Democrats Hold Convention Here Saturday, Jun. 16

Randolph County Democratic Convention To Name Delegates To State Meet. To Name Chairman

Randolph county Democrats will assemble in the court house in Asheboro at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 16, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state convention to be held in Raleigh on Thursday, June 21. George T. Murdock, vice chairman for Randolph county, will call the convention to order and then make way for the temporary chairman and secretary.

Precinct meetings were held in the 30 voting precincts in the county Saturday, and township committees named and delegates to the county convention selected. General reports from these meetings are to the effect that they were largely attended and much interest manifested in the coming election.

Following the convention Saturday, chairman of the thirty precincts in the county will meet in executive session and select a chairman and secretary of the Randolph county Democratic executive committee. The chairmanship was left vacant upon the death of J. A. York, of Asheboro, several weeks ago, and since that time George T. Murdock, vice chairman, has been acting as chairman.

There are no avowed candidates for the chairmanship, and it is probable that the executive committee in meeting Saturday will have to draft a man for this party service. Several names have been mentioned for chairman, though neither is a candidate nor is it known that either will accept. Among those mentioned include George T. Murdock, J. A. Spence, D. B. McCrary, M. H. Birkhead, Roy Cox, J. M. Caveness, W. J. Armfield, III, and J. V. Wilson.

No License Fee Is Charged For A Threshing Machine

Raleigh, June 11.—Many complaints and inquiries have been made to the Department of Agriculture, County Agents, and local agricultural teachers concerning the rumors that a prohibitive license is to be made for each threshing machine operated this year. While no license fee or charge is to be made, each operator is required by State Statute to procure a license card from the County Register of Deeds before he may begin threshing this summer. With this free license card is given a free record book for recording threshings of each farm. This book may be kept by the operator for his future reference.

The Department of Agriculture is simply striving to aid threshermen in keeping good records which, in turn, will help with the small grain and peanut official county allotment figures. A farmer will do well, therefore, to be sure that the machine threshing his crops is licensed, and that a full record is made of his acres, as well as threshed productions.

County Farmers Borrow $111,300 From Government

And Used Approximately 86.6 Per Cent Of It To Refinance Their Debts. Other Uses Made

A total of $111,300 of Federal land bank and Land Bank Commissioner's farm mortgage loans was made in Randolph County, North Carolina, from June 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934, according to the Farm Credit Administration.

Of this total, farmers in Randolph county used approximately $96,400, or 86.6 per cent to refinance their indebtedness. By refinancing, farmers obtained new mortgage loans which they used to repay their old debts. They generally reduced their annual interest charges in doing so. In a number of cases, scale-downs of indebtedness occurred in connection with the new loans. These and other advantages benefited farmers primarily. Secondly, creditors benefited from the receipt of cash or bonds in exchange for obligations they held.

Of the loan money used by farmers in Randolph county for refinancing their debts, about $34,900, it was estimated, repaid their debts to banks; $5,200, their debts to insurance companies; $2,800, their taxes; $300, their debts to merchants; $53,200, their debts to "others," or creditors not separately classified, including private mortgage lenders, mortgage loan companies, retired farmers and many others to whom farmers were in debt.

A total of about $14,900 of loans in the county was used for purposes other than the refinancing of borrowers' debts. Of this sum, $11,500 was used for the purchase of land and equipment, the construction or improvement of buildings, and for general agricultural uses, including the provision of capital, while $3,400, the balance, was used for the purchase of stock in national farm loan associations, for loan fees, etc.

Throughout the United States approximately $675,000,000 of land bank and Commissioner's loans were made from June 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934. Most of these loans were made to refinance debts resulting from the new than on the old loans. Land bank loans made through national farm loan associations carry an interest rate of 5 per cent, but there is a reduction to 4 1/2 per cent until July, 1938. Loans made direct by banks carry a rate of 5 1/2 per cent, but there is a reduction to 5 per cent until 1938. The rate on Commissioner's loans is 5 per cent. Against these rates farmers in most cases had been paying from 5 per cent to 8 per cent, but on numerous loans they had been paying 9 per cent, 10 per cent, and even above 10 per cent.

Until March 26 the land bank and Commissioner's loans were made in cash. Commencing on that date they were made mainly in the government-guaranteed bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation. These bonds are exempt from all Federal, state, municipal and local taxation, except surtaxes, estate, inheritance and gift taxes. They are guaranteed fully as to principal and interest by the United States government. In a relatively short period after they were issued, they sold above par and had met a favorable reception from farmers and their creditors all over the United States. With the use of these bonds, the refinancing program is going forward rapidly.
