Every man should be a part of the Democratic Party

The Democratic Party in Raleigh county has been elected and the men who are elected have pledged themselves to administer the affairs of the county wisely and economically

The many lines of Democracy this year swept the tremendous Harbord landslide of two years ago right and left and not a single Republican gain made anywhere in North Carolina or any where else in the United States as far as heard from.

Al Smith is elected governor of New York by 206,000 majority and he is the Democratic nominee for the United States senate. Gov. Edwards, Democrat, defeats Senator Frelinghuysen, the president's pet, as New Jersey

Democrats have made gains in every state. No precinct in the entire state has increased its majority over two years ago.

Brunswick and Person are two other Republican counties that have gone Democratic in addition to those given elsewhere in this paper

High Point township has gone Democratic the first time in years

Indiana swings back in the Democratic column and so does Tennessee.

Not a state in the entire United States sends a solid Republican delegation to the house of representatives except Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Nebraska, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and a few other small states have solid Republican delegations in the present house. Note how but Iowa

NORTH CAROLINA AS A MANUFACTURING STATE

By Frank McHenry, High grade pupil in Asheville (N. C. School)

North Carolina leads the south in the cotton textile industry, in the number of mills, knitting machines, operatives employed and the value of goods produced. It also ranks first in Massachusetts in the value of other manufactures.

We have more mills that dye and finish their own goods, products than any other southern state. The largest rearing mills in the world are in Durham, the largest power mills are in Ramoth, the largest beam mills in Greensboro, the largest textile mills in Rowan, the largest number of cotton under wear mills in America. Furthermore, North Carolina leads every other southern state in the number of furniture factories in the amount of capital invested in this industry and in the total value of the output. High Point, with one exception, manufactures more furniture than any town in the United States. In the way of other manufacturing records held by this state, it may be said that North Carolina has the largest aluminum plant in the world and the largest pulp mill in the United States.

North Carolina leads the world in manufactures from tobacco. The tobacco factories of this state consume one-quarter of all the leaf tobacco used in manufacture in the United States and pay one-fourth of all the tobacco taxes levied in the union.

This state also has a greater amount invested in manufacturing plants than any other southern state. Twenty-five years ago manufacturing plants rose from 3,400 to 5,900, just about doubling the factories.

North Carolina leads the world in manufactures from tobacco. The tobacco factories of this state consume one-quarter of all the leaf tobacco used in manufacture in the United States and pay one-fourth of all the tobacco taxes levied in the union.

It is a universal recognition that the news of the sudden death of Nelson Page is learned. Miss Page, one of Virginia's foremost and best known lawyers, diplomat and statesman. He was apparently in his usual state of health when he died while walking with a relative in the garden of his old home at Oak Hill, Hanover county, Virginia, on the day. His collapse came without warning, and he only lived a few minutes after being carried to the hospital. His death was pronounced to be acute cardiac dilatation.

In early life Mr. Page was at Washington-Lee University and University of Virginia, later studied law, before his appointment as ambassador to Italy during the World War. The funeral services were conducted from the little red brick church near his home. The church is known as "Old York" and it was over 60 years ago that Mr. Page was buried. The funeral services were held at the residence of Mrs. Page, an afternoon at the body was taken to the cemetery where it was buried. The state department of revenue which has been formed to advise the senate chamber until permanent quarters are provided by the state will move this week into the former building, Fayetteville street, third floor in order to make room for the state senators to depart themselves the coming winter. Part of the space to be occupied was used by the Democratic state committee as headquarters for the last three months, the work of the committee being finished this week.

Governor Morrison and all the state officials who have been out of the hustings specifying the past several weeks have returned to some ease again, and the governor will now be giving considerable thought and time to his forthcoming message to the general assembly. Two years ago he almost paralyzed some of the stand-patters by his forward movements advocated in his message (now largely accomplished), and may do so again.

University Wins Tax Suit

Attorney General Manning has been informed that the Kentucky court of appeals has allowed the inheritance tax exemption in favor of the University of North Carolina. The court has held that the University is entitled to the exemption provided in the constitution for the University of North Carolina. The court's decision is a victory for the University and a setback for the state's revenue.

The Kentucky tax department held that the bequest to the University of North Carolina was not an inheritance tax exemption. The court has now ruled in favor of the University, allowing it to claim the exemption.

These Need No Bonus

Manager Boulneau of the Raleigh sub-district office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau is authority for the statement that there are now more than five hundred men with monthly subsistence allowance ranging from $50 to $150 a month, in training for vocations under the jurisdiction of the Raleigh sub-district office, which covers the territory of Eastern North Carolina. Training ranges from engineering, medicine and law to the simplest mechanical trades—according to the fitness of the subject, which includes inclination and will as well as education and general earning. Two hundred are registered at the North Carolina State College of Engineering and Agriculture. A number of ex-service negro men are taking similar courses at the A. and T. College for Negroes at Greensboro. Besides these, some one hundred and fifty disabled former soldiers are in placement training, that is, they are employed in shops and factories, no college training being necessary to them, some of whom have had practical experience before.

SOME TIMELY RECIPES

(June E. McMillan)

Shred green tomato pickles. Show how to make them. They are not only good for the stomach but also for the skin. They are easy to make and can be stored for a long time.

Spiced Green Tomato Pickle. 1 gallon sliced green tomatoes, 1 pint onion, sliced, 1 teaspoonful ground black pepper, 1 small red pepper, 1 teaspoonful white mustard, 1/2 pint brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful allspice, 1/2 teaspoonful cloves, 1/2 cup salt. All measure level.

Spinkle the sliced tomatoes with salt. Let them stand 4 hours in separate bowls, and then place each in a thin muslin bag and squeeze gently until the juice is removed. When the ingredients are prepared, place them in a porcelain kettle, mixing with them the mustard and onion seed, sugar, and pepper. Cover with good vinegar (1 1/2 pints), to which the spices tied in a bag have been added.

KNOW NORTH CAROLINA

A South Carolina Verdict. North Carolina stands first in per acre crop values and South Carolina is a close second.

Only Massachusetts is ahead of North Carolina in textile manufacturing, and again South Carolina is next in line. Taken together the two states produced and manufactured, surplus value the textile wealth of the Bay State. North Carolina is possessed by a mighty spirit, a progressive, a patriot and a sacred spirit. I don't know who put it there, but it is there in the hearts of the people. Its origin offers a great study. It grips us and we are moved by it to do those things that ought to be done.

Let us go on unafraid, educating the children, taking better care of God's broken and defective, and moving forward in material progress. If there is any truth, if there is any religion, unless we no care adequately for the unfortunate beings in our state we will surely rot and decay and go down to destruction.

Let us better organize our agricultural life, increase, tremendously our sea food resources, and in every line make the wealth we need to apply to the needs of the church and of a glorious democracy. Your state is moving towards the discharge of its duties as a commonwealth, moving with a majesty that excites the admiration of the whole United States. A great New York financier told me that North Carolina was the Ohio of the south and could get all the money she wanted to use for all the great purposes of commonwealth building—Governor Harvey.

MILK COWS, PASTURES AND FENCES DISCUSSED

(Conducted by C. R. Hudson.) Slogan: A cow for every farm, a pasture for every cow, a fence for every pasture.

There is no problem before the American public of more importance than the one of properly feeding and nourishing its people. Many of us do not stop to realize that there are 6,000,000 children, or one out of every four in the United States, suffering from under-nourishment and that 350,000 of them died every year from no other cause than that of poor or deficient food. It is not so much a case of poverty as it is of ignorance and indifference. The food now given these children cost even more than proper food would cost, because we often do not consider the difference between food that nourishes and food that merely fills.

There are 44,000 families without a cow. Shall the children of these families yet to come, be reared without that most vitalizing food which can be obtained only from the cow? We hope not. We believe that when our people are fully aware of the situation they will undertake to rapidly remedy the matter.

In changing these conditions, pastures are of first importance, pastures are not properly grown and maintained milk cows economically without pastures. There is no legitimate excuse for not having pastures. Grass grows well when given proper attention.

McIntyre News

Mr. Henry Pugh, of Millboro Route 1, has recently purchased the Browners mill. Miss Lena Pugh, of Ramoth, has been visiting the past week at Mr. Dolph Gray's. Mr. Gray Wright and family, of Liberty Route 1, visited in this section last Sunday. Mr. D. L. Redding and family moved the past week near Libertyway where Mr. Redding is engaged in sawmilling. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, of Ramoth, spent the week-end at Mr. Henry Pugh's. Mrs. Zora Ivey and daughter, Miss Ivey, visited at Mr. Jule Bowman's Friday evening.

YOUR DRUGGIST IS MORE THAN A MERCHANT

Your health safety and life are seldom if ever things for which merchants are responsible.

Your life however may depend absolutely upon the accurate filling of physicians prescriptions. It may depend upon the quality of drugs used in formulating the medicines.

Skill in merchandising may be easily acquired. Skill in compounding prescriptions is the result of years of extensive training in technical schools where pharmacists are trained in accuracy and taught the knowledge of drugs and chemicals so that when they enter the commercial field they will be equipped to help preserve and protect the health of the public which forms their clientele.

Notorious Train Robber Killed

After holding up and robbing a train of registered mail near Wittenburg, Mo. Friday, Jack Kennedy, 45 years old notorious train robber, and a companion, Harvey Logan, were killed by railroad detectives and post-office inspectors. Kennedy has a record of seven train robberies—within three years—1896-98, and served twelve years in the Missouri penitentiary for the latest of these robberies. He has been at liberty since 1912. His movements for several weeks have been watched out-sparingly.

Mrs. Rosier Acquitted of Murder

The trial of Mrs. Catherine Rosier, which has been in progress in Philadelphia for the past ten days or more and around which centered much interest, closed Friday with a verdict of not guilty. Mrs. Rosier was tried for killing Miss Mildred Geraldine Rickett, her husband's stenographer, and was freed of the indictment. She was then tried for the murder of her husband and again freed. The court thought her insane. At the end of the trial, Mrs. Rosier collapsed completely and was taken for medical treatment.

Annual D. A. R. Convention Closed

The annual state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution which was held in High Point last week ended Friday with the election of officers. Mrs. C. W. Tillett, of Charlotte, was elected regent; Mrs. E. L. Manney, of Salisbury, vice regent; Mrs. E. L. Keeler, of Charlotte, secretary; and Miss Bonnie Manney, of King's Mountain, treasurer. During the days of the convention, the people of High Point put forth every effort to make the stay a most pleasant one for the delegates, as well as profitable one in the business of the organization.

Coltrane, Randeman R. F. D.; D. H. Lashley, Liberty Route 3; J. M. Yow, Seagrave; Sam Allen, Star; Z. V. Cavness, Coleridge; and C. C. Cheek, Bennett. Court will convene December 4th with Judge James E. Boyd presiding.

DR. WILLIAMS, PROMINENT PHYSICIAN OF STALEY, DEAD

Following a week's illness from pneumonia, Dr. T. I. Williams died at his home at Staley Sunday. Dr. Williams is well-known in the Staley section, having practiced his profession since he graduated from Jefferson Medical College forty years ago. He was, besides a prominent physician, a member of several fraternal organizations of his home town. He is survived by a wife, three sons, and four daughters. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at the Baptist church at Staley, interment following in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Claude Wingham Celebrates Birthday

A delightful birthday celebration was that on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wingham when a number of Mrs. Wingham's relatives and friends assembled to celebrate her 28th birthday. A sumptuous dinner was prepared after which every one enjoyed the association of friends and neighbors. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Zell Wingham, star route, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, Asheboro route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rich.

Mine Explosion in Pennsylvania

About 60 miners were killed at Bolly's mine near Spangler, Pa. Monday morning. Of the 94 workmen who went into the mine early in the morning 30 men lay on their sides in the miners' hospitals, the known survivors of a terrific explosion which occurred in the heart of the mine soon after the morning work began.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to all of our neighbors for their many kindly acts during the illness and death of Dr. T. I. Williams. With our sincere thanks and appreciation, Mrs. Claude Wingham.

SAND HILL FAIR IN FULL SWING AT PINEHURST

One of the most interesting fairs ever held in the state is the great Sandhill fair which is now in progress at Pinehurst. Large crowds from all over the country are in attendance today in educational day and thousands of Moore county children are participating in the program. Tomorrow a historical pageant will be produced, which Mrs. Alice Page Shambarger has dramatized.

RANDOLPH PIG CLUB TEAM WINS AT PINEHURST

The Randolph County Pig Club team won second prize in the judging contest at the Sandhill Fair Tuesday. Mr. E. S. Millaps accompanied the team which is composed of Hal Ferres, Paul Skeen and Robert Fuller, of Farmer, to Pinehurst. In addition to the $30 prize won by the team, Mr. Millaps won $25 for taking the highest scoring team outside of Moore county. The other clubs in the contest had been to the State Fair and had had experience but this was the first experience the Randolph boys had had and they are to be congratulated upon their success.

Beloved Teacher Dead

Miss Emma A. Leham, for 52 years a teacher in Salem College and known throughout the south, died at her home in Winston-Salem, Monday night. She had not been in her usual health for several days, but her condition was not thought to be serious. She died in the arms of her sister, Mrs. Sallie E. Kapp. The end was sudden and painless. Miss Leham, who for the last few years has been senior retired teacher at the college, was known and loved by thousands who have come under her influence as a teacher and leader. She was born in Bethania in 1841. She was sent to Salem academy at the age of 13 and graduated at the age of 16. She entered public school work and later became a teacher at her alma mater.

Jesse Julian Dead

Jesse Julian, an aged citizen living near Randleman, who is said to be about 70 years old, died Monday and was buried at Level Cross Tuesday. Mr. Julian's wife died a year or more ago, and there are no surviving children. Three involved in shooting. After a political argument three men were shot at the polls at Barker's Creek, near Asheville. George W. Reavis, a merchant of that place, was shot and killed by Walter Fisher. A third man Jim Sutton then shot Fisher in the leg and the shot was returned by Fisher, hitting Sutton's hat. The two have been arrested.

REV. W. M. SMITH ACCEPTS CALL TO FRANKLIN

Rev. W. M. Smith, who has for the past four years been pastor of the Ramseur Methodist Episcopal church, has moved to Franklin and has ordered The Courier to follow him. Mr. Smith was born and reared near Ramseur and his pastorate there is a pronounced harvest of success. He has had the faculty of "happy faculty well met" and has proved himself most worthy as a spiritual leader of men. Not only do the churches of Ramseur and Franklinville appreciate Mr. Smith but many friends throughout this section. Rev. W. L. Scott succeeds Mr. Smith and comes highly recommended.

Bootleggers' "paradise" or one of their strongholds was broken up at Salisbury last week by the local officials there. For some time, it seems, a low wall which extended nearly a block behind the station, dozens of people have been seen sitting on the wall, apparently reading, and bootleggers have been slipping the bottles along the wall, receiving the money in the same way. It is believed that large quantities of contraband whiskey have changed hands in this manner before the officers got wise to the scheme. Now no one is permitted to sit along the wall.

Marries His Grandmother. A most peculiar marriage occurred at Calata, Mo., when the wedding of George Eys to his own grandmother, Rebecca F. Eys, was recorded. The groom was 18 years old and Mrs. Eys was 52. It is stated that upon learning the relationship, the minister refused both and immediately annulled the marriage, and returned the fee. The marriage, however, was George Eys.
