County Board To Try A Bond Issue For New Schools

Propose To Issue $100,000 In Bonds For Building Franklinville And 2 Others.

Hearing July 16th

Commissioners Reject Insurance Idea, And Pass Resolution Reference Routing 62.

The board of commissioners for Randolph county in regular meeting Monday rescinded a resolution passed on March 31st calling for a bond issue of $100,000 for building school houses at Franklinville, Archdale and Cedar Falls, but turned about and passed another resolution, worded differently and drawn up by a firm of New York lawyers, calling for the same procedure. W. L. Ward, H. S. Eagan and L. E. Rockett voted for this new resolution, while M. L. Wood and A. S. Hinchaw dissented. This resolution calls for the issuing of $100,000 in bonds to provide funds for the above mentioned school building program, one unit of which, the Franklinville building, is now under construction.

July 16th at Asheboro a public hearing relative to the proposed issue of bonds will be held. Provided no petition is filed with the board protesting the issue, the resolution is effective in 30 days after its first publication. And such petition, the law states must be signed by 15 per cent of the qualified voters in the county, based on the official returns of the vote for Governor in the last preceding general election. This means that a petition to stop the bond issue must be signed by approximately 1800 qualified voters of the county. The proposition could then be put to a vote and its fate decided at the polls.

It is set forth in the statement of finances accompanying the resolution that he net assessed valuation of the county is $27,864,081.00, and that the net indebtedness for school purposes, exclusive of the proposed bond issue, amounts to $384,225.00, or 0.1184 per cent of the assessed valuation. This does not take into consideration $104,000 of indebtedness owed by special

Sixth District M. P. Churches In Meeting Gray's Chapel, 30th

Rev. J. E. Fritchard, Asheboro, Presides Over Inspiring Meeting Church People.

The sixth district rally of the Methodist Protestant Conference was held at Gray's Chapel last Sunday, with Rev. J. E. Fritchard, Chairman, presiding. Miss Esther Ross, Chairman of the Women's Missionary District, had a part in planning the program, carrying out the plan of the general church conference. Rev. A. O. Lindley preached at the eleven o'clock hour on the subject of "Evangelism," after which Rev. W. F. Ashburn added appropriate remarks on the subject. Rev. Fritchard spoke on the "Absentee Membership in the Churches," offering suggestions as to keeping them in touch with the home church. At the conclusion of the morning service a picnic dinner was enjoyed.

The Asheboro choir rendered a most beautiful anthem which opened the afternoon session. Mrs. W. C. Hammer spoke of the work of the women of the church, urging organizing in each church. She prefaced her address with recalling memories of her first visit to Gray's Chapel to a camp meeting around fifty years ago, especially remembering fording Deep river and seeing rows of camp houses North and East of the church. Rev. L. W. Geringer followed with an address on "Christian Education." He especially emphasized the High Point College and the splendid work it has done in the four years it has been operating. Mr. L. H. Smith, of Liberty, was elected president and Mr. Robert Lloyd secretary of a young people's organization for this district. A large crowd was present and there was considerable sentiment for a history of the church which was organized by Rev. Alson Gray many years ago.

Unusual Animal Exhibited In Asheboro On July 4th

Attracting attention in Asheboro is an unusual animal, which is being displayed on Fayetteville street in the vacant lot by the Ashlyn Hotel. The animal, which resembles a two-toed sloth, only it has three toes on the hind feet, hangs continuously from a rod in cage, except on the few occasions when it has been turned out on the grass. Then it rolls itself in a ball, rolling to the desired spot instead of walking. The head resembles a sea lion, the body like a bear, no ears, no tail, and has claws like an eagle. Carrots and bananas are hung for it to "nibble on" which it does at night, for day-time is the favorite time to sleep. The animal hails from South America and on account of its strangeness is attracting interested crowds of children as well as grown-ups.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES ARE IN PROSPECT FOR THE STATE

Freight rates in North Carolina must go up, says the interstate commerce commission examiner in a statement given out Tuesday in Washington. The examiner has been looking into rates in North Carolina and Virginia and declares they are not excessive, but on the other hand are not high enough. The purpose of the decision of the examiner, if his findings are adopted, is that short haul freight rates will be increased by 25 per cent and half this increase on long hauls. The increases will affect some 400 commodities handled by North Carolina shippers. The North Carolina Corporation Commission will make a mighty fight to prevent the adoption of the increase recommended by the examiner.

Four robins and three sparrows investigated the vines growing on the west porch of the home of J. L. Shaw, at Trinity, the past spring and built their nests here. Mr. Shaw watched the proceeding with interest and cared for the birds and their hatch as diligently as he did his fields of cabbage. His crop in cabbage yielded him a nice profit, and there were several heads in the field that weighed as much as 20 pounds and one tipped the scales at 27 pounds.

Such was the ending of what is said to have been a wedding trip to South Carolina with Mr. Trogon and Miss Brady as principals. The ceremony is said to have been planned for Sunday, but the accident intervened, and the nuptials will have to wait until another day.

Carter Mercantile Company At Ramseur Raided The Third Time In Year By Thieves

Unidentified Robbers Entered Store Monday Night And Carried Away $700 Mds.

FINE GOODS ONLY TAKEN

Unidentified thieves gaining entrance through a basement window broke into the Carter Mercantile Company store at Ramseur Monday night and carried away more than $700 worth of high grade merchandise. No clues were left that would lead to the identity of the robbers, who made a clean job of the store breaking. The merchandise they carried away must have been selected with meticulous care and there must have been plenty of time in which to make the choice, for only the highest class of goods were taken. But these were taken in plenty, and the store is short more than $700 worth of goods.

Among the goods carried away by the thieves were a lot of silk dresses, priced from $35 to $100; a lot of men's dress shirts, selling from $2.00 to $2.25, about 150 men's $1.00 silk neckties, a lot of high grade men's silk socks, ladies' hats, men's straw hats, men's Florsheim and Coddock Terry overalls, cartons of handkerchiefs, lot of underwear and shorts, bath robes, belts, clothing and pants, ladies' Durium brand silk hosiery, suit cases and bed spreads. Little was overlooked from the Carter's stock.

This was the third time in nine months that this store had been robbed. It was entered in November last year and again in January this year. Each time several hundred dollars worth of goods were taken, but no such clean sweep was made as that of Monday night, nor were the other

Suggestion Made With Reference To Hospital Finance

Is Recommended That City Issue $25,000 Bonds and Individuals Donate Like Sum.

$100,000 Project

With Duke Foundation To Furnish Other Half Of Cost If County Wants Hospital.

Taking another step toward securing a community hospital for Randolph county, the committee of eleven business and professional men appointed at the public meeting held Tuesday evening, June 11, met Friday night to decide on ways and means of financing the project. It will be recalled that Dr. Rankin in his speech on June 11th advised that the Duke Foundation was ready to subscribe half the funds necessary for construction of the hospital if the county of Randolph would in some way furnish the other half. Dr. Rankin went further and stated that the Foundation would contribute a dollar a day to every charity bed in the proposed institution.

The committee, after discussing the matter thoroughly and going into every angle of it, decided that the best way to finance the hospital would be for the city of Asheboro to issue bonds in the amount of $25,000, and let individuals in the county furnish the other $25,000 necessary to complete the $50,000 which the county would have to provide in order to establish the hospital. This committee is composed of D. B. McCrary, chairman, and N. M. Cranford, W. L. Ward, C. C. Cranford, H. S. Eagan, L. F. Ross, H. M. Robins, W. J. Armfield, Jr., Dr. C. C. Hubbard, Johnson and Dr. C. C. Hubbard.

Resolutions Adopted
The resolution passed Friday night by this committee is as follows:

DePriest Gets Hot In Talking Of Acts Of Southern Solons

Cowards and hypocrites, were the DePriest terms for Congressmen

Mrs. Hoover's entertaining a negro woman at tea, by Congressman Oscar DePriest, negro, from Illinois, in a speech delivered in Cleveland, Ohio, Monday. He was cheered lustily by an audience of 2,000 people.

"They're just a lot of cowards," the Illinois congressman called the Southern legislators. "This is my country and your country. I've been elected to Congress the same as any other congressman and I'm going to have the rights of every other congressman—no more and no less—if its in the congressional harber shop or at a White House tea.

"I want to thank the Democrats of the South for one thing—they were so barbaric they drove my parents to the north. If it hadn't been for that I wouldn't be in Congress today.

"I've been Jim Crowed, segregated, persecuted, and I think I know how best the negro can put a stop to being imposed upon. It is through the ballot, through organization, through fighting eternally for his rights."

W. L. Callum, 77, veteran traveling salesman of Greensboro, was struck and fatally injured by a truck on the street Friday. He died 15 minutes afterward.

City Is Celebrating Fourth Of July Today In Appropriate Way

There is a large crowd of people in the city, coming from all parts of the county and from adjoining cities and towns. During the day there will be staged contests and races, a boxing bout in the afternoon, party bands of 8, and a dance of eight in the gymnasium on Sunset avenue. The mills in the city are standing and a great number of the stores and other business places are closed for the independence day exercises. Succumbed To A Heart Attack Yesterday Afternoon At The Home Of Her Sister.

Miss Ardena Lowe, one of Asheboro's best known and beloved women, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Bunch, on Old Main Street Wednesday afternoon following a rather brief illness. For several days Miss Lowe had not been well, but she suffered a heart attack Tuesday afternoon from which she never rallied, dying about 4:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The funeral service will be conducted from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bunch at 4:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Rev. C. G. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian church of which she was a devoted member. Rev. B. C. Reavis, pastor of the First Methodist church, will assist in the service. The choir of the Presbyterian church will have charge of the music and the Missionary Society will act as flower bearers. Interment will follow in the Asheboro cemetery.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Nerius Lowe, three brothers and three sisters, all of whom are living. She is the daughter of the late Nerius Lowe, who was one of Randolph county's substantial farmers living for many years at Farmer. About twenty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lowe and their family moved to Asheboro where Mr. Lowe served the county in numerous capacities, acting for many years as a commissioner, jailor, and entering into every forward movement of the county. His family all entered into the life of the town, and have become substantial citizens of the town and county having many friends in this section of the State who will grieve at the loss of Miss Lowe.

Trying To Induce "Best People" To Leave Off Liquor

Drinking In High Society Said To Be Big Problem Of Prohibition Enforcement.

Is Difficult Job

Drinking In High Society Said To Be Big Problem Of Prohibition Enforcement.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—What are known as the "high society" and educational problems of prohibition are now being tackled. The drys believe the movement will score leaps and bounds in progress if the so-called "best people" can be induced to give up cocktails and the serving of wine at fashion's dinners. But it has been hard to get the great social leaders to break the ice. Notwithstanding prohibition has been in the constitution and the Federal statutes for ten years the habit of drink among that class one of whose chief pleasures is to eat and drink, is as widespread as it ever was. It is that class that has made rich and powerful the big bootleggers and has made the problem of enforcing prohibition so difficult for the government.

The wet organizations get their money from that class of drinkers. The most of that class is by habits of thinking and conduct Republicans and President Hoover in his inaugural address appealed to them to support law and help him uphold the constitution but they have been slow to respond publicly for the reason that men and women of that class are intensely afraid of provoking the ridicule of their caste.

A striking illustration of such fear was presented a day or so ago when a Mrs. Strawbridge, a woman moving in a high social sphere in Philadelphia came to Washington and gave out a statement that she had written nearly 2,000 letters to society women in her city appealing to them to discontinue serving liquor at meals and other social functions in their homes. More than a thousand of them replied and a majority of the writers agreed to banish wine from their tables and sideboards but in every instance their names must be kept out of the newspapers.

Mrs. Strawbridge practically admitted

Local Guard Company Will Leave Saturday For Training Camp
The local National Guard unit, Third Battalion Headquarters Company, 120th Infantry, commanded by C. J. Lovett, First Lieutenant, will leave for Camp Glenn, Morehead City, Saturday afternoon for the annual two weeks' summer training. The local company is composed of two officers and 27 enlisted men. For business reasons probably all will make the trip with the exception of possibly two or three. The rest of the encampment will be taken up with other instruction in military duties. The local company will return to Asheboro on the 21st or 22nd. The Asheboro company was organized in May of last year, and officially recognized on May 24th. This year only the 120th Infantry will be at Camp Glenn. This regiment is commanded by Col. Don E. Scott, of Graham, who was a colonel in the old 120th Infantry, and well known to many Randolph county people. Major Graham K. Hobbs, of Wilmington, world war veteran, is commanding officer of the Third Battalion, of which the Asheboro unit is the headquarters company, more or less an outfit of specialists.

Slight Increase In School Budget Over Year 1928-29

Budget Calls For $254,161.70, Or Just $3,148.92 Over That For Previous Year.

Fewer Teachers

Anticipated That 27 Fewer Teachers Will Be Employed Next School Year.

The school budget covering the operations of the public schools of Randolph county for the year 1928-29 was adopted by the board of education in meeting Monday in the office of T. Fletcher Bulla, county superintendent of schools. This budget calls for an expenditure during the next scholastic year of $254,161.70, which is an increase of $3,148.92 over last year's budget, which was $251,012.78. This budget is made up of $215,497.32 for current expense, $3,000 for capital outlay and $35,664.38 for debt service, which is for interest on indebtedness and payments on principal of outstanding bonds and notes issued for school purposes.

Provided the board of county commissioners accept the budget presented by the board of education, the county must provide by taxation a total of $159,022.50. This amount is arrived at in this manner. The State equalizing fund furnishes $77,547.54 for the 1928-29 school year, and the State furnishes also $2,091.66 for vocational agriculture instruction at Farmer school. Receipts from poll tax next year are estimated at $7,000, and from dog tax, $3,500. Fines during the year, it is estimated, will reach $5,000. These items make a total of $95,139.20, which subtracted from the budget total leaves the sum of $159,022.50.

27 Fewer Teachers
The budget for 1929-30 anticipates 239 teachers, or 27 less than last school year. These 239 teachers will be paid salaries, according to the budget, reaching a total of $170,252.32. This includes all elementary and high school teachers, vocational agriculture teachers and teachers in the Asheboro city schools for a period of six months.

Other School Matters
The board in meeting Monday made a small appropriation for putting a new roof on New Center school house.

Report of the county superintendent covering activities of the county public schools last year was read and accepted.

The following negro school committees were appointed for terms of three years:
Ramseur, Heseckiah Siler; Liberty, Roosevelt Cheek; and Trinity, Alex Steed.
