

Clarence Lovett Takes Brother's Place As Clerk

Appointed By Judge Oglesby
Saturday And Is Sworn In Office Monday A. M.

Appointment Popular

New Clerk Is Ex-Service Man
Who Rendered Distinguished Service To Country.

Clarence J. Lovett was sworn in as Clerk Superior Court for Randolph County Monday morning by Hal M. Worth, justice of the peace, and immediately assumed the duties of the office. Mr. Lovett was appointed Clerk Saturday afternoon by Judge John M. Oglesby, judge of the fifteenth judicial district, holding court at Marion. He succeeds his elder brother, W. A. Lovett, who died Monday afternoon in a Hamlet hospital from injuries sustained a short time before in an automobile accident.

The new Clerk is a veteran of the World War, having served as First Lieutenant in Company K, of the 120th infantry, and as battalion intelligence officer. Prior to his service in the World War, Mr. Lovett was a member of the National Guard and was First Sergeant in K Company. He was promoted to second lieutenant at Camp Sevier and later elevated to First Lieutenant. Mr. Lovett rendered distinguished service to his country during the war. Since his return he has been connected with the Acme Hosiery mills in executive capacity and upon the organization of the Parks Hosiery Mill went there and served in a position similar to that at the Acme Hosiery mills.

The selection of Mr. Lovett to succeed his brother, who, during his short term in office demonstrated that he was one of the most efficient officials of the county of Randolph ever had, seems to have met with universal approval throughout the county. It was the consensus of opinion that Mr. Lovett should have the position made vacant by the death of his elder brother if he decided to take the place. After careful consideration he decided to accede to the wishes of his many friends and assume the duties of the office.

The driver of the car is unknown. The accident occurred near Jones service station in Franklinville. While Mr. Stutts' injuries are painful and serious, his recovery is expected.

Virginia Tragedy Affects Randolph

Husband Of Dead Woman Lives In Our Town—Was It Suicide Or Murder?

The tragic death of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, 28, pretty music teacher, in Steward Circle Hospital, Richmond, Va., last week, had its echoes in North Carolina. Mrs. C. A. Holt, her mother, lives at Princeton, N. C., and her divorced husband, I. A. Snipes, lives in Asheboro where he works in the veneer plant. Mrs. Snipes was found in her apartment in Richmond with a bullet hole in her head. John W. Faison, secretary and manager of the Richmond Hermitage country club, was held for investigation following her death. He claimed to have been in her apartment at the time, but contended that he was in another room when he heard the shot fired. It was his contention that she killed herself. Faison will be given a preliminary hearing Nov. 30th.

Mrs. Snipes was divorced from her husband several years ago on account of temperamental difficulties. Mr. Snipes has married again since, but his former wife remained single. It is stated that Faison had declared his intention of marrying the pretty divorcee after he had divorced his wife.

Mr. Snipes once lived in Liberty, but several years ago moved to Asheboro.

Aged Veteran Is Called By Death

John Hilliard Hill, Veteran Of
Confederacy, Died Last Sunday
Night.

Funeral Tuesday

Another of Randolph county's Confederate veterans passed Sunday night, when John Hilliard Hill answered the call. Mr. Hill had been in declining health for several years and had been confined to his bed for the past three weeks. He was at all times interested in the cause of the Confederacy, having been a wearer of the gray during the war between the states. By his side had walked his widow, aged 86, who has shared his joys and his sorrows. Mr. Hill had engaged in farming until around fourteen years ago when his health forbade the continuance of his activities on the farm, so he consequently came to the home of his son, E. G. Hill, two miles north of Asheboro, where he and his widow have since resided. Mr. Hill was a member of the Baptist church at Worthville and was a man who believed in serving God and in dealing fairly with his fellowmen.

The funeral service was conducted at the home of his son, E. G. Hill, Randleman, Route 2, Tuesday at 2 p. m., after which the body was taken to Worthville for interment. Surviving are the widow, three daughters, Mrs. W. J. Wood and Mrs. Rosa Brown, Randleman, Route 2, Mrs. Cornelia Royals, Lexington, and two sons, E. G. and Cicero Hill Randleman, Route 2. There are also a large number of grandchildren throughout this section, all of whom attended the funeral.

Should Be Licensed

Burns failed miserably in trying to put the onus on public officials. A detective agency, which is engaged in the performances that caused the mistrial in the Fall-Sinclair cases, ought not to be allowed to operate in this country. Under the guise of being detectives almost any band of crooks can open up business and become the fess of justice. Therefore no detective agency ought to be allowed to operate without a license by the government for the company and every detective—News & Observer.

All former members who have moved away from town, and the public in general are urged to attend the services during the day.

Randolph Ranks High In Number Of Automobiles

There Is One Car In County To Nearly Every Family—Guilford Leads.

Randolph county ranks a little above the State average in ownership of automobiles, according to figures compiled by Paul W. Wager and published in a recent issue of the University News Letter. In Randolph there are 5,475 cars, or one for every 5.8 people, and in this respect Randolph ranks 17th among the 100 counties of North Carolina. Since five persons constitute the average family for statistical purposes, Randolph has nearly one car per family. The State average is one car for every 6.8 people.

Guilford heads the list with one car for every 3.9 persons, followed closely by Mecklenburg, Moore and Brunswick, each of which has one car for every four and a fraction persons. Davidson, with 7,625 cars has one for every 5.3 persons and stands 7th in the list of counties. Montgomery has 2,200 cars, or one for every 6.4 persons; Alamance, 6,575, or one for every 5.4 people; and Chatham has 3,170 cars, or one for every 7.7 people.

Carteret stands at the bottom of the list with one car for every 32 people, while Yancey has only one for every 24.7 persons. One of the reasons for Carteret's low rank, perhaps, lies in the fact that Carteret is on the sounds in Eastern Carolina and motor boats are used there to a large extent for transportation.

Find Conway's Abandoned Car Near Coleridge

Stolen At Fayetteville Saturday
Night And Owner Assaulted
By Two Men.

Thieves Are Unknown

Two unidentified white men beat up Ead Conway at Fayetteville Saturday night when he went from his room in the Rosemont hotel to see who was trying to start his car, a Chevrolet coupe, which was parked on the street directly behind the hotel. Conway was given a severe drubbing by two husky men who were attempting to get away with his car, put in the automobile, carried out on the highway several miles and kicked out. He was picked up later and taken to a hospital for treatment.

This would be of little interest locally save for the fact that the Chevrolet car belonging to Conway was found near Ben Moffitt's place, at Coleridge, Monday, parked by the side of the road with the lights burning. It was in good running shape and had been abandoned apparently for no obvious reason. The car was brought to Asheboro and identified as Conway's from the description which had been given. Conway was notified and on Tuesday sent one of his friends for the car. The identity of those who assaulted Mr. Conway and drove his car away is not known.

Filling Stations Becoming The Prey Of Highway Robbers

Getting To Be Common Thing In
Randolph—Latest Robbery
At Franklinville.

Gasoline filling stations are rapidly becoming the prey of highwaymen driving in high powered cars and carrying with them the persuasive elements of automatic pistols. Several weeks ago the Gap Service Station below Seagrove was robbed and not long since Wister Williams flushed a couple of men in the act of robbing his filling station and store at Ulah. Just across the Randolph line in Guilford not many weeks since, a filling station was robbed. Tuesday night of last week Clarence Marley's place of business near Staley was entered and robbed, and on Thursday evening, Thomas N. Jennings, who operates Uncle Tom's Filling Station, at Franklinville, was held up and robbed.

In previous instances of robbery of this nature, the victims have merely been blindfolded and tied while the highwaymen have gone about their business of looting, but in the case of Mr. Jennings rougher methods were used. Jennings, who is a man of about 72 years of age, was attacked by the two highwaymen who drove up to his place about 6 o'clock Friday evening and badly hurt by blows on the head inflicted with the butt of a revolver. The robbers escaped with about $40 in money. They drove in the direction of Greensboro in a Studebaker sedan.

From the meager description available, the highwaymen who robbed Mr. Jennings are the same who held up and robbed Marley's station near Staley Tuesday night before the Franklinville robbery.

Deaths Caused By Automobiles Are On Increase In State

Figures Compiled By Paul Wager Show One Death In 1925 For Every 905 Cars.

Paul W. Wager, over at the University of North Carolina, has compiled some statistics relative to the number of automobile fatalities over the country. Wager uses the 1925 figures for the reason that when he began his survey all the 1926 figures were not available. There was in 1925, according to Mr. Wager, one automobile fatality in North Carolina to every 905 automobiles registered in the State. This ratio, Mr. Wager considers high for the reason that North Carolina is primarily a rural State, having no large cities like many of the other states. His figures show that automobile fatalities are increasing in the State. The number of deaths caused by automobiles in North Carolina in 1925 was 376, and in ratio of deaths to cars this State stood 28th among the 48 states in the union. Nebraska made the best showing with only one death to every 2,710 automobiles, followed by North Dakota with one for every 2,457 cars registered. Florida led in the number of deaths per car, having had one for every 638. New York showed one death for every 770 automobiles.

Farmer Needs No License To Hunt On His Own Land

Reference To Law Will Show He Needs License Only When He Hunts Elsewhere.

Law Protects Farmer

Any Man Can Forbid Hunters To Take Game From His Land If He Wants To Do So.

Randolph county folks should by this time be fairly well posted on the provisions of the State Game Law, the chief provisions of which were published in this newspaper on September 22, last. However, it is understood that several things have been told about the new law which do not track the facts. One of these is that a farmer must obtain a hunting license before he can hunt on his own land. This is in error as the exact wording of the section of the game law relating to this particular phase will show. It is quoted here for information of those who do not know or are uncertain and also for those who have been spreading misinformation:

"Any person who is a resident of this State, and any dependent member of his family under twenty-one years of age, may take game birds and wild animals in the open season for the same, and not contrary to the provisions of this act, on lands owned by such resident, without a license; and a minor member of a family resident of this State, under sixteen years of age, may hunt under the license of his parent or guardian; but such minor must carry said license when so hunting, unless accompanied by said parent or guardian; and a non-resident minor child of any resident of this State may lawfully procure and use the same license required of a resident, when such non-resident child is actually visiting such resident parent: Provided, that a party who leases a farm for cultivation shall not be required to obtain a license to hunt thereon."

Quoting the exact wording of the law with reference to the license we find that "Each license shall be void after the first day of April next succeeding the date of its issuance. Each license shall have its license on his person at all times when he is taking game animals or birds, and shall exhibit the same for inspection to any Warden or other officer requesting to see it. No person shall alter or loan, change, or transfer any license issued pursuant to the provisions of this act, nor shall any person other than the person to whom it is issued use the same."

While all hunters must obtain licenses before engaging in the sport of hunting wild game, the mere possession of a license does not give the hunter privilege to hunt on every man's land. The State Game Law did not change the law with reference to hunting on another man's property. Any land owner can forbid hunting on his land just as he did and had the privilege and right to do before the game law was enacted. It is still unlawful to hunt on posted and leased land, except, of course hunting by the owners and lessees.

Bag Limits

Possessing a license the hunter cannot kill at will. Bag limits are set. No person may kill more than 10 squirrels in a day. Only two deer any one day nor more than four during an entire season may be killed and neither may be a female deer. There is a closed season in Randolph on the wild turkey, but in other counties in which there is no closed season only two may be killed in any one day and only five during a season. There is no bag limit on the rabbit and this, perhaps, will delight the heart of many a Randolph youth. The bag limit on quail is ten in one day.

Open Seasons

Open seasons for game in Randolph county are as follows:
Squirrel—Sept. 15 to Jan. 15.
Rabbit—Nov. 1 to Mar. 1.
Deer—Oct. 1 to Jan. 15.
Mink—Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.
Otter—Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.
Opossum—Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.
Wildcat—No closed season.
Muskrat—Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.
Quail—Dec. 1 to Mar. 1.
Wild Turkey—Closed Season.

Death Of Colored Woman

While she had been indisposed for some time, her death came as a shock to her family and friends. Deceased was converted in early life and was known for her conscientious religious life. She was married at the age of fifteen and was the mother of the following children, who with their father, A. B. Cheek, survive: Peter Cheek, Seagrove
