

Last Minute Drive For Votes Started By Major Parties

Both Democrats and Republicans Send Speakers To Various Places In County.

An Active Campaign With Both Parties Seeking Favor Of Electorate—Plan To Get Returns Early.

The leaders of the Democratic party are winding up the campaign in Randolph after several weeks of feverish work, matched by their Republican brothers and sisters in a county, always hot politically and close as to the election. Announcement comes from headquarters that arrangements are being perfected to enable everybody interested to hear the election returns. In view of the fact that the rooms at Democratic headquarters, on the second floor of the Seaboard building, are small and inadequate to accommodate the crowd who will come to Asheboro to hear news of the county, state and nation, the Stedman building will be open for the Democratic men and women who wish to be seated and hear the returns. This is the building formerly occupied by the Asheboro Printing Company and contains the Old Hickory Cafe. A loud speaker will be installed in the building and the returns will be broadcast as fast as they come into headquarters. The people who live in rural districts who wish to have news will be welcome, for the building has been secured for that purpose. Chairs have been moved into the building for the occasion, and it will be warm. It is hoped that the returns will begin to come in by 8:30 and will be broadcast immediately.

Speaking Engagements Hon. Zeb V. Long, for many years collector in this district, is in the county this week and is speaking for the party. He spoke at Franklinville Wednesday evening. Henry Ingram, candidate for the state senate, and J. V. Wilson spoke at New Hope Tuesday evening, and will speak at Mountain View Thursday evening and at Tabernacle Friday evening.

Henry Ingram and J. V. Wilson will also speak at White Oak, in Richland township, Saturday evening at 7:30. Republican Speaking Thursday evening, Dr. J. D. Gregg, Liberty, will speak at the court house in Asheboro. On Friday evening, Hon. J. Ray McCrory, of Lexington, will speak at the school auditorium at Seagrove. Hon. Jake F. Newell, candidate for the U. S. Senate, will speak at the court house in Asheboro Friday, November 4th, at 2:00 o'clock.

Greensboro College President Talks To Local High School

Dr. S. B. Turrentine, president of Greensboro College, was in Asheboro Friday and addressed the local high school at the assembly hour. Dr. Turrentine took for his subject the "Three-Fold Code of Education, Religion and Patriotism," which, he said, John Stuart Mill taught was essential to the welfare and real development of any nation. Dr. Turrentine declared in a clear and forceful manner that education, religion and patriotism are forever linked together. He showed that, without education, true religion or reverence, there will be seriously handicapped progress; and that, without religion, there can be no real progress for authority and loyalty are lost, which is patriotism.

Carolina & Florida Will Meet Saturday In Football Contest

Florida Expected To Bring Strong Team To Make Bid For Win Over Carolina

Chapel Hill, Nov. 1.—The Carolina football team, which defeated State 13-0 last Saturday, is to meet the flashy team from the University of Florida in Kanan Stadium here Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in what promises to be one of the best games of the season on Tar Heel soil. The fact that Georgia, whom the Tar Heels tied 6-6, licked Florida last week 33 to 12, coupled with the fact that State College the week before had beaten Florida by a 10-point margin, has served to give Carolina supporters considerable hope for another victory Saturday. But Coach Collins has warned the boys of danger from a possible let-down. Any let-down in physical fitness or morale could easily prove disastrous right now, he has told the players. The Florida game is really causing the Carolina coaches considerable worry. The Carolina scouts, who saw Florida play Georgia last week, brought back the inside dope that five of Florida's best players, who were benched in the Georgia-Florida game for previous infraction of rules, has been reinstated and would be used against Carolina this week. These players were Tommy Lane, "Pug" Bryan, and Al Osgood, guards, and two backs, Al Rogers and Jimmy Dorsett. Rogers is remembered as the big boy who ran wild against State in the Raleigh game last year. Last year the Tar Heels and Gators played to a tie. Which indicates this year's game ought to be pretty close. The tickets are selling for $1.65, including the tax.

Glass Lays Blame For Panic Directly On The President

Declares That Hoover's Excuses And Evasions Are Far From Being Facts.

Facilities Misused Declares That President Had His Eyes On Foreign Nations, Not At Home.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, in his first speech of the campaign, on Tuesday night, said that President Hoover submitted to the last Congress "inflationary proposals that would have rocked the foundations of our banking system." Of the inflationary proposals which he attributed to the President, he said that if they had been enacted, they would "not only have tempted foreign raids on our gold reserves, but would have incited a dangerous domestic demand for redemption." "Had these proposals been adopted," he said, "they would have made millions of dollars of foreign securities with which this country was deluged by administration connivance a basis for tremendous credit expansion."

Referring to President Hoover's statement that the United States was within two weeks of being driven off the gold standard last winter, he said if this was true, administration leaders "were guilty of amazing dishonesty" in failing "to advise the banks and private investors." During the period from January 1 to June 30, he said, the Treasury, with the President's approval, sold $3,700,000, 213,450 of Treasury notes and certificates of indebtedness redeemable in gold. He denied statements of President Hoover that the Treasury had "discouraged" the sale of gold.

Courson was convicted in the case of the death of Arthur Maillet, who was strangled to death in a sweat box last June. The charge was first degree murder.

The 105th session of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Protestant church will meet in the First Methodist Protestant church, Burlington, Wednesday morning, November 9, at 10 o'clock, with the president, Rev. S. W. Taylor, D. D., of High Point, presiding. The annual conference sermon will be preached by the Rev. Gilbert W. Gibbs, D. He is also Secretary of the General Conference of the denomination. President Taylor will read his annual message on the afternoon of Wednesday. His message this year will not only bring news of official activities, and recommendations for this year, but will also contain a review of the five years he has served in this capacity. Dr. Taylor left the pastorate of the First church, Burlington, five years ago to become chief executive of the conference, and will close his service at the conference there this year. The election of conference officers follow the president's message. When a president has served his five years allowed, there is much discussion as to who is best fitted for his successor. Following the election of officers, the Rev. W. A. Melvin, D. D., a member of the Maryland Conference, and Secretary of Evangelism of the General Conference, will address the Conference. One of the outstanding and most pleasing features of the opening day of the conference, will be the concert in the evening to be given by the A. Feed Pullets Well If You Expect Them To Lay

There is considerable complaint over the county that pullets are not laying and the receipt will probably be helpful. Feed wet mash at noon. Mix dry mash with enough milk or water to make it crumbly, using what you think will be eaten up clean in ten or fifteen minutes. Be sure you are feeding enough grain to keep up the body weight. Do not neglect the drinking fountain and the hopper of oyster shell or limestone grit for shell formation. Make changes in feeding or other management gradually so as to prevent throwing the pullets into a molt.

Barbecue In 1898 Recalled By Man At Franklinville

W. H. Wrenn Has Souvenir Of Democratic Rally And Barbecue Sept. 8, 1898.

Y. W. A. Entertained By Miss Esther and Miss Nettie Moon At Franklinville At A Halloween Party.

Franklinville, Oct. 31.—Misses Nettie and Esther Moon entertained the members of the Y. W. A. of the Franklinville Baptist church at a Halloween party Friday evening. Ghosts were stationed at various places on the lawn weirdly directing the guests to the entrance. The witches' den was the first interesting place visited, where each guest was told her future destiny. Games and contests were enjoyed throughout the evening. Misses Dorothy Liles and Edith Martin, winners in the contests, were presented attractive prizes. The guests were invited to the dining room where they were served assorted sandwiches, coffee and cake. On leaving, miniature witches were presented as favors. Mrs. Lloyd Brown, of Asheboro, Misses Pauline Cox and Katherine Julian were among the guests. The flower show and community fair, sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. church, will be held at the school building Saturday, November 12th. Several of our people attended the barbecue at Asheboro Friday afternoon. W. H. Wrenn says this brings to memory the barbecue held in Asheboro in the year 1898 of which he has a venerated plate with this inscription written on the bottom: "Democratic Rally at Asheboro, Sept. 8, 1898, 5000 people present." O. R. Brower, of near Eagle Springs, was a visitor here one day last week. George Robins, A. B. Ausley and Mrs. M. L. Allred attended the annual Holiness conference at Mount Zion church, near Lexington, the past week. (Please turn to page 4)

Governor Gardner's Son Plays Center On Carolina's Ball Team

The many people from Randolph who witnessed State College's football team's first defeat of the season to U. N. C. Saturday, were delighted with the game. The score 13-0 would indicate a somewhat slow game, but it was not won without a fight and there was plenty of action. Governor Gardner's son, Ralph, playing center for the university against his old foe in high school games, Red Espey, turned in a good Saturday of abbreviated day's work. Espey and young Gardner played against each other when Hickory and Shelby matched. The State center is somewhat older than his admiring rival and in the high school conflicts gave the governor's son an awfully disagreeable time. The playing at Woodberry Forest, on the Carolina freshman team, and the subbing at center this fall for the varsity, have done the boy a great turn. He handled himself nicely against Captain Espey Saturday and it would appear that Coach Collins need not worry further about centers for 1932, 1933 or even 1934. Thieves Made Raid On Cox's Store At Pisgah Tues. A. M. Thieves broke into S. A. Cox's store at Pisgah early Tuesday morning during the heavy rain at that time and carried away goods valued at from $200 to $250. Entrance was made through a small window in the shed adjoining the store, the main building then entered and the back door thrown open. Previous attempts to drill through the back door had failed. Goods were then carried out the back door, several yards distant and loaded in a car which the thieves used to haul the goods away. Included in the loot were a large quantity of sugar, hats, shoes, clothing and tobacco. Thorns Enjoyed Story On Morocco Found In Last Week's Courier Mrs. Russell Parks, chairman of the Red Cross, urges every one in the county to join the Red Cross. Roll call will begin November 11 and close November 24, Thanksgiving day. Randolph's quota is 1,080 and it is hoped that the enrollment will be more than 100 per cent, as one-half of the money will be retained in the county for relief or health work. Mrs. Parks will announce committees for the county in next week's Courier; in meantime she will be glad to have volunteer workers. E. E. Bell and J. M. Foscoe, of Jones county, sold 18,000 pounds of fat beef steers at 3 1/2 cents a pound. E. E. Bell's farms last week. The buyer stated the animals were of the finest quality he had ever seen in eastern North Carolina. Governor Roosevelt's Four Horsemen of the G. O. P. Leadership are Destruction, Delay, Deceit and Deceit, and on Nov. 8 he is going to spoil the analogy to the Apocalypses by adding another horseman—Deceit.

Big Political Rally Held At Thomasville; Reynolds Is Speaker

Bob Reynolds And Congressman Lambeth Share Honors In Davidson Demonstration.

Thomasville and Lexington staged a big Reynolds-Lambeth rally Monday evening. Automobiles, decorated for the occasion with striking banners, paraded both towns in the afternoon and escorted Robert R. Reynolds (Bob) and Hon. Walter Lambeth, congressman from the eighth district, from Lexington to Thomasville to the auditorium at Thomasville, where the speaking was held. The event was a joint honor to Congressman Lambeth and to Senator-elect Reynolds. Mr. Lambeth spoke first after being given a handsome ovation by his townsmen. "The issue of November 8 is," said Mr. Lambeth, "whether we shall have four years more of the Herbert Hoover government," and from that point Mr. Lambeth went through the acts of the national Republican administration pointing to the result of each in bringing the country to its present so-called economic crisis. "Six weeks after the collapse of 1929 President Hoover recommended to the Congress an increase of $100,000,000 in spending by the Federal government. Four months before this collapse Governor Gardner reduced the spending of our State government $1,450,000 and eight months after the collapse made an additional cut of $2,100,000. "President Hoover increased the expenses of the Federal government 28 per cent. Governor Gardner reduced expenses of the State government 30 per cent. "President Hoover, by extravagant spending, created the necessity for the levy of a billion dollars of new and burdensome taxation on the people of this country in the midst of the depression. The administration of Governor Gardner reduced the tax burden in North Carolina $12,000,000. "No Governor of North Carolina since the days of Zeb Vance has had (Please turn to page 8)
