EXAMINATION TO FILL POSITION POSTMASTER

The civil service commission has announced a competitive examination for the Asheboro postoffice to be held in Asheboro July 18.

Mr. R. R. Ross, on July 1, will have served eight years as postmaster in Asheboro. Mr. Ross has been untiring in his efforts and has given general satisfaction as an official and many of his friends of both parties are loathe to give him up as postmaster. There has never been a time when Mr. Ross has not been courteous, polite, and patient as he was handling the duties of the office.

The Republicans have been looking forward to this position as they have in every town and hamlet in the state. The county Republican organization is asking for the temporary appointment of Mr. U. C. Richardson, but the majority of the Republicans in Asheboro are advocating Mr. Everett Walton, who is also a candidate for this position.

Mr. Walton is not asking for temporary appointment, but is willing to stand the competitive examination which has been called by the civil service commission for July 18. The examination is open to any person above the age of 25 in Asheboro or on either of the routes, and the department urges that anybody who is interested in standing this examination to file immediately. Mr. Ross is not asking for reappointment, but has been looking forward, steadily, expecting that the Republicans would as early as possible ask for the position which he has served so faithfully and so well.

Later—As we go to press Mr. Richardson informs us that he has been notified by a friend that he was appointed last Saturday temporarily, his duties to begin July first, but he has had no official notification.

Field Marshal Wilson Assassinated in London

England lost one of her most illustrious soldiers, when Field Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson was assassinated on the doorsteps of his residence in Eaton Place, London, last Thursday.

The assassins had loitered about, waiting an hour for his return from unveiling a memorial to men of the Great Eastern railway who fell in the war. When he alighted from his motor car, Field Marshal Wilson walked up the steps, and the men fired several shots at him from close range, three of which took effect, one in the chest, one in the leg and the third in the wrist. The field marshal died before he could be taken into the house.

His horrified wife heard the shooting and rushed out to find her husband's body, dressed in full uniform lying in a pool of blood, with the sword which he had drawn to meet this assailant by his side.

The crime was immediately and inevitably linked in the public mind with the political assassination of Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and Thomas H. Burke, the under-secretary, in Phoenix Park, Dublin, in 1882. The first impression was in a measure confirmed when Scotland Yard made public the name of the murderers and declared that Connolly had a letter in his possession indicating he was a member of the Irish republican army.

After a hard struggle with the police the assassins were finally overtaken and overpowered. They were taken to a nearby police station and later to Scotland Yard where they will await trial.

Preceding the bride were the ushers, Messrs. James Edwards, of Siler City; J. C. Crawford, of Greensboro; Y. L. Basson, of Graham, and H. P. Smith, of Ramseur. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Alister White, who gave her in marriage. Mrs. Alister White, of Raleigh, was dame of honor and Miss Marguerite White, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Patsy White, of Graham; Miss Gladys Leonard, Miss Lily White and Miss Julia West, of Ramseur. Little Miss Edna Hill, of Ramseur, acted as ring bearer and Misses Nancy Lou and Marguerite Graves, of Ramseur, were petal girls. Work Completed on Dam at the City Pond

The town of Asheboro is fortifying itself against any water shortage this summer as some towns in the state suffered from last summer by raising the dam at the city pond two feet. This almost doubles the capacity of the pond, and the work on the dam seem satisfactory in every way. The work has been in charge of Deputy Gaddis and Mr. R. L. Dickens. While the town suffered no actual want in the water line last summer, it was seen that the water supply might run short in an abnormal dry spell, and the mayor arranged last summer that this work should be done before another summer.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT HONORING BRIDE-ELECT

Probably one of the most brilliant social events of the season occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Johnson in Ramseur Tuesday evening when Mrs. Johnson and Miss Gladys Leonard were joint hostesses in honor of the White-White bridal party. The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson was tastefully decorated with daisies and Queen Anne lace, and every detail of the yellow and white color scheme was accentuated. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Miss Leonard greeted the guests and directed them to the punch bowl, which was most artistically decorated and presided over by Misses Hazel Spoon, Madge Moffitt and Grizelle Moore.

An interesting contest "Cupid's Romance of all Ages," was most enjoyable, Miss Elizabeth Smith winning the prize, a handsome cut glass and silver vase which she graciously presented to the bride-elect, Miss Martha White. Mr. Jennings Bosin won the gentleman's prize, a Durham Duplex razor.

N. C. CHESS AND CHECKERS MEET IN MAXTON JULY 4

July 4 will be a gala day in Maxton. On that day the North Carolina Chess and Checker Association will hold their regular annual meeting, and play for the chess and checker championship of the state. At previous meetings of the association chess players in attendance have been so few that a chess tourney could not be pulled off, we hope, however, that at the coming tourney all chess players in the state will be present, as well as checker players, and decide who is champion.

Maxton is the home town of H. C. MacNair, the present checker champion, and he assumes all chess and checker players a hearty welcome to Maxton on July 4. Let all players write Mr. MacNair at once if they will attend the tourney, and he will arrange for hotel accommodations, etc. Let everybody lay aside all business cares for the day, and journey to Maxton, and spend the day with Mr. MacNair, and bring home the championship. Mr. MacNair suggests that all players bring boards and men. Play will begin about 9 or ten o'clock on the morning of July 4.

If you have not yet joined the association by all means do so at this tourney. There is an annual fee of $1.00. All members of the association are entitled to play for the championship.

It is the duty of all chess and checker players to boost the coming tourney in every way possible. Urge all players to attend.

WEEK'S SOCIAL EVENTS

Delightful Party on Lawn.

One of the most pleasant parties of the summer was enjoyed Friday afternoon when Mrs. D. S. Coltrane entertained the members of the Friday Afternoon Club and a large number of invited guests at the home of Mrs. Claude Hayworth on Sunset avenue. Chairs were arranged on the lawn under the shade trees and iced punch was served as the guests entered. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Bera Scarborough. The subject for the study for the afternoon was Joel Chandler Harris. Miss Lena Mae Johnson read a most interesting sketch of his life, and Mrs. H. W. Walker read two "Uncle Remus" stories. After the program was over the guests enjoyed bits of needlework and conversation. Later in the afternoon the hostesses served whipped jello with chopped fruits, wafers and tea, followed by mints. About seventy-five people enjoyed the pleasant hospitality of Mrs. Coltrane and Mrs. Hayworth.

Mrs. Ferguson Entertains.

Honoring Mrs. Henry Ingram, a recent bride, and Mrs. George H. Ferguson, of Hamilton, Canada, Mrs. W. B. Ferguson entertained most delightfully at her home on South Fayetteville street Thursday afternoon from 3:30 till 6:00 o'clock. Tables were arranged for cards in two rooms and the guests found their places by means of unique paper rose bud markers. When the cards were collected by the hostess it was found that Mrs. Roy Hodgins and Mrs. I. C. Moser held the top scores for bridge and were given a beautiful crystal sandwich platter, and hand-painted table numbers. The rook prize went to Miss Brown. It was a pottery candy jar. The bride's prize was a silver platter. At the conclusion of the games Misses Polly Brown, Annie Wiles and Alberta Ingram served chicken salad, cucumber and nut relish, sandwiches and iced tea, followed by nuts.

These present to enjoy this delightful party were Mesdames Ingram, George Ferguson, J. R. Brown, David Coltrane, I. C. Moser, J. T. Lewallen, W. J. Scarborough, Ollie Pressnell, H. W. Walker, Annie Robins, E. G. Morris, Arthur Burkhead, Roy Hodgins, Misses Ethel Lovett, Mabel Parrish, Lucille Scarborough, Lillian Brown, Lillie Parrish, Bera Scarborough, Annie Wiles, Polly Brown, Alberta Ingram, and Catherine Penn.

Pleasant Picnic at Garland Lake.

A pleasant outing was enjoyed at Garland Lake Monday afternoon by twenty or more young folks of the town at a picnic given by Mrs. H. W. Walker honoring Miss Jess Cox and Mr. H. W. Walker whose birthdays fell within the week. The party motored to the lake about 6 o'clock and enjoyed the swimming and boating that the lake afforded while some entertained themselves with games and needlework on the screened veranda of the pavilion. Mr. H. Grady Miller added to the pleasure of the party with his music, as did Mrs. W. B. Ferguson. The picnic supper which was spread on the long table was a sumptuous affair, and was enjoyed by all present. At the conclusion of the supper, the two honorees cut their birthday cake for the guests.

Birthday Party.

The birthday party of Miss Pearl Sykes Tuesday afternoon in celebration of her ninth birthday was a most pleasant feature of the week for the younger generation. The young guests were entertained on the lawn and various games such as "fishing" and "tap hand" proved popular forms of amusements. After the games had been in progress for an hour or more, ice cream, lemonade and other refreshments were served. The young hostess received many attractive gifts from her little friends.

Wallace, the Magician, HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Wallace, the world-famed magician, will be at the courthouse in Asheboro Saturday night at 8:15 under the auspices of the Randolph County Fair Association. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a large crowd in order that the fair association may have profitable results.

Among the different feats of Mr. Wallace are the production of a live rabbit from a borrowed hat. With sleeves rolled up, Wallace catches pigeons from nowhere. Where do they come from? Ah, it is of no avail to strain your eyes, for Wallace is cleverer than you, and it is enough after all that the pigeons seem to materialize out of thin air. It is a beautiful act—poetic in conception and enchanting in its performance.

In the finale, Wallace will present one of the most spectacular illusions on earth, called the "Super-Vanish." In this effect all of the five ducks, pigeons, rabbits and a beautiful lamp burning on a table will vanish like a flash at one shot. The tables and everything come apart for examination, and not a trace of the live stock can be found. It is a wonderful art. No wonder that Wallace made such a tremendous sensation abroad while in the United States. Naval Reserve forces no wonder that he has played before King Edward at Sandringham, before Abdul Hamid, when he was sultan of Turkey, and before the Czar of all the Russians. Admission 50c reserved seats, general 25c.
