Last April, Byrd's store observed National Dress Week, April 20-25, and, of course, selected The Courier advertising columns to let customers know about it. For the April 16th issue, Frank Byrd, who owns and operates Byrd's store, got up his advertising copy and passed it along to our advertising department for set up. The advertisement was duly laid out, cuts and copy arranged, and put into type. Mr. Byrd checked the proof and found it o. k. Byrd's got the refound it o. k. Effectiveness of the advertisement was preised both for the copy it contained and the artistry in its lay out. Stages Of Mod Civilization Subject Of Talk

Four Stages Are Discussed By Dr. Henry Louis Smith Before Bible Class.

Capitalistic Era

One Now Predominating In The World, But May Give Way To Era Of Humanity.

"The Four Stages of Modern Civiization" was the subject discussed Sunday morning by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president emeritus of Washington and Lee University, before the Bible class of the Presbyterian church Sunday school. Dr. Smith has been More than 200,000 farm owners filling in as supply pastor at the made reports for each of 1929, 1930 local Presbyterian church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Cothran G. Smith, who is taking graduate work at a school of theology in Richmond, Va. Dr. Smith, who resides in Greensboro, was relieved of active work at Washington and Lee on his 70th birthday.

The last stage of modern civilization, declared Dr. Smith, that of humanity or applied Christianity is in the far-off future, but we are getting nearer it every day.

But, beginning his talk, Dr. Smith deplored the prevalance of organized crime and the fact that Colonel Lindbergh had been forced to resort to this means in an effort to obtain the return of his kidnaped son.

The first era of modern civilization, Dr. Smith said, was the Medieval era, which lasted until 200 years ago. Its central feature was theology, its chief foe heresy, and its culmination Cedar Falls Resident was in the inquisition. The aim of that era was creedal beliefs, in which was in the inquisition. The aim of the dominant factor was the creed of the Catholic church, all others being outlawed during the era.

Next came the era of Nationalism, the central aim of which was patriotism, its dominant feature militarism Craven and Mrs. A. R. Cox attended and its culmination the great world war with its resultant enmities and the funeral of Mrs. John Hinshaw in wreckage. The next era, that in which we are living now, is marred with the preparation for war, but dominated by capitalism and justly called the Capi-Miss Bertha Cox visited in Franklintalistic era. The central aim of this era, which has been in existence since visiting in High Point, has returned the world war, is profits, its central Miss Velna Julian and Mrs. Clyde the accumulation of wealth, its ideal heroes business leaders, and mination is wage slavery.

PEACE TALK IS MERE HYPOCRISY, FISH SAYS

Congressman Fish, of New York, said Saturday night in an interview in Washington that peace efforts of the United States in the Japanese-Chinese conflict constituted hypocrisy. While prating peace and urging an economic boycott of Japan, Fish said numerous Japanese and British vessels have been loading with thousands of tons of nitrate of soda from Hopewell, Va., to export to Japan. Nitrate of soda is the main ingredient of TNT in making of high explosives used by the Japanese army to blast the Chinese from their positions.
