for Asheboro? You bet.
The writer has barely met our new Superintendent, an, personally, has never heard him mention the matter one way or the other; but we have it on excellent authority that at ane time he had almost despaired of find-ing suitable homes for the teachers who have been invited to come here to work this year in our local school.

The stock excuse of many is that. it really is not convenient; others simply don't want to be bothered; while a limited few seem obsessed with the idea that "keeping a board-

The funeral and burial were at Rock Springs near Michfield on Monday, services being conducted by Revs. J. M. Trogdon, of Lexington; and C. A. Davis, of Davidson county. A large crowd was present to pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased Mrs. Miller before her marriage was Miss Lenora Vuncannon, a daughter of the late Lohn and Name. And yet that young lady, so far as good qualities, birth, breeding, and early environment go, was on a level with anybody anywhere. Such an attitude helps no town.

Now, in writing this, no offense is intended to anyone. No town of the size on the face of the globe can justly boast of more generous-hearted, noble-spirited people than Asheboro. And this apparent indifference to the stranger within our gates is certainly not meant to wound; it is due to thoughtless oversight pure and Let it be corrected.
