Large Number Of Candidates File For Various Offices In Randolph Conduct Flower

Last Minute Rush Brought Out Long List Of Candidates For Offices In Randolph.

Many Interesting Races In Prospect

Sheriff King And Register Of Deeds Johnson Have No Opposition Within Party.

The last minute rush Saturday produced several additional candidates for nomination to county officers to be voted on in the primary on Saturday, June 2. Many of those who were considered candidates for some time waited until the last day to file official notice and pay their fees to the county board of elections. Fees totaled a little more than $140 and will be paid in to the county by the board of elections to help defray cost of the primary.

Interest in the coming primary is growing and several hard fights are anticipated for some of the of-fices to be filled. Sheriff C. E. King has no opposition within his party, nor does R. C. Johnson for the nomination for Register of Deeds to succeed himself. The complete list of candidates filed for the several offices follows:

Standard Club To Give Its May Frolic

The Standard Club will give their annual May Frolic on Friday evening, May 11th at the Asmory, in Asheboro. Bob Morris, manager of the club, has secured the services of Jimmie Talbert and his Royal Melodians will furnish the music for this occasion. A large number of Asheboro people expect to attend this gala affair which always draws many outsiders from various sections of the state.

From time to time during the winter months, the club has staged interesting dances with good music, special features and good dancing. This May Frolic, however, bids fair to be the most outstanding of the season. The Standard Club will give their

Makes Appeal For Needy Of Randolph

Would Like To Have Donations Of Clothing To Be Distributed Among These Folks.

An earnest appeal has come from Mrs. Bruce Craven, head of the wo-men's work in Randolph county, for clothing of all kinds. Mrs. Craven explains that the allotment for such explains that the allotment for such items has been cut and that the sewing project has not, as yet, been approved, therefore the need is very great. It is hard to realize the actual want existing in Randolph county and Mrs. Craven cites many instances where clothing must be supplied in some way. There are small boys plowing in the fields with winter coats on because they have no shirts. There are several exno shirts. There are several expectant mothers who have come under her attention who have no clothing whatever for the new arrival. There are men and women and children, who are in rags—a condition that has not existed in Randolph so widely before—and to whom discarded clothing would be a blessing. An old lady, more than 80, is very much in need of a mattress—a discarded mattress would be better than what she has.

The welfare department will call for the clothing and place the things as best they can. Your cooperation is urged at this time.
