General Assembly Debates Schools And Tax Measures

Chief Topic Of Debate Is One To Permit Cities And Towns To Support Long Term.

Sales Tax Measure

Providing For 3 Per Cent Levy Certain To Pass This Week; Hill-Ingram Till.

At a late hour Tuesday night the House was still debating the amendments to the public school bill that has been passed by the Senate which makes adjournment Thursday a little more uncertain. The chief topic of debate under consideration is the one to permit counties and cities to vote on supplements for the nine months. There is hot debate in the House, many representatives claiming that it "sets up political dissension".

In the Senate discussion of the biennial revenue bill on Tuesday, President Alexander H. Graham said that the report could be amended on second and third readings, a procedure unprecedented in recent legislative history.

His ruling was based on the fact that the report made changes in the money-raising measure to the extent that it had an entirely different complexion than it had when the Senate passed the measure on the House, thus putting it in the same class as a new bill.

It paves the way for amendments (Please turn to page 4)

Beer Contributes Largely To State's Coffers Since May 1

About $50,000 In Revenue Derived From Beer Licenses In State This Far.

Beer contributed about $50,000 to North Carolina's state revenue last week, the first week the 9.5 per cent alcoholic beverage was legal in the state, revenue department officials estimated.

The figure does not include the thousands of dollars which went into municipal and county treasuries from sales of dealers' licenses.

Richard R. McLaughlin, head of the license tax division of the department of revenue, said that last week's actual receipts already in his office totaled more than $30,000 and he figured that his field force easily had close to $20,000 additional which had not been reported.

Almost 100 men, including the regular revenue field force, the state auto theft inspectors and the 67 highway patrolmen, have been working to enforce collection of beer taxes.

Wholesalers taxed $150 each have paid the state $12,150; retailers at $5 each have paid $7,500; salesmen at $25 each have paid $1,000; and one chain store (Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company) has paid a retail tax of $8,093. The tax on chain stores increases for each unit for which a license is secured.

Receipts from the 1 per cent per bottle tax on beer totaled $5,000, indicating that 500,000 bottles of beer were shipped into the state through legal channels last week. Figures on the barrel tax were not available.

Motherhood To Be Stressed At Meeting May 12

In New York City With Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt As One Of The Speakers.

14th Mother's Day

And Will Be Observed As Such All Over Country; Try Make Motherhood Safe.

The great events of this world are not revolutions, and economic conferences and banking reforms. The great events of this world are babies.

The most important people in this world are not soldiers, and statesmen and bankers. The most important people in this world are mothers, who are called upon to bring into existence a new generation.

So it is fitting that on Mother's Day we honor mothers. It is even more fitting that on this day we should take steps to make motherhood safe for them, as it is agreed by leading authorities that at least half the 16,000 women who die annually in childbirth could be saved by adequate maternity care.

A meeting aimed to help remedy the situation is scheduled to be held in New York City May 12th, with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as principal speaker. A number of outstanding medical authorities and educational leaders are to be on the program. Emphasis is to be placed on two important steps to be taken. First, people should understand that much depends on the choice of the doctor, and select one known to have had experience in maternity cases. After selecting him, parents must trust his judgment, and not try to prevail upon him to make painless a process which cannot always be made free from pain without increasing the risk of infection and other undesirable complications. Second, if a hospital is chosen, it should be one of high standards, such as those approved by the American College of Surgeons, for despite the fact that each year finds more women going to hospitals, there is no corresponding decrease in the mortality rate. In fact, many authorities believe it is safer for a woman to have her baby at home, if conditions there are suitable, unless the mother's condition requires special care.

The Maternity Center Association of New York, which is sponsoring the Mother's Day meeting, has made a notable contribution to knowledge of what adequate maternity care can do to save mothers' lives. Among 4,726 women under their care over a period of eight years in a certain section of New York City, the death rate was reduced two-thirds.

Among those to be present at the Mother's Day meeting are: Mrs. Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor; Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming; Miss Grace Abbott, Chief of the Children's Bureau; Dr. Walter Chipman, noted obstetrician of Montreal; Dr. Linsly Williams, Managing Director of the New York Academy of Medicine; Dr. J. Allison Hodges, President of the Medical Society of the State of Virginia; and Dr. S. S. Goldwater, of the American Hospital Association.

With such an imposing array of well-informed and influential people behind this movement to "Make Motherhood Safe for Mothers," it is not too much to expect the new deal to include the "Forgotten Woman."
