Chances Are That ex-President Taft Was Wise in "Chopping Off" Just When He Did.

"Big Bill Taft was the lion of the London season," said a New York lawyer on his return from Europe. "No wonder," he went on. "Mr. Taft is so likable, you know, so jolly. "When I visited the Philippines Taft took our party out into the wilderness one week-end. We inspected everything. We even crowded into a native hut. "The native women received us kindly, of course. She was fully dressed, but her three little children were stark naked. Not a stitch. "Commissioner Taft turned to our party and said with his rich, chuckling laugh: "Here we see, friends, the difference between barbarism and civilization. In this barbaric region the mothers are fully clothed while the children go naked, whereas in the civilized states of Europe and America the children are fully clothed and the mothers go— that is—but I'd better say no more."—Detroit Free Press.

GAVE SAXOPHONE TO WORLD

Belgian Musician the Inventor of Instrument Which Has Attained So Much Modern Popularity.

The saxophone is a modern hybrid instrument invented by Antoine Joseph Sax, known as Adolphe Sax, in 1840. Sax was born in Dinant, Belgium, in 1814, and died in Paris in 1894. The saxophone has a mouthpiece like that of the clarinet, but has a conical tube of brass. In its fingering and sound production it resembles the oboe. A clockmaker named Desfontenelles is given the credit for combining the single-reed mouthpiece with a conical tube in 1807, making a clarinet with a conical bore and an upturned bell. Sax, in trying to produce a clarinet that would overblow an octave like the flute and oboe, invented the saxophone. This instrument first became popular for military music, particularly in France and Belgium.

Slack Times Gone.

"There isn't such a thing as 'a season' any more," said the painter as he began to clean a brush. "A few years ago we had our busy and slow times, and lots of people used to postpone work until the slack period and then slip a job through at bargain rates. No more. Big concerns keep their regular men at work throughout the year, and while it may be true that there are busy seasons, there is no such thing as a slack one. Spring will always be a bit brisker than any other time. After a hard winter things around the exterior of the house do look frayed, and a little paint wisely applied goes a long way toward making a place saleable."—Detroit News.
