Asheboro Company Gets Much Praise

From Ranking Officers Of The Regiment At Camp Jackson
—To Return Sunday.

Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C., July 16.—Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, 120th Infantry, from Asheboro, designated as the "baby" and sometimes as the "orphan" outfit of the division, enters the second week of the 15-day encampment with the spirit of a veteran outfit. The company has taken part in every phase of the training schedule of the encampment and has conducted itself in such manner as to evoke approval and praise from ranking officers of the regiment. Taking part in the battalion parade on Thursday afternoon, the company, though organized but six weeks ago, and trained but about three days with rifles, presented in the exercises the second best line of any company in the battalion as it passed the reviewing officers. In the regimental parade Friday afternoon, the company conducted itself even better.

Saturday afternoon, Colonel Scott, commanding the 120th Infantry of which the headquarters company is a part, personally complimented the company on its remarkable showing, heaping praise on both the enlisted personnel of the new company and its officers. He spoke of the splendid reports which were coming into his headquarters on the conduct of the "baby" company. Its company street at inspection Saturday was pronounced the cleanest in the entire regiment. The company's kitchen, presided over by Sergeant W. P. Osborne, with the able assistance of Cook Martin E. Cooper and his assistant, Moody Dorman, has almost each day been pronounced the cleanest and neatest of any in the battalion and one of the best in the entire regiment. Only a few of the boys have been sick since coming to camp, two or three having been bothered slightly with intestinal trouble, and several others have suffered with blisters on their feet. These have been given immediate attention by the medical officers. Food has been good, and the boys of the outfit are developing splendid appetites.

It has been remarked by several officers in the regiment that the "baby" unit is one of the best behaved units ever seen in an encampment. There is no drinking of forbidden liquors on the company street nor is there any disorderly conduct in the outfit.

There was a little hard on the new company, the long night ride from High Point to Camp Jackson and the pitching of tents on a hot Sunday morning such as was July 8th, but the boys bore up well under the strain and were able to do ample "justice" to breakfast which was served about noon. The heat laid a few of the boys under the little shade that was available, but they "snapped out" of it and did a good job of getting their tents pitched, kitchen set up and camp site properly policed up. The morale of the company is excellent.

Yesterday was a holiday, there being no formation except for mess and for the memorial service at 8:30 A. M. to those of the old thirtieth division who lost their lives in the World War. The boys are permitted to be absent from camp each afternoon from retreat until taps at 11 o'clock at night. The company will be paid off next Saturday morning and will entrain immediately for its home station, Asheboro.

Fourth Annual Reunion Lambeth Family Held

At Monticello School—Large
Number Of Family Attend
The Gathering.

The third annual reunion of the Lambeth family was held Saturday on the grounds of the Monticello school, near Brown Summit. A large number of this family left their various homes to meet on this delightful occasion and eat the sumptuous picnic dinner under the trees. In the afternoon an entertaining feature was a baseball game played with the sons of H. W. and W. D. Lambeth on opposite sides. The address of the day which was delivered by Dr. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett was of a reminiscence nature, tracing the origin of the family through its various spellings; tracing the progress of the family and their value to the communities in which they have settled.

Many of the members of this family have been famous educators and preachers and have been of great service to their communities in a business way. Among those present was Rev. William A. Lambeth, pastor of M. Vernon Place M. E. Church, South, Washington, D. C.

Young Tar Heel Farmers To Camp

At White Lake August 6 To 11
—T. Fletcher Bulla Invited Guest.

The young Tar Heel Farmers of Farmer High School held a meeting last Thursday night, July 12, to discuss the trip for the boys to White Lake. It was decided that all boys enrolled in vocational agriculture at the Farmer high school are Young Tar Heel Farmers and entitled to the privilege of going on the trip. The cost was figured out to be around $10 per boy which includes travel, board and bed. The food is to be largely furnished by the boys and credited to them. It was decided to meet the night of the first of August and make final plans and that each boy decide definitely by that time whether he wanted to go or not.

Mr. T. Fletcher Bulla was unanimously elected an honorary member and the vocational teacher requested to invite him to go on the trip.

The time allotted to Farmer high school is the week of 6-11 of August. The schools attending at this time are Farmer, Rich Square, China Grove, Stonehall, Roper, Greens Creek. The week will be spent under the direction of the vocational teachers of these schools and the camp athletic director, all of whom will do their best to give the boys a week of wholesome recreation.

New Mills To Open September First

Bosson's Hosiery Mill And The Cetwick Silk Throwing Mill,
Inc., Nearing Completion.

The first of September will see the opening of two new mills for Asheboro. These are the Bosson Hosiery Mill and the Cetwick Silk Throwing Mill, Inc. Both mills are located in West Asheboro on Highway 90. Work has gone forward with amazing rapidity since the contracts were let for these two enterprises, and when they are completed and ready for opening the first of September they will afford employment for a large number of men and women. The Cetwick Mill will employ only women between the ages of sixteen and thirty-five. The Bosson Mill will employ both men and women. The reason these two mills decided upon Asheboro as a favorable place to locate was the high class of labor obtainable in and around Asheboro.

These two business concerns have temporary offices in the old Randolph Chair Company offices. It is here that applications are received for workers for September.

The Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations of the town were influential in getting these two business concerns located in Asheboro, and they will mean a great deal to the town in a business way.

Motor Service Co., At Liberty, Burned

Try Out New Water Pumping
System And Save Buildings
Located Near Garage.

The town of Liberty had an opportunity to try out their new water pumping system Monday night about midnight when fire broke out in the center of the town. Fire of an unknown origin was discovered in the Motor Service Company, which was full of stored automobiles at the time the fire was discovered. The cars were practically all driven from the building with slight damage to any of them.

The loss to the building is estimated at $10,000 but is fully covered by insurance. Due to the new water pumping system and the prompt and splendid service of the volunteer fire department, the other buildings located very near the motor company were not seriously damaged.

People's Grocery Open For Business

New Store In Stedman Old
Stand Opened By Covington
And Prevost.

A new grocery store opened in Asheboro Tuesday, July 17th. The Peoples Store, which is a branch or second store of Covington & Prevost Grocery Company. The new store, which is located in the Stedman Building on Sunset Avenue was recently vacated by Pritchard Grocery when that company moved across the street adjoining the M. System store. This location has been identified with grocery business for many years, W. D. Stedman & Son operating a retail grocery store for a number of years before opening a wholesale business in the same building.

The new Peoples Store will be cash and credit system, as is the first Covington & Prevost store. It is modern, clean and quite up to the minute place. A large number of their patrons visited the store on the opening day and were served sandwiches and cake, and cream. They also gave away 200 two-pound bags of flour to visitors.

Messrs. Covington and Prevost began grocery business in Asheboro seven years ago, with Mr. J. W. Prevost, who had been operating a grocery business for a year at King Tut, as manager. Mr. W. C. Covington was associated in the business, but continued in the grocery business at Worthville until four years ago, when he moved to Asheboro. Mr. Covington prior to conducting the Worthville grocery business was in the mercantile business at Ellerbe. He will have charge of the new store while Mr. Prevost will continue operating the business with which he has been identified for seven years.

Agricultural Teacher Tells Of His Visit

To Several Different Projects
Being Carried On In The Farmer Community.

George Vuncannon, James Johnston and Glenn Johnson have two acres each of pure Jarvis Golden Prolific corn doing nicely. All of these plots are so located that they will not mix with other corn and should furnish good places for local farmers to buy yellow seed corn for another year.

Mrs. W. W. Lassiter, Everett Morris, Glenn Lowe, Norman Lewis, and Holton Thornburg are doing well with their tullets and if they continue to care for and feed them properly they should have some good winter layers.

Mr. Madison Hammond took me over his place today. He has a total of 60 acres in red, and sweet clover and lespedeza. The sweet clover is a new crop in the community but is doing fine except in a few spots where the inoculation did not take. His twenty acres should convert the community to planting more of this crop. He is side dressing some of his corn and cotton with nitrate of soda. I believe that a side dressing of this fertilizer at the rate of 100 lbs. to 200 lbs. to the acre on corn from knee to waist high will pay big.

Richard Rush, Harris Trogdon and George Vuncannon are surely putting meat on their hogs. They are using Shay's self feeder method. I understand that Mr. Trogdon has put 70 lbs. on one of his hogs in 30 days, which is possibly no better than some of the others are doing if they had weighed their hogs lately. The price of corn has advanced so that I doubt if it pays to grow out hogs for market now but this shows what self feeding will do and I am looking for some money to be made on hogs when they come back as they will surely do.

Now is the time to grow out some gilts for brood sows while they can be bought cheap. I believe that these gilts will catch the high market on hogs.

Good cattle are gradually getting into the community. W. M. Bingham, D. F. Allred, W. W. Lassiter, Elmer Bird and others have recently bought guernseys. Cows and pastures will help to make our community richer.

Teacher of Agriculture.

Eighth Annual Fair September 25-29

To Be Biggest And Best In Its History—Large Number Of Premiums This Year.

The 8th annual Randolph County Fair will be held in Asheboro during the week of September 25-29, Secretary A. I. Ferree announced.

The premium list is now being printed and will be distributed throughout the county as soon as it is completed. It contains a large number of premiums, which will amount to approximately $3,000 in cash.

The Randolph county fair last year and for several years has been highly successful and adjudged to be one of the best in this section of the State. The management wishes to make this even better, and to that end it urges that people begin now to prepare something to bring to it.

The superintendents for every department have been selected and have already placed their approval upon the premium list.

The Bench Show will this year, as at former fairs, be a feature on Thursday of Fair week and already the owners of thorough breeds throughout the county are selecting their choice dogs for this show.

The free act program consists of the "Three Russells," who present a high class performance. "The Delmore Trio" comes to our Fair as one of the free acts this year highly recommended by more than 50 fair secretaries, where they have formerly played. The fire works program this year will be more elaborate and more extensive than it was last year. More money is being put into fire works, because it proved to be a feature of the fair last year.

The Bruce Greater Shows, the cleanest and most up-to-date show ever to play in this part of the State will play the midway. Mr. Bruce played the fair here in 1926 without a complaint from any visitor on the grounds.
