Mrs. J. E. Walker,
82, Died Sunday

Passed Away In Her Sleep—Funeral Held Tuesday At The Walker Home.

Mrs. Fannie Birkhead Walker, wife of Col. James E. Walker, died at her home on North Fayetteville street Sunday evening at the age of 82 years. For several years Mrs. Walker had been in feeble health, suffering from the infirmities of old age.
She had occasional attacks of neu-ritis and while her condition was apparently no worse, she complained of suffering Sunday morning sufficiently to remain in bed. In the afternoon she was relieved and about 5:30 said she was resting comfortably and fell asleep. At 7:30, Mrs.
Walker's son, Dr. T. C. Walker, who has been at her side almost constantly for years, went in the room to see if there was anything he could do for her comfort and found her dead. Her husband was sitting in the room and had not heard a sound from his wife.

Mrs. Walker was the daughter of the late Lorenzo D. Birkhead, who was a resident of Montgomery county, but moved to Randolph when his children were small. At the age of twenty, she married Col. James E.
Walker, and to this union there are four surviving children, Dr. T. C.
Walker, Mrs. D. B. McCrary, Mrs.
T. H. Redding and Samuel Walker, all of Asheboro. Three sons have preceded their mother to the grave, Dr. J. O. Walker, Cornelius Walker and B. B. Walker. In addition to rearing her own family, Mrs. Walker took the children of her son, Dr. J.
O. Walker, after the death of their mother and reared them.

The quiet passing of Mrs. Walker was characteristic of the life she had lived. Through her girlhood and womanhood she had possessed most admirable traits of character. Her manner was pleasing, unassuming, and she was at all times solicitous of her family, loved ones and friends, all of whom join with her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren in the tribute so beautifully written by Walter James Willson:

"I hold you, dearest mother mine, From all the world apart.
Thoughts of your goodness softly shine Like sunlight in my heart.
Truest friend above all others Gentlest, kindest, best of mothers."

The funeral service was conducted Tuesday at 2 o'clock from the home by Rev. A. W. Plyler, of Greensboro, a former pastor who had resided in the Walker home for years, and Rev.
B. C. Reavis, the local pastor. Rev.
J. E. Thompson, of High Point, also a former pastor, was present and participated in the service. The tributes of Mr. Plyler were most beautiful and his grateful appreciation of the many kindnesses extended were expressed with intense feeling. The many floral offerings and the visits of many friends of the family from the many neighboring towns and cities attested the high esteem in which Mrs. Walker was held. Following the service at the home, the body was taken to the family plot in Randleman for interment.

Among those from out of town attending the service were: Dr. Charles Ingram, Mrs. Jesse Haywood, Mrs.
Charles Stanback and L. Ledbetter, all of Mt. Gilead; A. W. McAlister, Hiram Worth, Miss Laura Clark and Mrs. Wm. Johnson, all of Greensboro; Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Rankin, Mrs. J. A. Blair, Rev. J. E. Thompson, E. L. Auman and Mr. and Mrs.
J. E. Millis, all of High Point; Mrs.
James H. Pou, Raleigh; Miss Mary Bostick, Randleman; Percy Bostick, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Redding, Trinity; Mrs. Daisy Page Walker, Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, Asheville; Mr. and Mrs. A.
Charles Broadfoot, Fayetteville; Mrs. J. W. Long, Mrs. Chas. D. Benbow, Mrs. Ada King and Mrs. Sam Swain, all of Greensboro.

Three Drug Stores—Canvass
Of Town To Be Made.

Red Cross Tubercular Seals are town and county commissioners have started the sale by purchasing several dollars worth of Seals. No canvass has been made as yet, but all the seals are very lovely this year and aside from this, 70c of every dollar lieved to be the best ever held in Randolph county and is being used to help tubercular patients. Money is also being used for prevention of this dread disease.

milk at cost in the school lunch room. Announcement of details will be made later.

The colored school is to make a drive for the sale of these seals. The money which they hope to raise will be used to buy seals for the school.

If it is not convenient to see a representative who is selling seals, stop in the drug store and buy some. The price is the same, a penny a stamp.
Do your bit.

The cut below shows how attractive the seal looks this year.

Thousands Saved For Randolph Farmers in Cooperative Buying and Selling.

PLACED 18 GUERNSEY
BULLS DURING YEAR

Held 28 Public Meetings During Year Attended by 2,850 People of the County.

County farm agent E. S. Millsaps, Jr., has just completed the annual report of his activities in Randolph county during the past year. Mr.
Millsaps' report goes into detail with reference to his work among the farmers of the county, showing an account of each day's work and the results obtained by his efforts. His report discloses that a county farm demonstration agent in a rural county has his hands full. The report in its entirety is, of course, too long to be covered here, but a few of the statistics given by Mr. Millsaps will be of interest.

For instance, Mr. Millsaps worked 227 days in what is called field work and was in his office 78 days during the year. He made 997 visits to individual farms and had conferences with 1,325 farmers in his office. He made 929 telephone calls with reference to business matters connected with his work. He wrote 762 letters, held 28 public meetings with farmers attended by 2,850 tillers of the soil in the county.

Mr. Millsaps mailed 225 government bulletins to Randolph farmers, sent out 15,681 circular letters and traveled 8,791 miles during the year at his work. He carried out 352 "result" demonstrations, that is demonstrations which were watched from start to finish and the outcomes checked.

Some idea of the actual cash savings which he made for the farmers of the county may be had when it is noted that he handled 14,000 pounds of government explosives at an actual cash savings under retail prices of $2,500 to the farmers of the county. In addition, he saved the farmers more than $500 by the purchase of grass and clover seed in the cooperative plan. Mr. Millsaps handled 112,000 pounds of poultry, obtaining for the farmers of the county $5,600 more than they could have gotten for a like amount of poultry by selling individually.
