Class of Ashboro

Veto of the postal salary increase bill was decided upon last week by President Coolidge. Again we say that Mr. Coolidge is the world's heavy-weight veto artist.

MR. BAILEY MAKES PUBLIC STATEMENT

Joshua W. Bailey, in a formal statement made in Raleigh last Monday admitted his defeat for the Democratic nomination for governor by Angus W. McLean. Mr. Bailey pledged himself to the McLean forces and wishes Mr. McLean the "utmost success in the coming election."

Somebody just naturally had to get defeated in the primary, but smiles are still worth their face value.

Papers say that Mr. Coolidge walks around the streets of Washington absolutely unnoticed. It's really possible to get that way if one isn't careful.

The fact that the primary is over does not necessarily mean that we will be forced to stop handshaking. 'Tis a splendid habit.

The fact that Mr. Coolidge has vetoed every bill that has been brought before him which would have helped the working class, is a true indication that he either thinks a millionaire can vote a little heavier than "we little fellers" or else he has a hankering to return to the farm next year.

SATURDAY'S PRIMARY

The result in Saturday's primary was no surprise.

The majority for McLean for Governor may reach more than 60,000, but Bailey made a brilliant campaign and fully sustained his reputation as an exceedingly able campaigner and student of public affairs.

Graham is nominated for commissioner of agriculture but the voters of Randolph and this section went good and strong for the Bellhaven farmer.

So fine a man as James P. Cook went down under the weight of the popularity of Baxter Durham, while Stacey Wade ran away with J. F. Flowers, fine young Charlotte attorney.

Charles Ross ran good and strong nearly everywhere but lacked a little of winning, while Elmer Long lead for lieutenant governor, and Grist, the ex-service man ran so close to Shipman a second primary will be necessary.

LOCKE CRAIG

Elsewhere in this issue is an account of the death of former Governor Locke Craig, one of North Carolina's very greatest Governors.

He has been for many years in ill health.

Generous, noble hearted, without sham or veneering, solid through and through, sound as a dollar.

No more conscientious, upright man ever held office in this or any other state.

The greatest public speaker within the memory of men now living save possibly Ransom, Vance and Aycock. Locke Craig though dead still lives, and will be remembered as one of North Carolina's greatest men.

His inaugural address was the greatest since Vance's famous inaugural. Broken in health his administration failed of accomplishment of all he deserved.

Since leaving the governorship he has been all the while a semi-invalid, but his advice and counsel have been sought and heeded by leaders in the State, and few men have made so great an impression upon his State.

Rev. W. L. Scott is attending Summer school at Trinity College and N. P. Marsh, Lay Leader, and I. F. Craven, of Ramseur will have charge of services at Franklinville church next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moffitt attended memorial services at Shiloh, Sunday.

Dewey Pugh, Miss Coleen Cox, Benton Moon, Miss Fannie Burke, and Miss Oma Craven spent Sunday on Reedy Fork, Guilford county.

Mrs. Jennie Spoon was a visitor at Asheboro last Sunday.

Maxine, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Pugh died Sunday evening and was buried at Gray's Chapel cemetery Monday afternoon. Burial services were held at Gray's church by Rev. W. F. Ashburn, of Liberty.

Dr. Charles E. McLean left Wednesday for his home at Gastonia, returning Saturday evening accompanied by Mrs. McLean, who has been teaching in High School in her home town the past year.

The public road or highway from Franklinville to Climax by way of Gray's Chapel and Lineberry is being regraded. This is very much needed as it is extensively used. The road should be widened and regraded in places so as to conform to road from Climax to Greensboro.

The Franklinville Pilgrim Holiness church has a new bell.

The Singing Class, consisting of 18 boys and girls, from Children's Home, Winston-Salem, under the management of Supt. Rev. C. A. Wood and teachers, Miss Patsy Calvert and R. W. Bradshaw, delighted the large crowd present at the M. E. church, June 1st. The program consisted of songs and recitations by the children and a very interesting address by Rev. C. A. Wood. Dinner was served on the church yard.

Our girls who have returned from college for vacation are, Miss Ollie Fentris, of G. C. C. W., Greensboro; Miss Kitty Lee Jones, of Davenport; Miss Lena Grimes, and Katherine Bule, of N. C. C. W., Greensboro; Miss Inez Ferree, of Meredith, Raleigh; and Miss Fannie Jones, of Gold Hill.

The Betterment Society held their regular meeting at the Community House, Friday evening, May 30th. Much business was transacted after which they all enjoyed the free picture show. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Anna Fox, President; Mrs. John W. Clark, V. President; Miss Mary Moon, Secretary; Mr. E. B. Moss, Treasurer.

The Epworth League, of Franklinville, M. E. church held its monthly Social last week at the residence of E. A. Routh. Besides the members there were several visitors, making a total of more than 75. Miss Sula Patterson had charge of the program. Music was furnished by Riverside Cornet Band. After enjoying several games on the hillside, they were invited into the house where they played a great many games, giving a contest. Prizes were won by Misses Mary Williams and Marie Wynn, after which cake, pickles and lemonade were served.

MR. THOMAS BIRKHEAD DEAD

Mr. Tom Birkhead, age 67 years, died at home of relatives near Bombay last Saturday morning. Mr. Birkhead has been living near Wilmington, N. C. For the past fifteen years, and was engaged in farming at Rocky Point. He was born in New Hope township and was educated in the public schools of that section. Mr. Birkhead is the son of Milton Birkhead who was killed in action in the Civil War. He was forced to retire from active business about 18 months ago when physicians discovered that he had developed cancer.

He is survived by one brother and two sisters, ex-sheriff John Watson Birkhead, of Asheboro; Mesdames N. F. Kearns, of Denton, and Patterson, of Winston-Salem.

Funeral services were held at Oak Grove church last Sunday at 11 o'clock.

MISS BLANCHE BINGHAM BRIDE OF MR. RAY BYRD

A marriage of interest occurred at Franklinville May 31st, when Miss Blanche Bingham became the bride of Mr. Ray Byrd, Rev. J. E. Shaw officiating. Mrs. Byrd is the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bingham, of Farmer. Mr. Byrd is an enterprising young man and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Byrd, of Holly Springs. The young couple have many friends in this country who wish them a happy life.
