Randolph County Gave A Tremendous Majority Against Repeal Of Amendment

Twenty-Six Of The Thirty Precincts In County Report 802 For, 6867 Against.

State Against Repeal

First Of The States Voting To Register Majority Against Repeal Move.

Randolph county, as did the majority of the counties in North Carolina, voted overwhelmingly against repeal in the election called for this purpose on Tuesday, November 7th, in several southern states. Despite the rather general light rain, people went to the polls and voted their sentiments. Twenty-six of the thirty precincts of Randolph county reported officially Wednesday with a total of 6867 against repeal and 802 for repeal. The candidates, John Clark, of Franklinville, running on the ticket against repeal, and Arthur Ross, of Asheville, running on the repeal ticket, ran practically with the ticket. The vote in Asheville went as follows: South Ward, for repeal 57, against 420; East Ward, 28-826; North Ward, 76-328; West Ward, 85-447.

Wiley Ward, with a splendid group of workers supporting the cause of the retention of the 18th amendment, worked tirelessly and touched every section of Randolph county with speaking, rallies and the like, with the result that Randolph's majority against repeal will probably be around 6,500.

The board of elections will meet Thursday noon and give official figures, but the figures from the 30 precincts come from E. H. Oramford, chairman of the board of elections.

North Carolina First to Break

North Carolina is the first state to break into the dry column and her sister state, South Carolina, followed suit. Walter (Pete) Murphy, who led the forces in North Carolina for repeal of the amendment, conceded defeat early Tuesday evening when the returns came in with such overwhelming certainty of defeat of his cause.

The home precinct of Senator Robert R. Reynolds, who was elected a year ago on a repeal platform, gave a heavy dry majority. The vote was for repeal 95—against, 464. Senator Joseph Bailey's home precinct went for repeal by a small majority, about a hundred. The Senator also championed the cause for repeal in the state. The city of Raleigh went for repeal by a small majority while the county of Wake slid into the dry column.

Other States Voting

South Carolina reports a light vote but the drys led the state by a slim majority against the repeal. The rural sections were not counted but the vote conceded the victory to the dry forces in the state.

Utah, Pennsylvania and Ohio, also voting on Tuesday, went for repeal. The majority in Ohio was set at approximately 880,000; Pennsylvania will probably be 3 to 1 for repeal in the final roundup and Utah two to one.

Kentucky's election law, reporting locked ballot boxes under the canvass system, is claimed stoutly by both sides and the locked boxes probably hold the secret. The counting in Kentucky did not begin until Wednesday at 10:00 a. m.

Strike Situation In Asheville Deadlocked

From W. M. Hanson, of Branch 72 local hosiery workers, now on strike, comes the following report:

The two strikes at Asheville, one at the Bossong fall fashioned hosiery mill involving around 200 workers and the other at the Cotwick silk mill involving three hundred and seventy is still at a deadlock. The management and the committee representing the strikers have not had any conferences since they came out on strike.

The silk workers have been out three weeks Friday when they struck asking for increases in wages and several other adjustments in the plant.

The workers of the Bossong fall fashioned came out a few days later when the management refused to live up to the agreement made when the first strike was settled.

At the Piedmont Textile Council meeting Saturday night in Burlington, the Cotwick strike was endorsed and committees set up to raise the necessary support for the strike. The Piedmont Textile Council is an organization in the American Federation of Labor composed of all local unions in the piedmont section of North Carolina.

The Bossong strike was called by the American Federation of Hosiery Workers and will be supported by that organization, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

On Saturday night November 11th there will be an open meeting at the Court House in Asheville at which all workers in Asheville and surrounding country will be invited. The speakers will be R. R. Lawrence, president North Carolina State Federation of Labor and Forest Cornelius, representative of the American Federation of Labor. This meeting is being called by Branch 72 local union of Hosiery Workers. After which a special drive will start to organize the unorganized workers in Asheville.

Jones county farmers report harvesting the largest crop of hay ever to be stored in the county. The quality is exceptionally good due to good weather during the harvesting.

Laying Plans For Conference Young People In County

A set up meeting, at which time plans were made for an interdenominational conference for young people of this section of the state, was held at the Ashlyn hotel Monday evening. Under the direction of Rev. Shuford Peeler, of Salisbury, general secretary of the State School Association and Miss Daisy Magee, state young people's director, definite plans were made for a conference to be held at the Methodist Protestant church in Asheville on December 11th.

As is always the custom, it was announced at this meeting, that all students who are registered as delegates will be released from classes at school on that day as the sessions will begin in the morning and will close with a banquet in the evening in the church dining room.

The following committees were appointed: publicity, Myrtle Lea; Amie Heck Green; registration, Emma Gene Kearns, Clarence Henley; banquet, Aleene Lamb; general chairman, Dee Armfield; secretary, Reba Clark; adult advisor, Miss Bertha Presnell.

Re-Employment Will Be Continued Until Last Of December

Local Office So Advised By State Director: Many Registrants At Office Here.

Capus Waynick, state director of re-employment, has been notified from Washington that the national re-employment service will continue in operation through December, though it had been scheduled to discontinue November 30.

The labor department is continuing this work for the principal reason that the public works program has not been carried through as quickly as originally planned. The jobs are all right and the wage scale good when the work is done. The time element is all public works projects is to be considered.

When these projects get under way at Port Henry and elsewhere, Mr. Waynick anticipates having to move carpenters, brick masons and other skilled and semi-skilled workmen from place to place. As labor for these projects, being financed with federal aid and is being obtained through the national re-employment offices and Randolph county men will be given equal consideration, but it is contrary to regulations that any local office give registered applicants referred to any public works projects outside their own county without instructions from Raleigh. The reason for this is that a considerable confusion would naturally arise. Every office manager must wait for a call from official source before referring any registrant to a public works job outside his own county.

The local re-employment office reports that registrations continue and each day brings inquiries about more permanent jobs, those of a temporary kind being now finished. The placements have been finished fairly well; the past week being second best in placements. The cooperation of the manufacturers, business people and housewives has been very helpful. The jobs for domestic service was the leader in last week's report of jobs secured.

A letter from C. M. Waynick, state director, to J. D. Ross, chairman of advisory board national re-employment service for Randolph county, advises that the re-employment office keep in touch with their good brick masons and carpenters so that they will be available when needed on public works projects outside the county. A call for some of these is likely to come in the near future.

The local office will have advance notice in plenty of time to notify by card and through the county papers just as soon as a call comes from the Raleigh headquarters.

THE MISSES HAMILTON ENTERTAIN CLASS

Miss Frances and Miss Gladys Hamilton entertained the members of the Friendly Friends Sunday school class of the Asheville Friends church and several additional guests at their home on South Fayetteville street Friday evening.

The president, Mrs. Hallie Johnson, was in charge of the business hour, after which a social was enjoyed. The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. James Thomas, served sandwiches and ices.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the Misses Hamilton were: Mesdames H. A. Parker, Hallie Johnson, James Thomas, Misses Edith Osborne, Mabel Cox, Jewel Brady, Bernice Brady, Pauline Stodd, Ruth Way, Fleta Pulliam, Lucille Caviness, Bernice Mendenhamer, Corrie Caviness, Myrtle Gensheimer, Glad Ingram, Gladys Cox, Messrs. Cash prizes of $30 have been offered by local business men to owners of farm woodlands in Caswell county for the best handling of new plots.

Fusion Ticket Wins In Mayorality Fight In New York City

Fiorella H. LaGuardia was conceded the election as mayor of New York City two and a-half hours after the last of the 2,000,000 voters had registered their choice. This was the first time since 1914, when John Purroy Mitchell was elected mayor on a fusion ticket, that Tammany had been defeated. Tammany's candidate, Mayor John P. O'Brien, took third place being Joseph W. McKee, whom Postmaster General Farley backed.

Balloting was heavy in all the precincts, indicating keen interest in the election. Frequent riots during the day and feeling ran high. Several arrests were made as a result of the fights.

United States And Canada Unite Policy For Increasing Game

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Just now when some several million sportsmen are beginning to swap fishing rods for shotguns as the hunting seasons are opening, comes the announcement that the United States and Canada are to have an American Game Fish policy, calculated to make bigger and better fishing throughout both countries—bigger fish and millions more of them, according to a bulletin of the American Game Association.

Scientists are learning that practically every game fish grows in size not by age but by the amount of food consumed. For instance, a gutted black bass eating bountiful rations will grow many times larger than a brother or sister of the same school in the same period of time that gets only a sustaining ration.

Therefore to make long fish stories come true—the kind that it takes both arms to illustrate—one must feed the fishes plenty. And that's to be an important phase of the American Game Fish policy. The scientists are to determine the best foods and how to grow them naturally, abundantly and inexpensively; they intend to create and control an ideal environment for all varieties.

The increase of millions of fish is to be effected by building up environment in lakes, streams and ponds and by the creation of innumerable lakes and ponds and stock these with the favored fish and their necessary foods that will grow naturally.

When everybody else is trying to get rid of fleas, the American Game policy will advocate raising them; that is, water fleas, for these minute insects are the favorite food of baby fish and they thrive on them.

Plans were made recently at the annual meeting of the American Fisheries Society in Columbus, Ohio, to formulate the American Game Fish policy. Officials of the American Game Association and the Izak Walton League and others are to work on the formulation of policy soon. Game Commissioners of both countries are to cooperate, it was said.

McDowell county farmers are planning to cooperate in planting an acreage of red raspberries this fall as a new cash crop for the county.

United Dry Forces Appreciate Support People Of Randolph

The Campaign Committee of the United Dry Forces of Randolph county wishes to acknowledge with sincerest appreciation the support of all who contributed to the success of the dry cause in the repeal election Tuesday.

Special recognition is due to the two county papers for publicity invaluable in the creation of favorable sentiment for prohibition.

The unwavering loyalty of the churches and their ministers was a wall of strength in the cause of temperance. To Sunday school superintendents and teachers, to public spirited citizens who gave their time to speaking in churches and school houses throughout the bounds of the county, the committee expresses its heartfelt thankfulness.

Attention is called to the fact that the United Dry Forces of Randolph cannot now be demobilized. The menace of illegal traffic in intoxicants is still acute. And the hardest fight of all lies ahead in the effort which must be made to enforce the laws voted for by the people of the state—United Committee for the Dry Forces.

Members Board Duke Endowment Make Visit Here

Were Here Friday, November 3. Inspecting Hospital; Luncheon Given Them.

Were Well Pleased

At Work Done By The Hospital. Its Financial Statement And Other Features.

The management of the Randolph Hospital, Inc., was very pleased last week to learn that Dr. W. S. Bankin, director, and G. G. Allen, chairman of the board of trustees of the Duke Endowment, with some friends, were visiting a limited number of hospitals assisted by this fund in North and South Carolina, and expected to be at the hospital on Friday morning, November 3rd. They wished to meet the officers and members of the Board of Directors, the officers of the Randolph Medical Society, the officers of the Board of County Commissioners, and the mayor, and get an account of the work of the institution and what the people thought of it. A luncheon was arranged to which they were all invited.

Dr. C. S. Tate, Vice-President of the Randolph County Medical Society, L. H. Smith, Jr., and Arthur Ross, directors of the hospital were unable to be present.

Twenty guests were assembled at the hospital including Dr. Rankin, director, who is always welcome, and Dr. Forbus, Pathologist, at Duke Hospital.

After lunch was served and guests introduced, the secretary made a report of the financial condition of the hospital and Dr. G. H. Sumner reported on the professional work since the first of the year, so that Dr. Rankin and Dr. Forbus would have some definite information. Short talks were made by several present, in which Dr. Rankin was assured of the cooperation of the people of the county in connection with the hospital and their appreciation of its benefits.

He further stated that he was much impressed with the institution and with the management of it, and that the results from the expenditure of the money donated by The Duke Endowment were very pleasing to the trustees. Both he and Dr. Forbus were very complimentary in reference to the hospital.

Dr. J. T. Burrus could not attend the luncheon due to the serious illness of his daughter in Spartanburg, S. C. The chairman appointed a committee composed of I. F. Craven, member of the hospital board of directors, chairman, Dr. J. H. Soady, secretary and treasurer of the hospital staff, and Dr. B. P. Sykes, secretary and treasurer of the county medical society, to wire a message of sympathy.

Just recently a fine picture of the late J. B. Duke has been hung in the reception room at the hospital. This was a gift from the board of trustees of the Duke Endowment.

Opportunity is taken here to express appreciation of the beautiful basket of flowers donated by Stoves, Florist, in honor of the visit of these representatives of The Duke Endowment.

Half Red Cross Roll Call Funds Kept In Randolph

And Is Used In Communities In Which It Is Collected, Mrs. Parks Declares.

Drive Begins Nov. 11

Effort Will Be Made To Enroll Membership In Randolph At Rate $1 A Head.

In an announcement calling attention of the citizens of Randolph county to the Red Cross Roll Call in the week beginning on Armistice Day, Nov. 11th, Mrs. Russell Parks, Roll Call Chairman, reported the vast amount of relief work accomplished by the American Red Cross during the past year. Enormous quantities of cotton and wheat purchased by the Federal Government for the relief of the farmers was accepted and at the expense of the Red Cross the cotton was woven into garments and the wheat ground into flour for the help of the sick and needy among the nation's unemployed. An allotment valued in excess of $15,000 was distributed in Randolph county during the past twelve months.

Funds for the continuation of this work are raised in all the states by the enrollment of members in the Red Cross at the rate of one dollar per member. One half of the sums so collected will be forwarded to Red Cross National Headquarters to be used for the relief of victims of earthquakes, hurricanes, fires, floods and other great disasters in the nation at large. The remaining half will be kept by the Randolph County Chapter for local charities.

A policy for the distribution of the one-half kept for local charity was adopted at the meeting of the Roll Call Committee Monday morning as follows:

1. The share of the Red Cross funds kept for distribution in Randolph county is to be used in the towns and local communities where it is collected.

2. It is recommended that local committees designate a special purpose for the use of the funds kept in the county as for example, the supply of milk or soap to undernourished children in school, or any other purpose seeming advisable to the local committee after due investigation.

Liberty High Team Defeats Local Boys By 6-Point Margin

Resuming their rivalry in football last Friday, Liberty and Asheville engaged in a hard-fought game with Liberty gaining revenge on the defeat handed them last year by winning over the Asheville team 6 to 0.

Liberty outplayed Asheville slightly in the first half, but neither team could score and the half ended with the ball in Liberty's possession in the third quarter. At the beginning of the third quarter a Liberty back threw a long pass just over the Asheville halfback to Frazier, who with good interference ran down the field to a touchdown. Liberty tried a pass for the extra point, but it was grounded by Bulla. In the last quarter Asheville began to wake up and led by Taylor, Steere and Kearns with successive passes advanced the ball within four yards of the Liberty line on three tries and fumbled on the fourth down. Liberty punted the ball back to midfield. This ended the chance for Asheville to score and when the whistle blew Liberty had scored the only touchdown of the game.

The Lineups:

Liberty: Brower, le. Davis, it. Coble, lg. Perry, c. Coward, rg. Gregson, rt. Hinshaw, re. E. Frazier, gb. Johnson, lb. W. Frazier, rb. Smith, jb.

Referee, Smith, (N. C. S.); Umpire, Johnson, (Eton); Head Linesman, Colquitt (Duke); Timekeeper, Clapp, (L. H. S.)

HENRY FORD'S MEN APPEAL TO NRA

Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, told interviewers recently no decision had been made on the future course of the NRA conciliation agency in connection with the Edgewater, N. J., Ford plant strike.

Communications had been received from the strikers asking the board to take charge for arbitration purposes, but he had not seen any sent in since the Ford management replied to the workers' demands in terms which the strike leaders voted to reject.

Until this time, the labor board merely has helped to establish negotiations, without taking active part, since the Ford Company refused to deal with it but announced readiness to deal directly with the men.

Whether the strikers' dissatisfaction with the attitude of the management would cause the board to intervene, Wagner said, has not even been considered.

Evening Of Music Is Given By Choir Local M. P. Church

The choir of the Methodist Protestant church, under the direction of Miss Louise Swaim, gave a musical program Friday evening which has won high praise by those who were fortunate enough to be present. A group of varied anthems were interspersed with two piano solos by Miss Swaim and Miss Jane Page Walker, and a vocal duet by Mrs. R. L. Wood and Mrs. H. H. Walker. Mrs. N. M. Harrison played the accompaniments for the choir numbers.

W. L. Ward presented Mrs. Edouard Albion, of Pinehurst, as guest artist. Mrs. Albion gave two stories, "How the Temple of Music was Built" and "The Butterfly That Stamped." Mrs. Albion, nationally known for her art, was at her best and was well received by her audience. The entertainment was staged for the benefit of the organ fund.

On Saturday morning Mrs. Albion again appeared for the benefit of the organ fund, this time at the Sunset Theatre and gave stories for children. Through the kindness of Mr. White, proprietor of the theatre and Tom Wiles, part of the proceeds from this matinee went toward the organ fund.

At the Sunday evening church service, the Chisholm sisters, of Thomasville, sang for the congregation of the Methodist Protestant church. They gave several selections that bore a touching spiritual message giving pleasure and inspiration to their hearers.

Duke Faces Series Of Hard Games At Close Of Season

Team Goes To Play Maryland Saturday And Then Takes On Carolina Week Later.

Durham, Nov. 6.—Facing a series of three games that will "make or break" them in the 1933 Southern conference championship race, the Blue Devils of Duke invade College Park, Md., this week for the first contest of the series. They return home Sunday to begin preparations for their annual battles on the next two Saturdays with North Carolina and North Carolina State.

The Blue Devils went to the front of the conference race in their first game of the season by defeating V. M. I. but since they have been playing state foes or members of the Southeastern conference and have been victorious over all of them, including Tennessee and Auburn, Southern conference co-champions last year.

Maryland's sophomore ball club has been coming along rapidly this season and whether they have won very many victories or not does not matter as they face Duke, a team that is unbeaten. The Blue Devils can be assured that they will face another "inspired" ball club this week and the following two weeks as they battle North Carolina and North Carolina State.

The fighting Duke line again came forward in the game with Auburn Saturday to get most of the credit for the victory. Led by that pair of brilliant warriors, Freddie Crawford, tackle, and Tom Rogers, end, they repulsed every attempt of those fast-stepping Auburn backs save when Kimbrell sold out on his 75-yard jaunt to a touchdown in the third period. It was another great exhibition of line play.

The injured members of the team, captain and guard, Carl Schock, and Corky Cornelius, the main drive of the running attack, will likely return to action this week. "Horse" Hendrickson, the Blue Devils' great quarterback, will be out of the Maryland game because of a broken hand. He played in that condition against Auburn but immediately after the game his hand was put in a cast.

Dr. Andrews Delivers Sermon Here Sunday

Dr. R. M. Andrews, president of the Methodist Protestant annual conference, preached at the Asheville Methodist Protestant church Sunday morning on the subject of courage in the days of depression. Carrying out his idea, the preacher brought words of encouragement from the different churches and from a financial comparative standpoint many of them were in advance of those of last year. His observations are that religious services are better attended, the people are more loyal to their church obligations, more considerate of each other and on the whole there are many evidences for optimism for the future church. Mrs. Andrews and daughter, Miss Alma, and Miss Frances Taylor, also of High Point, accompanied Dr. Andrews to Asheville.

An interesting feature story in Sunday's papers announced that "Farmer Bob" Doughton would celebrate his 70th birthday on Monday by arising at 5:00 as usual, and doing "a day's work" before the daily stream of callers began arriving at his office. He is chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means committee and is known widely as "Farmer Bob."

The High Point Bar Association by resolution has determined to throw its weight to the support of the validity of the local municipal court which stands to be decided in pending legislation now headed for the North Carolina Supreme Court.
