for his mother to prepare supper. It is presumed that blood poison had developed before the tooth was treated. -Chatham Record. MR. AND MRS. L. P. BYRD, OF MT. GILEAD ENTERTAIN

On June 30, 1921, one of the most enjoyable events of the season or the old ladies was celebrated in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Byrd, of Mt. Gilead. This was the 17th annual dinner given by our genial, big-hearted host and hostess solely for the pleasure of the old ladies of the community. The meeting was unusually pleasant, each face beaming with brightness, the cares of yesterday being forgotten, and everybody seeming to say, "Today is ours in this home; and we will exchange views, inquire about absent friends, and speak of the virtues of those who have crossed over and are resting in the beautiful city of God." These are gone but not forgotten. Especially do we remember our dear charter member, Mrs. Augusta Skeer, who for a number of years was in our midst on those occasions. We were wont to be silent when she was speaking, because she charmed us with her wealth of knowledge and her unerring memory. We shall not forget her. Others have passed, but none are forgotten. Messrs. G. T. McAulay and R. W. Steele were on hand with their cars "At your service, Madam," at every turn. So we had no trouble going to and from the party. We appreciate their gallantry and hope they will not forget us next time. Time has been called a "Thief," and so it proved on this occasion, when we were suddenly interrupted in our sweet conversation by the announcement that dinner was ready, whereupon, the oldest members came first and were ushered into the dining room, where the most fastidious appetite could not fail to be appeased. The young ladies who assisted in serving were: Misses Virginia Kearns, of Randolph county; and Marian Blanche Bruton, of Mt. Gilead. The ice cream and lemonade were under the management of Mrs. C. M. Capel, whose skill in the making and blending could not be excelled. In the kitchen, were good old Ellen Bowden and Cora Allison. The rich viands on the table testified to their ability to cook good food. We wish for them many years of continued usefulness. Following were the guest of honor. Mesdames, Sallie Robinson, Ellen Andrews, Maggie Dunn, John A. Lisk, Rebecca McKee, Sallie McAulay, Mary J. Moore, Emma Williams, Anna Winfrey, Jennie Kearns, Jane McInyre, Julia Standback, and Misses C. C. Lilly and Bettie Scarborough. The average age of the guests was 75 years, 4 months, and 16 days. Three of the invited guests were kept away by illness. In the afternoon, our pastor, Rev. W. H. Brown, honored us with his presence, read for us the 103 psalm, and offered a fervent prayer in our behalf. Mr. John A. Lisk also came in and asked each one of us to write what we could in connection with "The Civil War," and bring the sketches to our next meeting. Now, sisters, get busy and write what you remember of that war, for our hearts are yet sad over the brave loved ones who gave their lives in defense of their country. Just before the assembly dispersed, Rev. H. L. Seabolt came to shake hands and give us a word of cheer. The evening shadows were appearing and cars were waiting to take us to our respective homes. We bade our host and hostess "Adieu" with hearts full of love. We wish them many years of health, prosperity and happiness. Some day, when our sun is setting, when all human friends will leave us to cross alone, we shall need a guide and
