NORTH CAROLINA REPRESENTATIVES CRITICISE TARIFF

Tuesday the House sent the tariff bill back for the third redrafting. A preliminary meeting was held by the six Republican conferees, three from the House and three from the Senate, and they will probably get down to work in earnest today. Their task is enormous, the reprint last Saturday showing 2,436 changes from the original house text. Republican leaders made no promises, but Representative Mondell, the majority leader, expressed the hope that the bill would be out "at no distant date."

Senator Simmons believes that the bill will mean the levying of additional taxes aggregating approximately $3,000,000,000 against the American people each year. In many instances he declared, "the rates are absolutely prohibitive," and "the consumer pays toll all along the line." He referred to it as "one of the most abominable legislative acts of an American Congress. In view of the indefensible, scandalous, selfish, pork-barrel character of this legislation, how much longer can our law-making body retain the confidence and respect of the American people."

Senator Overman, of North Carolina, declared the bill "the most indefensible bill ever passed by any Congress since the world began. It has no friends except those for whom it was framed to serve and for whose benefit it is to be passed, taxing millions of people to serve 200,000 manufacturers. It is absolutely indefensible and most iniquitous, and by the adoption of this amendment (the elastic feature) it will be made absolutely revolutionary." He asserted that President Harding should veto the bill and thus "restore the liberties of the people which this Congress has fettered away so ruthlessly."

Representative Fox, Democrat,

RICH BACHELOR WANTS WIFE

The bride is a highly respected lady of that community and has many friends in this part of the state who wish her happiness. Mr. Warner is one of the well-to-do farmers of Troy and is also a respected citizen. Mr. and Mrs. Warner will make their home at Troy.

The Edwin A. Osborne memorial building to take care of the small children and babies at the Thompson Orphanage at Charlotte has been completed and opened as a part of the orphanage. The cottage is a memorial to Rev. E. A. Osborne the first president of the institution. The building will accommodate 24 children.

North Carolina, declared the House was sending to conference a bill more "vicious" in its terms than any ever presented to an American Congress and one that had the enthusiastic support of nobody.

A Birthday Dinner

On Sunday, July 13, friends and relatives of Ed Miller, of Miller's Mill, met at his home to celebrate his mother, Mrs. Susan Miller's 79th birthday. It was a surprise to her. A large table was erected in the yard and was soon filled with all kinds of good things to eat. After thanks had been returned by Will Ledwell, the crowd partook of the bountiful food placed before them. After dinner the young folks gathered in the parlor and had some good singing and music, while the older folks enjoyed a social chat. There were about 215 present. Mrs. Miller received several nice presents and seemed to enjoy the occasion very much as did all those present.
