

Asheboro Plans Novel Affair On Tuesday Evening

Will Join The Nation In Celebration Of The Birthday Of President Roosevelt.

At Court House To Be Costume Square Dance With Admission Of $1; Herman Cranford In Charge.

Asheboro is planning to stage a novel affair on the evening of January 30th, when the nation will celebrate as a unit President Roosevelt's birthday with charity balls—the proceeds from which will go toward a permanent foundation for crippled children at Warm Springs, Ga.

The ball in Asheboro will be in the form of an old-fashioned square dance and will be most informal. The committee in charge are planning for the dancers to come in costume, if convenient, and a big box of candy will be given for the best costume.

This novel event will be held in the court house in Asheboro and people from all parts of Randolph county are invited to come and dance. Randolph's neighbors are also included in the invitation extended by Herman Cranford, who is in charge of the dance.

It is the aim of the committee to have a real honest-to-goodness, old-fashioned-good-time with "a good time had by all" the verdict at the close of the evening.

Having the informal square dance will afford the town folks and the country folks of Randolph to meet together, renew old friendships, make new acquaintances, and contribute to this nation-wide project all in the same evening—so, make note of the date and join your friends and neighbors on Tuesday evening at 8:30 at the Court House in Asheboro.

Health Department Finds 24 Cases Of Measles In County Past Week

The Randolph county health department furnishes this week a most interesting and instructive article on communicable diseases, and other matters having to do with the health of the people of the county.

Eleven deaths were recorded from measles in the state for December, 1933. This will explode grandmother's idea that measles is a harmless disease. Grandmother's idea was old fashioned, as measles is one of the most dangerous diseases of childhood.

Since measles is prevalent in our county, would it not be wise for parents to keep their children away from sick children for they may be taking measles? If they do come in contact with a case of measles keep them at home for we will be sure to contribute some of the deaths from measles which we are going to have in the state during this month and the next few months.

Parents cannot be too conscientious about keeping their children away from these communicable diseases and in co-operating with their community in the spreading of diseases.

24 cases of measles were reported last week to the County Health Department, 12 cases in Liberty township; 1 in Asheboro township; 10 in New Market township; and 1 in Coleridge township.

A case of measles in your house should be reported immediately to the County Health Department. If you have no physician, the house holder is responsible for reporting.

The Tuberculosis Clinic was continued on this week. Dr. Eason has had a full clinic. More than fifty were examined last week. Only a few positive cases have been found.

Dr. Thompson of the State Board of Health is replacing Dr. Farrell who was conducting our school dental clinic. Dr. Farrell is working in Montgomery county now.

Penalty Is Added To County Taxes On February 1st

State Law Requires Addition Of One Per Cent Penalty Each Month Taxes Unpaid.

Are At Par Now But Only Few Days Remain; Sheriff King Appeals To Tax Payers To Pay Now.

A penalty of one per cent will be added on February 1st to all unpaid 1933 Randolph county taxes, according to state law.

Taxes may be paid at par during the remainder of the month of January. There are only five days of the month left for this purpose, and tax payers to save the penalty must act quickly.

According to the sheriff's office, tax payers have been paying their 1933 taxes very rapidly during the past two months. This is said to be due to better prices tobacco and cotton have brought and also to the general pick-up in business.

Yours truly, C. E. KING, Sheriff.

Congress Considers Dollar Devaluation During Its Session

President Roosevelt Asks For Authority To Change Value Of The Currency.

In Congress this week the chief topic is money and the administration's money bill, looking to devaluation in line with policies favored by the commodity dollar advocates.

Among the amendments brought forward were two vital ones by Senator Glass. These amendments would place a time limit of two years on the operation of the stabilization fund, while another amendment would place this huge fund under the control of an independent board of five, a federal monetary authority, as advocated by the committee for the nation, and others.

A 2-year limitation upon the operation of the fund was suggested by Senator Buckley but the three year limit met with more favor.

At the White House comment on the amendments was not forthcoming. President Roosevelt's views were expressed in the bill as it was sent to the capitol, calling for authority to revalue the dollar at 50 to 60 per cent of its present gold worth.

Asheboro Office Of Carolina Motor Club Closed By State Auto Bureau

The local office of the Carolina Motor Club was closed Saturday morning by authority of the state motor vehicle bureau and the state office of the motor club.

Nearest Carolina Motor Club offices at which automobile licenses may be secured are Greensboro and High Point.

Miss Betty Ross, who has changed her local office since last fall, had sent in her resignation as manager of the local office, but it had been hoped to obtain a successor for her and to continue the office.

Nineteen others have been closed in the state, and closing of the local office appears to be in line with the retrenchment policy seemingly put in effect by state and motor club officials.

Asheboro people will regret the closing of the local office, since it filled a great need in Randolph and adjoining counties. License plates were easily obtained at the Asheboro office, and it served a wide territory, especially in Randolph and counties to the south which do not have an office nearby wherein state license tags may be obtained.

The nearest points for obtaining such information and service now are High Point and Greensboro, or in direct communication with the state motor vehicle bureau in Raleigh.

Sales of license tags the past season at the local office of the Carolina Motor Club were larger than ever before in the history of the Asheboro office, and the sale of tags was efficiently conducted by Miss Ross. In fact, the local office was complimented more than once on its efficiency.

President Plans End CWA Work Before April 1st

Expenditure Of $350,000,000 More On This Work Before That Time Is Expected.

Work Curtailed Already In Many States, Including North Carolina, Where Hours Shortened.

President Roosevelt, ready to ask Congress for $1,168,000,000 to carry on the Civil Works Administration, the Civilian Conservation Corps and direct Federal relief, is said to be standing pat on his determination to stop the CWA during May.

Of the huge emergency appropriation asked, the President plans to spend $350,000,000 for carrying on the CWA, but he is adamant on the proposal to carry the work over during the summer. Mr. Roosevelt is said to consider the CWA an emergency matter, and holds that with the coming of May, a large number, if not all, of the 4,000,000 people on the CWA pay rolls in the country will be able to find work elsewhere.

It is understood that the CWA work will be stopped first in the South, since summer comes first in this section, then taper it off northward and westward until the CWA pay rolls are closed.

The Civilian Conservation Corps, the government plans to continue. It is felt by the administration that this corps of workers is performing a necessary public service. Direct Federal relief will be continued, though the administration is said to hold the hope that there will be less of this needed with the business pick-up which is anticipated.

Reductions in CWA work have already been ordered in many states, including North Carolina, where hours for workers in the country have been cut to 15 and in towns of more than 2500 population to 24 hours. No change has been made in the hourly wage scale.

CWA Negro Workers Present An Unique Play Monday Night

So Successful Was It That It Is Planned To Repeat Performance February 5th.

Fifty-five colored men who are working on the CWA projects in Asheboro under R. A. Gaddis gave a most unique and original show at the colored school building Monday night. This original production, planned and staged by the colored men, with suggestions by Mr. Gaddis, was voted by the overflowing audience as being the clearest idea advanced for the public in many a moon.

The office of the CWA work in Randolph was the scene and topic for the first act. The colored men took the parts of the office force of the CWA with unbelievable accuracy and talent entirely void of offense. Impersonation, long known as an attribute of the colored race, was down to a fine point and furnished entertainment while it afforded an opportunity to "see ourselves as others see us."

So clever was the production and so wide the interest that Mr. Gaddis is arranging for the repetition of the show at the Court House on Monday evening, February 5th. A very small admission fee will be charged at the door which will take care of the expense of the string band furnishing a part of the entertainment and not a part of the organization. There was no admission for the first show.

Officers of the group are Rev. W. H. Hamrah, president; Avery Garner, secretary; J. R. Arnold, treasurer.
