Liberty Merchants Organize And Name

Merchants of Liberty last week perfected the organization of a merchants' association. Roy Reitsel was chosen president, P. V. McPherson became vice president, and J. E. Allen Democratic Vote was selected to serve as executive secretary and treasurer. Nine men, together with the officers, will compose a board of directors, and they were chosen to represent different interests. They are as follows, their business being stated: Dr. J. T. Underwood, drugs; Earl Johnson, automobile sales and service; Dr. DeLacy Faust, medicine: C. G. Foushee, hardware; B. M. Brower, banking; and Clyde Luther, Manufacturing. The president, vice president and secretary, represent the grocery, general merchandise, and insurance business, respectively.

The new association has a mem bership of 30 merchants, who have instructed the directors to apply for White's plurality this year (for Senaa charter, join the state organization, open offices, and go to work.

Fred Page Named As Distributor For Sinclair Products

Mr. Fred Page of the Randolph Motor Company, Inc., has been made distributor for Randolph county and other territory for Sinclair gas and oil. The business is separate and apart from the motor company, which is agent for Ford automobiles. Already arrangements have been made for the opening of several filling stations in the town and county. A new filling station is being erected on the vacant lot on the corner of Sunset Avenue and Church street, adjoining the Sunset Theatre. Another is being built on the Redding property on the corner of Park and Salisbury streets, being a part of the lot on which was located the old building of the Asheboro Chair Company. It is probable that other stations will be built in other places in the town and leased the Sinclair corporation.

Lowdermilk Family To Hold A Reunion At Pleasant Hill

A reunion of the Lowdermilk family will be held Sunday, September 28, at Pleasant Hill church, near Seagrove. All friends and relatives are invited to attend. Research shows that the Lowdermilk family originated from the Lowdermilks who came over to the United States from the Palatines. The first of the Lowdermilks to come to America was Gottfried Lautermilch, a Palatinate, who sailed from Rotterdam on September 16, 1730. Next came Wilhelm Lau-termilch, who arrived in Philadelphia from Rotterdam on the ship Brittan-ics. Jamb Lautermilch came over 1772, from Rotterdam. Randolph Democratic Headquarters Opened In Allen Building

Chairman T. A. Burns of the Randolph County Democratic Executive Committee announced yes-terday that county headquarters would be opened on the first floor of the Allen building on Worth street Friday of this week. Announcement has not been made as to who will be in charge of headto who will be in charge of headquarters. With the opening of county central headquarters will begin an aggressive campaign to carry the county Democratic in the November election. The party has nominated a splendid ticket from top to bottom, and these candidates are busy in the county lining up support for the November election. It is generally conceded that the party has not offered at any time past a better ticket than that which is presented this fall to the electorate. All members of the ticket are successful and capable men, carefully chosen for the offices which they seek. Democrats of the county are arged to pay a visit to headquarters while in Asheboro at any time. They will receive a cordial welcome.
