Col. Al Fairbrother, who claims he has never written "a piece for any paper" other than for his own publication, has heartily endorsed Mr. James Cook for State Auditor. In his endorsement he calls attention to the usefulness of Mr. Cook in the different positions he has held.

An Anson county farmer averaged $90 monthly last year from seven cows. He raised his own feed and during the year only bought one sack of mill feed. Instead of paying cash he exchanged cotton seed for the meal. Randolph county farmers can exchange grains for cotton seed meal and probably have as profitable results as did the Anson county farmer.
