North Carolina now is engaged in a school building program, which, when completed, will add approximately 800 new structures at a cost of $25,000,000.

Men's woolen clothing will be increased in price in order to include the duty which the Fordney-McCumber profiteers tariff act has fixed on raw wool and fabrics.

The Legislature has appropriated another $15,000,000 for good roads in North Carolina. Little objection was made on the floor of House or Senate to the appropriation of this amount for the betterment of highways in North Carolina.

The Elizabeth City Independent, has issued a 24 page "Tell the World" edition, relating to Elizabeth City and Northeastern North Carolina and its advantages seems to have been included in Editor Saunders' splendid edition. It is a boost for Eastern North Carolina, the section of the State in which The Independent enjoys a large circulation.

Union County's slogan is a high school education for every boy and girl in the county. Representative J. E. Milliken will at the request of the board of education of Union county introduce a bill which, if passed will provide an accredited state high school in every township in his county. It will have to be ratified by the voters of Union county as it becomes a law.

The citizens of Randolph county who have in mind any and every other thing they think would aid in the improvement of county government, or any other matter that they would like to have considered by the present session of the general assembly, should report their ideas to our representative, Mr. L. C. Moser. Mr. Moser will see that these ideas are given very careful consideration because he is anxious to help Randolph county in anyway possible.

Editor Sharpe of The Robesonian has issued a 64 page development edition in which is reflected the general prosperity and progress of Robeson county. It also contains some interesting articles on the county's development. The Lumberton section is especially good, showing the progress of the county since the county seat was moved to Lumberton.

Every day the people of North Carolina are being educated by the news which is published in the various newspapers. It is not only the news which is published in the newspapers, but also the advertisements which are published in the newspapers. These advertisements are also a source of information to the people.

Having two good examples of the same kind, the whole thing is a measure of success. In practically all respects, the country is a success. The general prosperity and progress of the country is a success. The general prosperity and progress of the country is a success.

It is a success. The general prosperity and progress of the country is a success. The general prosperity and progress of the country is a success.

At the same time, the most humane management, or perhaps more correctly, the most humane management, are merely substitutes for the law. They must be made a part of the law, therefore, it is necessary to support certain children at home where they would be under the parental care than in an institution. The proposed law provides that the State and county share equally the expense, say twenty or thirty dollars per month, of keeping orphan children at home in those cases where investigation proves mothers are worthy of assistance.

The Alabama Legislature has gone on record in an enthusiastic endorsement of Senator Oscar Underwood for democratic nomination as president of the United States. The Charlotte Charlotte Observer says that Mr. Underwood carries the same handicap as many other of the finest and most capable men in the nation—he is from the South.

The women of the county will deplore the fact that the price of percal has been increased.

Advances in price already made range from 3-4 to 1 cent a yard, wholesale. These increases will undergo pyramiding along the line from manufacturer to dealer, so that the woman who buys some of this material for herself or for her girls will have to pay the profits and percentage that have been taken by the several middlemen.

The increases noted cover only percales sold for delivery during January, February and March. Subsequent deliveries may be on a still higher price basis.

The legislature has been almost at a complete standstill for the past few days on account of the question which has recently been raised between three of the State's leading officials, namely, Governor Morrison, Commissioner Maxwell, State Treasurer Lacy. The Governor claims that the State has a surplus of $2,500,000 and Mr. Maxwell claims that the State has a deficit of $3,047,000. Investigating committees have been appointed to untangle this question which has caused State-wide interest and it is hoped that within the next few days this committee will be able to publish its report and clear up this important question.

THE WOMAN AND THE VOTE

Woman's suffrage has been the subject of a long and heated discussion in the last election for Governor of North Carolina. It is a subject which is being discussed in New York City. Recently, in a speech delivered to a large audience in New York City, he stated that there were few women voters by training and opportunity were fitted for public office, and he urged to be governor of a state or member of the cabinet. Women should not seek office, only the office should seek them, she claimed also that the money spent on the Women's Cause at the State Capitol should be used to better the education, for instance, of the children of the poor.
