

To Conduct Sunrise Service Easter At Mt. Lebanon Church

Annual Event To Begin At 4:30 Sunday Morning, And Large Crowd Is Expected.

Kanawha, April 10.—The annual sunrise service will be held at Mt. Lebanon M. P. church Easter morning. The service will begin about 4:30 a. m. This being an annual event a large crowd is expected to be present. Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock an Easter pageant will be presented. Everyone is invited to come. Funeral service for B. F. Frazier, who died early Sunday morning at his home near here, was conducted Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Mt. Lebanon church by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Trogon. Interment followed in the church cemetery. Mrs. Ross Wood and Miss Mildred Brookshire attended the funeral for Miss Irene Berry, held at Providence Friends church, Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. Elgin Edwards, Mrs. T. A. Brookshire and Mrs. S. F. Smith spent Sunday in Roberta, the guests of Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Williams. Paul Dean visited relatives and friends in Durham Sunday. Mrs. T. P. Snyder and Miss Elizabeth Brown visited Miss Hilda Mac Shepherd in Greensboro Sunday. Miss Shepherd is a student at N. C. C. W. Miss Dorothy Curtis and Miss Nettie Stuart, of Liberty, visited friends here Sunday. Miss Margaret Henley, a member of the local school faculty, spent the week end in Draper with her parents. Mrs. John Lamb is spending this week in Burlington with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Holmes.

Misses Rozelle Smith, Inez Trogon, Mellice Lamb, and J. B. Trogon, Jr., attended the singing convention held at Flag Springs church Sunday. Miss Jewell Sumner, a teacher in the Leaksville high school, spent the week end here with her mother, Mrs. W. I. Sumner. Mrs. A. E. Williams and Mrs. R. A. Lemons spent Monday with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Trogon. The Worth While class of Mt. Lebanon M. P. church held their regular monthly meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. R. L. Wilson, with Miss Beulah Lineberry as joint hostess. After the devotional a short business session was held with Miss Rozelle Smith, president, presiding. The book of Mark was studied and discussed. A social hour was then enjoyed after which refreshments were served to about eighteen members.

The Open Forum

SENATOR INGRAM EXPLAINS INSTALLMENT TAX PLAN

Editor Courier: Will you kindly publish the following letter. On March 31, 1933, I received from the clerk to the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Asheboro a letter and enclosed with same was a copy of a Resolution adopted jointly by the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Asheboro, and the Asheboro City School Board. The Resolution was censuring me very sharply for bringing about the enactment of a law, as a member of the Legislature, which makes it possible for the poor, oppressed and financially unfortunate people of this county to pay their 1932 taxes in ten installments, beginning in the month of April, 1933.

The Resolution not only censured me for the enactment of the law, but called upon me to repeal same, or take the Town of Asheboro from under the provisions of it. I immediately answered the letter and requested information which would have been relative to the resolution, and as of this date I have received no answer to my letter. Therefore, not having heard anything further from my letter and wishing to make myself understood by the people of Randolph county, and especially the people of the Town of Asheboro, on this matter, I will say the following: When I announced my candidacy last summer for State Senator, I then pledged myself to the people to do my utmost, in whatever way seemed practicable, to try to relieve the poor and oppressed tax payers of the state and more particularly Randolph county, and save their homes from tax sales and foreclosures if possible. With this thought and pledge I have so directed my energy while in Raleigh.

The party or parties most interested and opposed to the law allowing the people of Randolph county and the Town of Asheboro to pay their taxes in ten monthly installments were a few of the wealthy and better fixed people of Asheboro, who do not have to worry about their property being sold for taxes, but on the other hand, they seem to be afraid the price of some of the county and city bonds they are probably holding might be affected, and their attitude appears to be, that it would be better for people's homes and other property to be sold rather than for their bonds and securities to decrease a little in value, because of an installment payment of taxes. For the information of the bond holders as well as the tax payers, the law was enacted in sincerity, in an effort to provide ways and means for a large number of the people who truly wanted to pay their taxes but could not pay in full.

In passing the law I had in mind the welfare of the greater mass of the people and not just a small number who have the money to pay their taxes, and to buy bonds with too, (bonds probably bought at a big discount, of 20 to 40 per cent which they expect the county to pay one hundred cents on the dollar.) No facts or information has been presented to me so far that would cause me to change my attitude in the matter and I cannot see any reason at this time to repeal this law. HENRY L. INGRAM, April 10th, 1933.

OPPOSES SALES TAX

Editor Courier: Will you kindly publish this editorial from the Henderson Daily Dispatch. It is hoped by the merchants and laboring people of Randolph county that they will give the matter serious consideration and bitterly oppose this sales tax. The time has come when we need your support in this fight. Let's do something about this and do it now before it is too late. J. T. KING.

THEN THEY'LL REMEMBER

Just why legislators persist in turning a deaf ear to the cries of the people of North Carolina against the imposition of a general sales tax is perhaps best known to them. But the people will not forget the men who are responsible for this imposition, and will have something more than a year in which to worry and suffer before another primary election is held. But it is then that they will remember. And the next General Assembly will probably have a good many new faces in it. The sales tax fight will not be ended when the legislature passes the bill and adjourns. It will be kept up, and with the nuisance, the cost and the crushing burden it will impose it will be forever before Mr. John Citizen. With him it will be a fight to the finish. Commenting on this phase of the question, the Hickory Daily Record says: "The legislature of North Carolina should be made to know that although the opponents of a general sales tax may be flattened out by the big, political steam roller which is named by the Raleigh bureaucrats, there will still be plenty of fight left throughout the state to haunt and harass them throughout the days that are to follow. "It is now asserted that the sales tax will be collected by selling stamps which must be affixed to all purchases. "Well and good. Every time a stamp is licked we shall be reminded of the sort of relief which our legislature gave us in the carrying out of their election promises. "Catawba county which will be paying three dollars for every dollar of ad valorem tax removed by the repeal of the fifteen cent levy will have a particularly heavy, additional burden for which someone should have full credit. "The thousands of merchants of a great state, already struggling for existence, and just beginning to have hopes of an approaching dawn, will have special reason to remember the 1933 members of the General Assembly. "The hundreds of thousands of underpaid laboring people, upon whom the load will fall heaviest, will have cause to remember these legislators as they affix the sales tax stamps to their loaves of bread and take the extra pennies out of the mouths of their already undernourished families. "The farmer, in whose good name this crime is being committed, will have cause to be very thankful to his representatives who have pulled the old political trick of promising him the earth, taking him for a buggy ride and then making him walk home. For the rural dweller, except in the case of the very large landowners, is going to pay much more in sales tax than was collected from him under the ad valorem levy. "The willful solons who refuse to vote for drastic economies, but prefer to override the mandate of a desperate people, may be able to tell the public to 'go to' just at this time—but it is a wise politician who looks into the future and visualizes what the future reaction is going to be."

COMMENDS INGRAM'S FIGHT TO AMEND GAME LAWS

Editor of The Courier: In reading the News and Observer and Raleigh Times last week, I noticed the following news items which are of vital interest to the people of Randolph county: "No member of the present General Assembly has worked harder on any measure than has Senator Ingram, of Randolph, on his bills to amend the State game laws and abolish the office of State Game Warden. "The Randolph Senator was rewarded Tuesday when both his bills overcame all hurdles and passed the Senate. He will continue to work for successful negotiation of the House in order that the measures may become law. This quotation from the News and Observer shows that in Henry Ingram we have a representative who is a fighter and one of influence in his Senate body, and bears out the fact that if the every day people want to be truly represented they made no mistake by selecting a man from their own walk of life who knows and understands their troubles and hardships. The following is a quotation from the Raleigh Times: "Passage of the bill to abolish the game warden marks the culmination of stubborn efforts to that end by Senator Henry L. Ingram, of Randolph. "Under that bill which once was tabled, duties of the abolished offices would be consolidated under one man who would get a maximum annual salary of $3,000. "A second game bill passed by the upper House provides that 28 counties should charge no county hunting license where the hunter, a resident of the county, is accompanied by or has written permission of the person on whose land he hunts. I understand the bill to abolish the offices of State Game Warden, Commissioner of Inland Fisheries, and place all their duties on one man, will save around $16,000 per year. Senator Ingram has had a hard fight getting these bills passed in the Senate and they must now be passed by the House before they become law. If you want these bills passed you should write your representative, N. C. English, to do everything he can to get them passed by the House of Representatives of which body he is a member. G. S. SUGG, April 12, 1933.

Editor's note: The following clipping in Wednesday's News and Observer gives the latest news on the Game Warden bill: "The Senate bill introduced by Senator Ingram to abolish the State Game Warden and district wardens was taken from the House calendar and sent back to the committee on game Monday upon motion of Representative W. C. Ewing of Cumberland."

Farm Census Surveys Prove Of Great Value To Farmers Of State

These Surveys Furnish Ready, Reliable Facts On Which To Base Relief Work.

In relation to the new Federal Farm Relief Act, North Carolina counties are fortunate. This is due to the yearly farm census surveys made by each county. Thus, this State is the best prepared in the South, with ready and reliable county crop and livestock facts, on which to base relief work. Just back from a three weeks trip from Cherokee and Currituck counties, and based on conferences in half the counties of North Carolina, Mr. Frank Parker, Federal-State Agricultural Statistician, reports a fine attitude toward this farm survey work. "The township tax lists are better informed and are more interested in securing the crop reports from farmers than ever before. The farmers are also increasingly better in these respects," said he. "Last year's farm survey averaged 86 per cent of all crop land being reported. It represented more than 200,000 farmers. The 1933 results are expected to be more than 90 per cent complete. Of course, those counties having the best farm census surveys are obtaining the most benefits in the form of diagnosis of weak and strong crop and livestock features. Such inventory facts provide much help, just as they do in business management," reported Mr. Parker.

The county information issued in the Farm Forecaster, published by the Department of Agriculture, has become recognized as the official basis for studying and remedying the farming practices. Then, too, each county is kept informed of what each other county is doing. Said Mr. Parker: "The idea that this information is for speculators to set the prices of farm products, is badly misunderstood. These reports are not completed until after the crops are sold. The 1932 information was completed in January, 1933. Then, too, crop acreages are not speculative information. On the other hand, many valuable and helpful aids are available to the farm leaders for the benefit of the farmers themselves. "The Department's educational folder on "How Farm Surveys Help Farmers" should be read by every land owner in North Carolina," emphasized he. "It is the individual farmer who needs awakening to this business or economic side of farming."

Miss Maxine Hill, of Farmer, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohr, of Archdale, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Parrish Sunday. Miss Alta Hutchinson and Mr. Hudson, of the Thomasville school faculty, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cameron Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor, of Asheboro, were visitors at Mrs. Sarah Walker's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wannamaker, of North Asheboro, visited with Mrs. Sarah Walker and son, Ray, Saturday. Mrs. A. S. Myers has returned to her home at Pleasant Hill after spending several days here with her son, Clifford. Several of our people attended the school exhibition at Mt. Pleasant last Friday. It was an old-time exhibition, one that was worthy of mention.

MT. SHEPHERD NEWS

Asheboro, route 2, April 10.—Virgil Hill is expecting to arrive home today with a car of mules and horses from Georgia. Miss Maxine Hill, of Farmer, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohr, of Archdale, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Parrish Sunday. Miss Alta Hutchinson and Mr. Hudson, of the Thomasville school faculty, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cameron Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor, of Asheboro, were visitors at Mrs. Sarah Walker's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wannamaker, of North Asheboro, visited with Mrs. Sarah Walker and son, Ray, Saturday. Mrs. A. S. Myers has returned to her home at Pleasant Hill after spending several days here with her son, Clifford. Several of our people attended the school exhibition at Mt. Pleasant last Friday. It was an old-time exhibition, one that was worthy of mention.

NEW POST-OFFICE PENS OPPOSED

There can be such a thing as too much perfection in the Washington government, complains W. H. H. in the Albany Knickerbocker Press. The latest word from Washington is that Postmaster-General Farley is going to see that we all have decent pens with which to write in the post-offices. After all these years of getting accustomed to Bobby, scratching pens, Mr. Farley is going to take them away from us. They were good enough for our grandfathers and our fathers, and they are good enough for us. If this nation grew great and powerful on bad pens in post-offices, why change things? What is Mr. Farley trying to do? Make us a nation of softies? Why, the post-office won't seem like the same old place. Nothing to complain about. We go inside, dip a pen in ink and get all ready for the same old growl, "This pen is terrible," and then we find it writing nice and smooth. It's disillusioning, that's what it is! And it makes things too easy for the postal clerks who have to read the addresses. If all of them were written in clear, black line, these boys will go soft also. This is a world of change, and never so much as right now. But please, Mr. Farley, leave us one memento of the post-office as we have always known it. Don't keep the writing tables supplied with new, clean blotters. We have become so used to the dear, dirty old rags that we just couldn't stand it.

The children rendered their parts in such a way that it spoke well for them and their teachers.

There can be such a thing as too much perfection in the Washington government, complains W. H. H. in the Albany Knickerbocker Press.

The latest word from Washington is that Postmaster-General Farley is going to see that we all have decent pens with which to write in the post-offices. After all these years of getting accustomed to Bobby, scratching pens, Mr. Farley is going to take them away from us. They were good enough for our grandfathers and our fathers, and they are good enough for us. If this nation grew great and powerful on bad pens in post-offices, why change things? What is Mr. Farley trying to do? Make us a nation of softies? Why, the post-office won't seem like the same old place. Nothing to complain about. We go inside, dip a pen in ink and get all ready for the same old growl, "This pen is terrible," and then we find it writing nice and smooth. It's disillusioning, that's what it is! And it makes things too easy for the postal clerks who have to read the addresses. If all of them were written in clear, black line, these boys will go soft also. This is a world of change, and never so much as right now. But please, Mr. Farley, leave us one memento of the post-office as we have always known it. Don't keep the writing tables supplied with new, clean blotters. We have become so used to the dear, dirty old rags that we just couldn't stand it.

There can be such a thing as too much perfection in the Washington government, complains W. H. H. in the Albany Knickerbocker Press. The latest word from Washington is that Postmaster-General Farley is going to see that we all have decent pens with which to write in the post-offices. After all these years of getting accustomed to Bobby, scratching pens, Mr. Farley is going to take them away from us. They were good enough for our grandfathers and our fathers, and they are good enough for us. If this nation grew great and powerful on bad pens in post-offices, why change things? What is Mr. Farley trying to do? Make us a nation of softies? Why, the post-office won't seem like the same old place. Nothing to complain about. We go inside, dip a pen in ink and get all ready for the same old growl, "This pen is terrible," and then we find it writing nice and smooth. It's disillusioning, that's what it is! And it makes things too easy for the postal clerks who have to read the addresses. If all of them were written in clear, black line, these boys will go soft also. This is a world of change, and never so much as right now. But please, Mr. Farley, leave us one memento of the post-office as we have always known it. Don't keep the writing tables supplied with new, clean blotters. We have become so used to the dear, dirty old rags that we just couldn't stand it.

There can be such a thing as too much perfection in the Washington government, complains W. H. H. in the Albany Knickerbocker Press. The latest word from Washington is that Postmaster-General Farley is going to see that we all have decent pens with which to write in the post-offices. After all these years of getting accustomed to Bobby, scratching pens, Mr. Farley is going to take them away from us. They were good enough for our grandfathers and our fathers, and they are good enough for us. If this nation grew great and powerful on bad pens in post-offices, why change things? What is Mr. Farley trying to do? Make us a nation of softies? Why, the post-office won't seem like the same old place. Nothing to complain about. We go inside, dip a pen in ink and get all ready for the same old growl, "This pen is terrible," and then we find it writing nice and smooth. It's disillusioning, that's what it is! And it makes things too easy for the postal clerks who have to read the addresses. If all of them were written in clear, black line, these boys will go soft also. This is a world of change, and never so much as right now. But please, Mr. Farley, leave us one memento of the post-office as we have always known it. Don't keep the writing tables supplied with new, clean blotters. We have become so used to the dear, dirty old rags that we just couldn't stand it.

SATISFACTION IN EVERY TRANSACTION

SAVE MONEY BY TRADING AT THE

"M" System Store & Market

Central Food Store and Pure Food Store

Our stock of everything good to eat is complete and prices are low. Here are a few of our specials for FRIDAY and SATURDAY, APRIL 14th and 15th, 1933.

Black Hawk and Rosebud Hams, Half or Whole, lb	13c
Corkhill, Armour's Star Hams and Country Hams, lb	14½c
Sliced Rindless Bacon, lb	15c
Country Ham, lb	27c
Country Shoulders, lb	11½c

Best Native Beef Specials		Best Native Pork Specials
Chuck Beef Roast, lb 11c; 4 lbs.	38c	Pure Pork Sausage, lb 10c; 4 lbs.	37c
Steak and Rump Roast, lb 12c; 4 lbs.	43c	Mixed Sausage, lb 7c; 4 lbs.	25c
Round & Sirloin Steak, lb 14c; 3 lbs.	37c	Pork Side, lb 7c; 4 lbs.	25c
T-Bone Steak, lb 15c; 3 lbs.	38c	Pork Roast, lb 11c; 4 lbs.	38c
		Pork Chops, lb 12½c; 3 lbs.	33c

FRESH FISH AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICES

OTHER SPECIALS		OTHER SPECIALS
Seeded Raisins, 15-oz. package, 4 for	30c	Pork and Beans, 1 lb. cans, 6 for	25c
7-oz. Pkg. Seedless Raisins, 3 for	10c	2½ lb. Pkgs. Oat Meal	10c
Baby Carnation Milk, 10 cans	25c	5 lb. Bucket Pure Honey	65c
Thick Heavy Fat Back, 4 lbs.	30c

FANCY SANTOS COFFEE, 3 lbs. 50c
PURE RIO COFFEE, 4 lbs. 47c; 9 lbs. $1.00
 Both of these coffees are pure, wholesome, and refreshing. Guaranteed to please you.

Del Monte Bartlett Pears, 3 No. 2½ cans 50c

We have a large stock of Fruits, Vegetables and Groceries of all kinds. Our prices are extremely low. Please come and see our stock and prices before making your purchases. We will save you money. We guarantee satisfaction in every transaction.

"M" System Store & Market

Central Food Store 114 Sunset Avenue.

Pure Food Store Corner Hoover & Park Sts.

E. V. HOBBS and G. P. PRITCHARD, OWNERS.

PUT BLOW-OUT PROTECTION on your car!

NO EXTRA COST

WHEN the speedometer reads 40, 50, and 60—mile after mile—terrible heat is generated inside the tire. Rubber and fabric begin to separate. A blister starts—and grows bigger and bigger—until BANG! A blow-out! A terrible thing sets in—you can't steer. And then CRASH!

New Invention Prevents Blow-outs

To protect you from blow-outs, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown has the amazing new Life-Saver Golden Ply. This new invention resists heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus blisters don't form, and blow-outs are prevented before they start. At cruising speeds on the world's fastest track, the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown, with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, lasted three times as long as first quality tires that did not have this feature. These SILVERTOWNS never blew. They were run all the road was—but the Life-Saver Golden Ply refused to give.

Safest Anti-Skid Tread

Macrover, road tests with leading makes of tires show that Goodrich Safety Silvertowns have the most skid-resisting tread. This tread gives your car extra road-grip... reduces danger of skidding to a minimum. With all these extra values, Goodrich Safety Silvertowns cost no more than other standard tires. Why not put them on your car? Come in today!

Goodrich Safety Silvertown

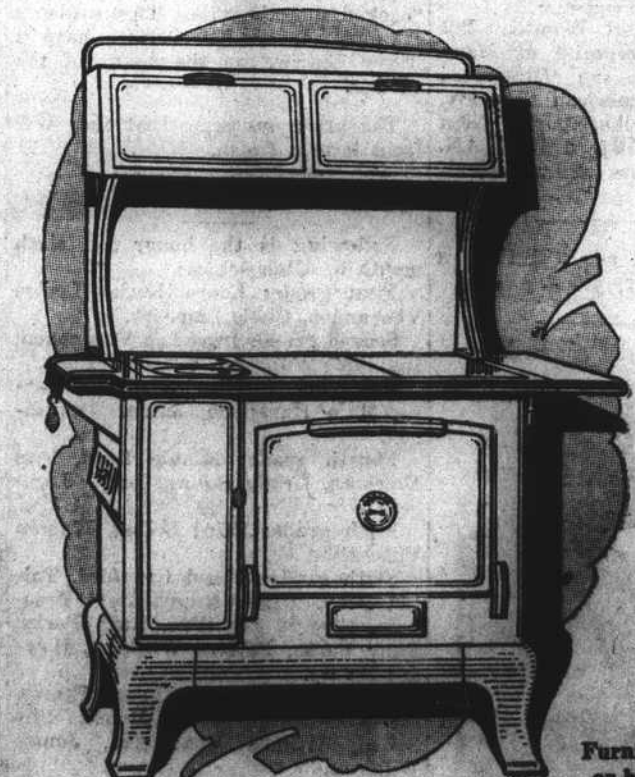

as low as

$5.95

FOR 450-20

gram-Garner Company, Inc.

5 PLY or 3 PLY... Which?

You wouldn't pay more for a 4-ply tire than you would for a 6-ply, would you? Then why pay more for a 3-ply range than you need pay for a range having 5-ply body walls?

The body walls of all COPPER-CLAD RANGES are of 5-PLY—DOUBLE AIR SPACE construction. This insures quick, even baking at a low fuel cost and explains why the COPPER-CLAD is such an economical range to operate.

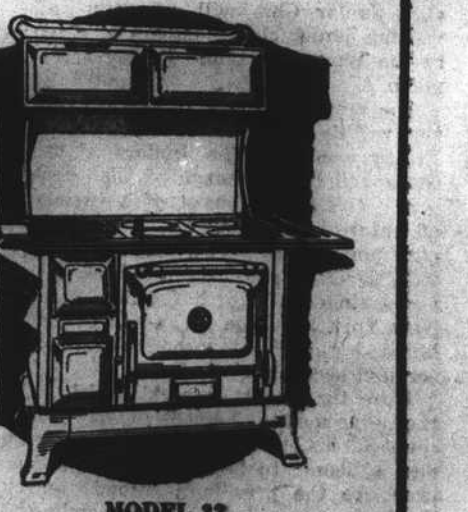

At today's LOW PRICES the

Copper-Clad

"America's Quality Range"

costs you less than some ranges having only 3-PLY body wall construction. Come in and see the NEW MODELS now on display.

SN SERIES
Furnished with high closet or high shelf, as desired.

MODEL 32
Furnished with high closet or high shelf, as desired.

Here are a few of COPPER-CLAD'S distinctive features---

- COPPER LINING (Patented)—Pure Sheet Copper lining between asbestos and main body wall prevents inside rust.
- THERMOS CONSTRUCTION—Five ply—double air space body wall, insures better baking. Saves fuel.
- REMOVABLE ENAMEL—Any enamel part can be easily and quickly replaced without special tools.

- FIRE BOX—Scientifically constructed. All parts made of highest quality grey iron. Unusually heavy.
- OVEN—Extra heavy and strongly reinforced at all vital points. Permanently air-tight.
- RESERVOIR—Large capacity. Copper tank. Patented mechanism enables user to control temperature of water.

COX-LEWIS HARDWARE COMPANY

ASHEBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

So the People May Know that you are in business, come in and let us show what we can do for you in the way of attractive cards and letter heads. Good printing of all kinds is our specialty and if we cannot satisfy you we don't want your business.

That's Fair, Isn't It?