U. D. C. MEETING

The Randolph Chapter U. D. C. met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. M. Parrish and Miss Mable Parrish, on South Fayetteville street. A short business meeting was held first at which dues for the year were paid and other matters discussed and disposed of. This being within a day of the birthday of General Lee and Jackson, the two noted men were subject of the papers and discussion for this meeting. Mrs. W. D. Stedman read a most interesting article on Lee, and Mrs. W. C. Hammond read an unusually good paper which she had prepared for this occasion on Stonewall Jackson. After the program, the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Amos Winningham served tomato aspic wafers, sandwiches, pickles, and hot tea. This was followed by pudding with sauce and coffee. Besides a large number of new members who are joining the chapter, several visitors were present to enjoy this delightful meeting.

RANDOLPH BOOK CLUB MEETS

The Randolph Book Club met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Underwood in East Asheboro. Several guests besides the members of the club were also present at this interesting meeting. Mrs. Annie Robbins was the reader for the afternoon and read a delightfully interesting chapter from "The Life and Letters of Walter Page". Mrs. H. M. Worth then read a splendid paper on Herbert Hoover. This ended the program, and Miss Henrietta Underwood then gave two musical readings accompanied by Miss Bulla at the piano, after which Miss Underwood played several selections. Miss Underwood is a young girl of unusual musical ability and her numbers were enjoyed by all present. Chicken salad with black walnuts, sandwiches, wafer pickles, cheese straws and hot coffee with whipped cream were served. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. O. Redding and Miss Henrietta Underwood.

MRS. S. B. STEDMAN HOSTESS

Mrs. S. B. Stedman was hostess to the members of the Friday afternoon club at her home on Fayetteville street Friday afternoon. Only members of the club were present and several matters of business were discussed. Miss Lena May Johnson was made fine collector after it was decided to fine members who came late to meetings. The subject for the afternoon was "The Great Prince Sham". Miss Ethel Lovett read a splendid paper on "The League of Nations", and Mrs. H. W. Walker read an article on "The Position of Women in Politics To-Day". A discussion of the book followed. After the program was over, tables were placed and a delightful course of refreshments served. The plates contained cream chicken in patties, tomato aspic, sandwiches, and pickles. Hot buttered biscuits and tea were passed, followed by chocolate fudge cake.

PRISCILLA CIRCLE MEETS

The first meeting of the Priscilla sewing circle for the year was held at the home of Mrs. G. L. Millikan. The afternoon was pleasantly whiled away with needlework and conversation. The hostess assisted by Mrs. R. C. Lewallen and Miss Annie Cox, served elaborate refreshments consisting of chicken salad, pickles, hot rolls and coffee with whipped cream, ambrosia, and cake. Dainty corsages of sweet peas and fern were presented to each guest. Invited guests for the afternoon were Mrs. John Meffus, of Monroe, and Misses Lillian Brown and Esther Sexton.

INTERMEDIATE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIAL

Misses Myrtle and Essie Bean entertained the Intermediate Christian Endeavors of the Methodist Protestant church at their home last Friday evening. Numerous games were enjoyed throughout the evening, among them was a guessing contest in which Miss Lola Moffitt excelled. Hot chocolate, wafers and home-made candy was served, and the evening thoroughly enjoyed.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Several relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. A. S. Callcutt in South Asheboro Sunday, January the 20th, to celebrate the birthdays of Mrs. Callcutt and her neighbor, Mrs. Raymond Crowell. The event had been planned by the Misses Callcutt and kept a secret from the guests of honor who, after recovering from the shock of the surprise, joined with the others in conversation and songs and enjoyed the celebration of their natal day. A bountiful dinner was spread in the dining room and everyone present enjoyed partaking thereof.

DEATH OF JOHN GLASGOW

John Thomas Glasgow died at his home, five miles east of Asheboro, Tuesday from heart dropsy, aged 41 years.

The deceased is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glasgow, who with his wife, two sons and one daughter survive.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Allred yesterday at Mount Tabor. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Patterson Dead

Funeral services of Mrs. Lou Patterson, who died in Liberty last Tuesday morning were held last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Baptist church at Liberty. The body was laid to rest in the Fair View cemetery. Mrs. Patterson was loved by all who knew her.

THE NEXT GREAT STEP

The Commonwealth of North Carolina has made great progress. In the past few years we have achieved greatness both in the South and in the nation. Our fame has spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

We have made remarkable strides in the textile industry, earning second rank among the textile-producing states and fast closing in on the last stronghold of textile supremacy in New England. We have moved forward in road building, driving the mud from every main artery of traffic within the state's borders, and reaching a position among the road-building elect, if not the giant among them all.

We have advanced with might in the tobacco industry, winning first rank, and becoming the Colossus among the tobacco-manufacturing states. We have conquered the state's brawling streams, developing a super-power system to light our homes, streets and offices and to run our mills and factories. We have accomplished wonders in the furniture industry, working our way up to the place where we are able to compete with the best, whether in Grand Rapids or in New York. We have made phenomenal advancement in education, performing miracles almost in transforming our educational system all the way from the poorest rural school to the university.

While we have achieved many notable things, we have not yet reached the Elysian fields. We still have mighty tasks before us. We can not afford to rest on our laurels. We stand really only at the very beginning.

Consequently, what is the next great constructive thing in our program of progress? It is greater expenditure for the construction of roads or for the education of youth? Is it county government? Is it the establishment of more finishing mills in the textile industry? What is the next great step? Will you give us an answer and send your answer, whether short or long, to the editor?—Walter J. Matherly in "Commerce Industry".
