Rhode Island Towns Go Democratic, Forecasting 1924.

Democratic candidates decisively defeated their Republican opponents in the recent municipal elections in Bristol and Warren, important towns of Rhode Island. No Republican was elected to any office for which there was a contest. There was lively interest among the voters and vigorous campaign on the part of the candidates. More than 77 per cent. of the total vote was cast in Bristol.

The offices which go to Democrats in Bristol are five councilmen, three members of the school committee, sewer commissioner, town clerk, moderator and treasurer. In Warren three of the five councilmen and the tax assessor chosen at the election are Democrats. There were no contests for the other municipal offices.

"We feel safe in saying that this is a forecast of what we expect in this State in 1924," says James E. Dunne, chairman of the Rhode Island Democratic State Central Committee, commenting on the result of these municipal elections.

Frequent Headaches. "I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Mrs. Stephen H. Kincer, of R. F. D. 1, Cripple Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of Thedford's Black-Draught and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick, and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition." Thedford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be natural! Try Black-Draught. Sold everywhere.

FARM LIVE STOCK

AREA PLAN IS RECOMMENDED

Whole Townships and Counties Should Be Cleaned Up in Eradicating Tuberculosis.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The general sentiment of breeders of cattle regarding tuberculosis eradication, expressed in reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, is that efforts should be directed toward wiping out the disease from grade as well as from purebred herds. The live stock men feel that animals used for beef production, as well as those kept for dairy purposes, and single cows owned by families, as well as large herds, should be included in the clean-up.

There is always a chance that one diseased animal in a community may contaminate others. It may come in contact with them at fence lines and by going to other farms; or the disease may be spread by its drinking at running streams passing through neighboring pastures. The feeling expressed also is that the disease cannot be kept under control, much less eradicated, if these animals are omitted in the clean-up of any territory. Whole areas, therefore, like townships and counties, should be cleaned up rather than scattered herds, if the work is to be of permanent value and handled in the most economical way. By this plan and constant vigilance on the part of stock owners to keep the areas free from further contamination, tuberculosis-free territories can gradually be extended and the disease not only controlled but progress made in the war to exterminate it.

CHECK BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS

Use of Modern Scientific Methods Have Made It Possible to Clean Up Rapidly.

Less than ten years ago, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the eradication of bovine tuberculosis seemed a staggering undertaking. One reason that rapid progress seemed impossible was that the subcutaneous-test method ordinarily used was slow. But since that time the use of other methods that are much more rapid, the ophthalmic and the intradermic, has made it possible to clean up areas as large as counties in a few weeks with a relatively small force. The only possible way to eradicate tuberculosis in the light of our present knowledge is to find the diseased animals and properly dispose of them more rapidly than the disease can be spread; that is the big problem, and it means testing great numbers of animals.

SORE EYES IRRITATE LAMBS

Complaint More Common Than Formerly and Caused by Breeders Putting Wool on Faces.

Complaint of sore eyes in young lambs is more common than it used to be. This is because breeders have put more wool on the faces of the sheep. When a young lamb manifests sore eyes the first thing to be looked for is the mechanical irritation of hairs due to an injured eyelid. If this condition is not found then it is time enough to put on boracic acid.

SELF-FEEDER WILL AID PIGS

Gives Rapid Gains to Young Animals Which Are Being Prepared for Marketing.

The self-feeder will not save all the labor and will not work to advantage on all classes of hogs, but it does give rapid gains to young pigs which are being prepared for market. It also gets old sows who have just weaned their pigs ready for market quicker.

Advantages of Swine

A comparison of some of the features of the various farm animals show that the hog has the advantage in many ways. While the annual increase from cattle and horses runs from 60 to 100 per cent, the increase from hogs is 150 to more than 1,000 per cent. The sow produces two litters per year which puts her far in the lead in productivity among farm animals. Pigs make about 100 pounds of gain from each 100 pounds of feed

GOV. MORRISON NAMES MAY 1 "BUNDLE DAY"

Chief Executive Appoints North Carolina to be the first to discard Winter Clothing to Near East Relief, in Official Proclamation.

May 1st has been declared "Bundle Day" in North Carolina, and the people of the Tarheel State are asked to send all their cast-off winter clothing to the Near East Relief, in a proclamation issued Monday by Governor Cameron Morrison.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is State chairman this year for the clothing campaign of this great humanitarian organization. Most counties of the State have completed their financial campaigns to feed the unfortunates in the oldest Christian nation in the world, and the people are now asked to send in winter clothing which they are casting off.

Dr. Brooks points out that every complete suit of warm clothing in which there is still some wear, will save a human life. Straw hats and cotton goods or summer clothing cannot be used. Last winter, in spite of the generosity of American people, many froze to death or suffered from acute pneumonia and rheumatism.

Clothing should be sent to the local Near East Relief chairman, or to the Near East Relief Clothing Warehouse in Raleigh. Parcel post shipments in sacks is preferred, but clothing can be shipped by freight if most convenient to the shipper.

Governor Morrison's proclamation reads:

"Whereas, it has been established that the suffering of the Armenians and other Christian peoples of the Near East is from reasons beyond their control, and that they are unable to rehabilitate themselves for this same reason; and

"Whereas, it is reported by reliable Americans that, aside from the old clothing which America sends them, these people have nothing but burlap bags and flour sacks to keep out the cold of winter, their climate being similar to that of our New England States; and

"Whereas, unless sufficient clothing is sent from America this summer, many thousands will freeze to death next winter; and

"Whereas, the North Carolina Division, Near East Relief, has set 150,000 pounds of warm, usable, cast-off clothing, which, it is estimated, will save 30,000 humans from death by freezing next winter, as its goal;

"Therefore, I, Cameron Morrison, Governor of North Carolina, do hereby declare May 1, 1923, "Bundle Day," and request the people of our State to gather all of their discarded winter clothing and either turn it over to their Near East Relief county chairman or other agency which is collecting clothing for the Near East Relief, or send it to the Near East Relief Clothing Warehouse in Raleigh, where it will be sent with all possible dispatch to the suffering peoples across the seas."

French Women Making Survey of North Carolina System of Home Demonstration Training.

Two French girls—Mademoiselles Aydat and Lapiere—as official agents of the French government are in Anson county, where they are studying home demonstration work preparatory to returning to France for instruction duties.

The French girls came to this country largely through the influence of the American committee for devastated France. They have been in several other states before coming to North Carolina. Mrs. Rosa Redfern, the oldest home demonstration agent in the United States is accompanying the young women on their tour of inspection.

On their return to France, Mademoiselles Aydat and Lapiere, under an agreement with the French government, will devote at least four years' work to the teaching of domestic science and allied branches in accordance with American home demonstration methods.

In the beginning, each will have charge of a department, which is a subdivision of France corresponding in some respects to the states of the union. Prospective demonstration workers, according to the plans of the French government, will go to these departments to study the American methods learned by the instructors, with a view of returning to their own departments and putting their knowledge into practice.

The two girls will become the first demonstration agents in France.
