CONGRESSIONAL TICKET

Member Congress, Seventh Congressional District: Wm C. HAMMER

This week we are carrying a notice from the chairman of the pantry products of the Randolph County Fair. This is a good thing for the housewives of Randolph to keep in mind while canning fruits and vegetables. They are the ones who fill this section, and there is no more important feature of the whole fair than this. Let's bear this in mind and fill some "prize cans."

DAVIDSON'S TICKET

E. C. Byerly, formerly superintendent of the Asheboro graded schools, has been nominated clerk of the superior court of Davidson county at the Democratic convention July 29.

Bruce Talbert, formerly of New Hope township, Randolph county, now living at Thomasville, a world war veteran, was nominated for sheriff.

J. F. Cameron, formerly of Randolph, now living at Denton, was nominated for one of the county commissioners. Russ Stokes and Griff Smith were also nominated for county commissioners.

Jasper Parker, a one armed world war veteran, the only soldier of the world war, in Davidson county, receiving the highest honor medal for bravery, was nominated for register of deeds.

The ticket is a strong and popular one.

"My friends, if I were to stop advertising, it would be like taking the engine off a train. It would slow down and in a little while stop. Advertising is the locomotive of business and if you don't have it, business comes to a stop," was the statement made by William Wrigley, Jr. head of the famous Wrigley Chewing Gum Company. Mr. Wrigley has spent millions for advertising in newspapers, magazines and outdoor publicity. In 1920, when the high mark of business depression was reached, Wrigley spent more for advertising and sold more chewing gum than any previous year. He attributed his splendid sales to advertising. His policy is that advertising will stimulate business when it is dull as well as boost it when it is booming. In fact there is never a time in his mind when it would pay to let up on advertising. He was asked why he continues to advertise when his fame was made, and it was then that he gave the answer quoted above as his opinion of the worth of advertising. The big merchants and manufacturers who have not already learned this secret of success are fast learning it, as did those of Bible days when they were taught not to "hide their candle under a bushel." It pays to let the public know what you have, and keep reminding them. If you don't, the other fellow will, in other words, "it pays to advertise."

THE COMING CHAUTAUQUA

Saturday the Redpath Chautauqua opens a three day program in Asheboro. The program, from all indications, and from the comments in other towns in which it has been given are exceedingly favorable. There is a committee to sell tickets, but they will maintain for the millions of Americans who have been receiving very little super-port, and have not met with the enthusiasm that a town this size should have. Now we all know from past history that a "tent show" is well patronized in our town. This is a "tent show" but of a good clean, high original-made products. In other words President Harding for a season ticket for the Chautauqua, we will gain something in return. Many towns near Asheboro, with nothing like the population, and with fewer people who are supposed to appreciate high class entertainments, have for years supported a three day Chautauqua. What is the present liquidation of labor, the present with our town, surely we have not lost our taste for good things? his 1920 campaign seems like a mockery.

ourselves a real treat and buy a season ticket to Chautauqua, see every entertainment possible, and enjoy a visit with our neighbor afterwards.

A tent is a great place for good fellowship to exist, so come and get your share.

The following is reprinted from the New York Herald, a Republican newspaper:

SHEEP RANCH AND BALLOT BOX

The wool duties in the McCumber tariff have been made and are being given through the legislative mill by United States senators who are in the wool business in raising sheep and growing wool.

There is Sen. Smart, who was in the wool business in Utah and Utah has a population of less than 400,000.

There is Sen. Warren in the wool business in Wyoming, and Wyoming has a population of about 200,000.

There is Sen. Gooding in the wool business in Idaho, and Idaho has a population of some 400,000.

There is Sen. Stanfield in the wool business in Oregon, and Oregon has a population of about 800,000.

There is Sen. Bursum in the wool business in New Mexico, and New Mexico has a population of about 360,000.

There is Sen. Cameron in the livestock business in Arizona, and Arizona has a population of about 340,000.

There is Sen. Oddie in the livestock business in Nevada, and Nevada has a population of about 80,000.

Only political madmen, regardless of their economic intellects, could fail to ask themselves what the vastly populous states, where the insufferable wool tax will be paid, will want to do at the ballot box to the extortionate tariff of the sheep-raising, wool-growing senators.

No more apt phrase was ever applied to the Harding administration than that by Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, Democrat, in an interview in the Santa Fe New Mexican, when he said:

"The Four Horsemen of the Harding administration: Poverty, Distress, Disorder, Violence."

The achievement of the Harding administration as seen by Senator Pittman were epitomized as follows:

"Foreign relations left in chaotic condition.

"Our foreign commerce—there is none.

"Millionaires' taxes reduced; poor people pay.

"The H. C. L. still is a terror.

"Transportation charges increased.

"Outrageous discriminations.

"Perpetuation of long and short haul outrage.

"Destruction of all state control over interstate commerce.

"Producer and consumer are starving together.

"Harding, Mellon, and Wall Street keep the soldier from bonus.

"The Four Horsemen of the Harding administration are:

"Poverty, Distress, Disorder, Violence."

Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, who like the Nevada senator always talks straight to the point, thought so well of Senator Pittman's interview that he had it placed in the Congressional Record.

The leading Republican newspapers of the United States have joined with the Democratic press and spokesmen in denouncing the pending Profiteers' Tariff bill as a prohibitive tariff, pointing out that it would not raise the expected revenue needed by the government, because it would shut out imports, and by shutting out imports it would enable the American profiteers to raise their prices almost to the limit of the increased tariff rates.

It is interesting to note that this is exactly the kind of a tariff that Mr. Harding advocated in his election campaign in 1920. In one memorable speech he advocated closing the doors to foreign made products. At Lima, Ohio, on October 6, 1920, he said to a crowd of workmen:

"I want to bring to you the read-justment after the World war which committee to sell tickets, but they will maintain for the millions of Americans who have been receiving very little super-port, and have not met with the enthusiasm that a town this size should have. Now we all know from past history that a "tent show" is well patronized in our town. This is a "tent show" but of a good clean, high original-made products. In other words President Harding for a season ticket for the Chautauqua, we will gain something in return. Many towns near Asheboro, with nothing like the population, and with fewer people who are supposed to appreciate high class entertainments, have for years supported a three day Chautauqua. What is the present liquidation of labor, the present with our town, surely we have not lost our taste for good things? his 1920 campaign seems like a mockery.

Dixie Duo Coming Here on Chautauqua Program

DIXIE DUO.

Groups of charming song favorites and clever impersonations will be featured here at the coming Redpath Chautauqua by the Dixie Duo, composed of Mary Terry and Gladys Anderson. Miss Terry and Miss Anderson present programs running over with the merriest good fun and an abundance of delightful songs. Their appearances here will be counted among the most popular features of the Chautauqua.

Great Comedy Drama, "Friendly Enemies," a Chautauqua Feature

"Friendly Enemies" is one of the most popular of recent comedy successes. Scores of cities throughout the country have alternately laughed and wept over this irresistible comedy drama whose plot grows out of the conflicting convictions of two lifelong friends. A complete production of "Friendly Enemies" will be given at the coming Redpath Chautauqua by a cast of six experienced Broadway actors organized by William J. Keighley, manager of the New York City Producing Department of the Redpath Bureau. This delightful comedy will be one of the most popular entertainment attractions on the entire Chautauqua program.

Dunbar's All-Star Male Quartet Here at Chautauqua

Dunbar's All-Star Male Quartet of notable singers and players—capital entertainers featuring bell-ringing de luxe—will give two popular concerts on the opening day of the coming Redpath Chautauqua, a grand concert in the afternoon and a shorter concert at night. The quartet's programs cover a wide range of musical entertainment, including operatic favorites, character songs, novelty instrumental numbers and many unusual effects obtained by the bells. A particularly impressive bell-ringing feature is the representation of a Sunday morning in London, in which the chimes of the famous Cathedral bells of that city are faithfully reproduced. This quartet of musicians was organized by Ralph Dunbar, well-known Chicago producer, whose name sets a seal of superiority on any musical entertainment organization sent from his studios. The quartet is a sure-fire entertainment attraction—an attraction that is predicted to be one of the biggest features on a big Chautauqua program.
