Methodists Would See That Starving Chinese Obtain Food

The North Carolina conference, of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in session at Greensville last week, in resolutions reiterated the stand the Western North Carolina Conference took on the importance of a correct home life, the evil of gambling, prohibition, Sabbath observance and the outlawry of war, and emphasized the cordial relations existing between the white and colored races, deploring the fact that there is so much ignorance in the State, and urged that the United States join the League of Nations.

Outstanding in the report of the committee on temperance and social service was the following item which was of interest:

"In order to bring immediate relief to our own people and the starving in the Orient, this conference joins with the Western North Carolina Conference in urging the President of the United States to request Congress to enact laws so that 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and more than a million bales of cotton, purchased and held by the Farm Board, be used for the aid of the unemployed in our country and the millions who are victims of the floods in China."

Interesting Old Printer Making Way To Florida

An interesting old gentleman, a former newspaper man of Iowa, was a caller at The Courier office Tuesday. He was making his way to Florida, seeking sufficient work on route to pay expenses and hoping to get a job that would net him $27.50 with which he hoped to have a song, "Looking For Better Times," printed. The old gentleman's experience is that there seems no positions for old folks, people with experience and wanting to earn an honest living. His willingness to work was commendable and his inability to find sufficient for even necessities, pathetic.

Henry Francis of Waynesville, Haywood County, reports making 500 bushels of Irish potatoes on one acre of land this season.

Lineberry Store At Randleman Entered By Thieves Monday Night

The establishment of Lineberry Mercantile Company at Randleman was broken into Monday night and merchandise, estimated at $500 worth taken. Entrance to the store was effected by means of removing a panel in the back door, making a hole about eight inches deep through which the thieves entered. Tracks back of the store indicated the goods were hauled away in an automobile. The thieves seem to have been possessed with a sense of discrimination, since they apparently moved about the store selecting only the best in shoes, clothing and other merchandise. Theft was not discovered until the store was opened for business Tuesday morning. Officers investigated the case immediately, but are without any definite clues. L. W. Lineberry is proprietor of the store.

Randolph Negro Sent Home Said To Suffer With Mental Disease

Herbert Alford, 39, negro, was brought to Asheboro one day last week by an officer from Agnews State Hospital, Sacramento, California, and given in custody of Sheriff C. E. King. Alford was placed in jail and is under observation for mental condition by Dr. George H. Sumner, county health officer.

Alford, it appears, was born in Trinity township, Randolph county, 39 years ago and is a fairly well educated negro. He served in the world war and since his discharge has worked with the Pullman Company as train porter, waiter and clerk in the New York postoffice. He drifted to California about six months ago and worked as a porter for a Turkish bath concern in Los Angeles, Cal. It was while at this place he was arrested, tried and sent to the California hospital for the insane. Specific charge against Alford was appearance in a Y. M. C. A. lobby in his underclothes.

His condition at the California hospital was described as paranoiac, which means that he has delusions and at times suffers from hallucinations and is not mentally competent.

Sheriff King Finds Coop Chickens Hidden Near White Hall Sta.

Sheriff King and other county officers found a crate of chickens secreted in the woods about a half mile east of White Hall service station near Randleman Monday night. An empty coop was found covered with leaves nearby. Officers watched the cache during the day Tuesday, but nobody came to claim the fowls, so they were brought to the jail at Asheboro. Sheriff King says those who have lost chickens recently should come to the jail and see if the chickens belong to them. If they are not claimed they will be put up and sold at auction.

Burrus And Sumner Speak To Teachers On Health Matters

Address Meeting Of County Teachers Held Saturday In City—Interesting Meet.

Around two hundred and fifty teachers of Randolph county schools gathered Saturday morning at the call of T. F. Bulla, county superintendent of public instruction. The meeting was held at the court house and was presided over by Mr. Bulla.

Dr. George H. Sumner, county health physician, gave an interesting talk on health work in the schools and Dr. J. T. Burrus, chairman of the State Board of Health, talked to the assembly on the state program. Both talks were vitally important and full of definite information for the betterment of health conditions in the county schools. Randolph has always been most fortunate in the matter of epidemics and is considered one of the best counties in the state in its health conditions.

H. H. Hamilton, superintendent of the Randleman school, explained in detail the matter of teachers' reports and conducted a round table discussion on this topic.

This was considered one of the most profitable as well as a pleasant meeting of the teachers, giving them an opportunity to get an insight to the educational program of the county, as well as to get acquainted with each other.

Asheboro People Plan Holiday For Thanksgiving Day

School Closed Wednesday And Will Not Reopen Until Monday—Banks Will Close.

Some Mills Closed

While Others Have Emergency Orders And Will Run—Union Church Services.

Asheboro is planning for a holiday on Thanksgiving at most of the business houses on Thanksgiving day. At 9:00 o'clock in the morning all the churches of the town will join in a union Thanksgiving service at the Methodist Protestant church. Rev. R. S. Truesdale, the new pastor of the First Methodist church will preach the sermon and the community choir will furnish an appropriate anthem.

The school will close Wednesday afternoon and the teachers and children will be free until Monday morning. Dry goods and grocery stores will not open Thursday, nor will the banks.

A survey of a large number of the industries of Asheboro reveal the decision for a holiday Thursday. The Acme Hosiery Mill will give the day as is their usual custom. C. C. Cranford announces that the Asheboro Hosiery Mill will close from Thanksgiving day until the following Monday which will mean a week end vacation for the 400 employees. Due to a rush for certain orders at the Cretwick Silk Mill, work will continue part of the day. The morning will be a holiday, the day employees beginning work at noon, and the night workers going on duty at midnight. At the Bossong Mill where around 175 people are employed, the day will be given as holiday. The Pilot Hosiery Mill will also give the day, but L. M. Cranford announces that the Keystone Mill orders are pressing just at this time to such an extent that work must continue full time both day and night.

During the past year the Asheboro mills and factories have been running on comparatively full time during the day, and practically all mills have been running at least part of their machines at night also.

Raleigh.—Marvelous harvests and a growing social consciousness are chief blessings for which North Carolinians should return thanks, Governor Max Gardner says in an eloquent proclamation issued Monday in calling on the people of the state to make this thanksgiving a "festival of friendliness."

MARSHALSHIP CONTEST INTERESTS REPUBLICANS

The state executive committee of the Republican party will meet in Greensboro on December 5th. Perhaps the most important decision to be made at the meeting is on whom to place stamp of approval for U. S. marshal for the middle district, job now held by J. J. Jenkins, of Siler City. Not only is Jenkins out after reappointment, but he is opposed by a bevy of candidates among which are Colin G. Spencer, of Carthage, J. T. Prevette, of Wilkesboro, Henry W. Masten, Winston-Salem, and Watt Gregg, of Boone.

South Carolinian Accused Stealing An Asheboro Car

Thought To Have Taken Car Here To Help Make Escape From Murder Charge.

Seen Near Coleridge

But Keeps One Jump Ahead Of Officers—Acquainted With Hiding Places.

Francis Odum, wanted for questioning in connection with a murder at Bennettsville, S. C., and charged with theft of an automobile in Asheboro, surrendered late Monday to Marlboro county, S. C. officers, according to wire received Tuesday by Sheriff C. E. King. The u-drive-it car stolen in Asheboro was recovered and Odum admitted theft of the machine. The following account was written before Sheriff King was notified of Odum's surrender.

Francis Odum, 23-year-old white man of Marlboro county, South Carolina, essays to be the bold bad man of Randolph county, North Carolina. Whether he has returned to the county from whence he selected a wife a few short years ago and later discarded just to display his bravado, or whether he has returned to the hills and vales of the foothills of the Blue Ridge for protection, is a matter of question. Anyway, wanted in South Carolina for questioning in connection with the murder on November 13th, of John Henry Webster, Odum fled to the Deep River section of this county to escape officers.

On his way to the Deep River community, however, Odum is said to have stopped over in Asheboro long enough to acquire a Ford car. Odum came into Asheboro on Tuesday, November 17th, without anybody knowing he was wanted in South Carolina in connection with a murder, and hired a car at Flynt Service Station to take him to Ramseur and return. It was when he returned to Asheboro from Ramseur and was standing about talking on the lot where the u-drive it cars are usually parked that he calmly stepped into one of them when the owner's back was turned and drove away.

It was soon after local officers were hunting for the stolen car that they learned Odum was wanted in South Carolina. In a short while after the car was stolen reports began to come into the sheriff's office in Asheboro that Odum with a white woman and a negro man as companions had been seen at intervals in the Ramseur-Coleridge community. The latter part of last week, however, the negro left Odum and returned to South Carolina, where he was placed under arrest. It was the negro who, after his arrest, told of Odum's fleeing from South Carolina to Randolph county, stealing a car on the way, and planning other thefts and robberies. Odum, declared the negro, had been back to South Carolina in the stolen car, but had remained only a short time, and it was also learned through the negro that Odum had declared his intention of not being taken alive or not until he had accounted for two or three officers of the law should they attempt his arrest.
