Died Early Tuesday

Former School Teacher And Interested In Community And Educational Matters.

Mrs. Thomas Lambert, 80, one of Asheboro's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died at her home in East Asheboro Tuesday morning at four o'clock. She was born in Franklinville, the daughter of the late William F. and Massa Robbins Trogdon, and the niece of M. S. Robins, well known lawyer, and a second cousin of O. Henry, short story writer.

In young womanhood Mrs. Lambert taught in Randolph and Stanly counties. She was educated in the public schools of the county, among which were Fairgrove Academy, near Ramseur, and York's school house, near Gray's Chapel. She was married to Thomas Lambert and for several years resided in Stanly county, but they moved to Asheboro more than thirty years ago. Mr. Lambert died last May.

For more than fifty years Mrs. ambert had been a faithful and consistent member of the Primitive Baptist church. She has always been an outstanding woman in each community in which she has lived. She was highly intellectual, a great reader not only of books but of the Bible, was much interested in educational and civic affairs and was quiet and unassuming in manner, most unselfish at all times. Even in her last few days she was solicitous of the comfort of her family and friends, thinking of others befor herself. Truly, she was calm in grief and patient in suffering.

Surviving are one daughter, Miss Massa Lambert, who resided with her mother; and two sons, L. B. and M. T. Lambert, all of Asheboro. children and a brother, William Trogdon, of Asheboro, route 1.
