Social Column

Compliment Brides

A lovely party complimenting two recent brides, Mrs. James Burns and Mrs. Shafter Ferree was given by Mrs. Laurin Cranford and Miss Mabel Parrish Saturday afternoon at the home of the former. As the guests arrived they were greeted by the two hostesses, the honorees and Miss Kathleen Hall, of Thomasville. Places at the card tables were found by place cards in the shape of dainty brides. Rook and bridge were played until the hostesses called off the games. When scores were added, the prize for bridge went to Miss Bera Scarborough, being a compact, and the rook prize, a bottle of perfume went to Mrs. J. D. Ross. The honorees were given lovely tea pots. Frozen fruit salad, ribbon sandwiches, wafers, and iced tea were served.

Entertains at Bridge

Friday afternoon Mrs. James O. Walker entertained the members of her bridge club and a few guests. Bridge was enjoyed through several progressions and when the cards were collected the top score prize went to Miss Mabel Parrish. This was a deck of gilt-edged cards. Chicken salad, tomato jelly, sandwiches, and tea were the refreshments.

Amuzu Club

The "Amuzu Club" and several others were pleasantly entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Loflin on Sunset Avenue. Bridge was played at two tables, pretty little place cards marking the places. Miss Elyer Richardson, holding highest score, received a deck of cards. Banana salad, sandwiches, wafers, pickles, and iced tea were served to the following: Misses Mabel Ingram, Ethel Cox, Lena Hilliard, Elyer Richardson, Elizabeth Skeen, Donna Lee Loflin, Messdames Gorrel Suggs, Lee Fritz, and Tom Wood.

Randolph Book Club

Friday afternoon Mrs. W. H. Moring was hostess to the Randolph Book Club. Mrs. J. D. Ross was reader for the afternoon and the chapter proved interesting. Following this reading, Mrs. Wm. B. Sturgeon, a guest of the club who has recently returned from a world tour of mission fields, told interestingly of her travels. Current events were discussed at length. Later a salad course was served.

Mrs. Johnson Entertains

Monday afternoon Mrs. R. C. Johnson was hostess to the North Asheboro Reading Circle. Mrs. W. H. McMahon was leader for the afternoon, the 15th chapter of Acts being the lesson. After the discussion an ice course was served by the hostess.

Party For the Seniors of the Franklinville School

Norris English, Howard Redding, and other well-known collegians are attending the High School functions of this place.

RAMEUR DELIGHTED WITH COMMENCEMENT SERMON. OTHER NEWS ITEMS

Rameur was delighted with Rev. Wade C. Smith's message Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the Annual Commencement Devotional service. His text was the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand. He told the story as only one could who had been on the ground himself. He spent some time last year in Palestine although he didn't mention it. He plead for the boys and girls of our school to give what they had into the Master's hands, seizing the opportunity to become greater and better like the little lad who gave the loaves and fishes. We hope Mr. Smith comes again.

Saturday night a large audience enjoyed the concert by the Rameur Glee Club. The program of Closing Exercises has been published.

Rev. Mr. Hunt, of Bethel Circuit, near Charlotte preached Sunday night at the Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt were visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Foust.

On last Friday Rev. J. O. Atkinson, of Elon College, preached a wonderful sermon at the Christian church.

Rev. W. L. Scott and others attended the Epworth League Meeting at Spring Garden church, Greensboro, Monday.

We were rather surprised Monday to see a detachment of soldiers pass through town. Some half dozen teams, most of them six horse teams, and others on horseback. Understand it is a branch of Camp Bragg stationed for a time at our County Seat.

We are going to be lonesome for a few months. Our school closing takes from us several teachers through the summer and we fear some of them may not return. All have been re-elected and we hope they will come back. We have never had a finer corps of teachers than this body and we wish to express our appreciation for their splendid service.

Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Sumner, of Randleman, and Messrs. C. P. and J. Rom Smith and wives, of Liberty, attended the services here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. E. H. Bray and family have recently moved to town. He is the new manager of Rameur Milling Co.
