

ISSUED WEEKLY
VOLUME LVIII

PRINCIPLES, NOT MEN

$2.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

ASHEBORO, N. C. THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1934

NUMBER 34

Rotarians Host Friends This Week; F. H. Jeter Speaker

Local Group Of Business Men Will Share Well Known Speaker With Friends
J. D. Ross, Chairman
Programs For Fall Include Past Presidents In Charge Of One Meeting Each

The Asheboro Rotary Club are playing the role of hosts to a large number of friends at the meeting this week, which will be at the usual time, Friday noon, held at the Methodist Protestant church. J. D. Ross, chairman of the program committee for this meeting, states that the purpose of the meeting is primarily designed to create a better understanding between the business men of Asheboro and their friends in the rural sections of Randolph.

Frank Jeter, of State College, Raleigh, will speak at this meeting and his subject will be "A Better Understanding Between Business Men in Town and Country." It is pointed out that problems are similar of the two groups and the various view points of the two are desired. Each member of the club, therefore, has invited one or more guests for this occasion, which will be of considerable future profit to both. There will probably be additional brief speeches by others of the hosts and visitors.

It is expected that there will be around thirty-six guests, with as many members of the local club. Mr. Jeter is the only out-of-county speaker invited especially for this meeting, and he is well suited as a speaker for such a meeting being widely experienced along these lines.

The meetings of this group of business men have been unusually interesting. It was the plan of the president, Charles McCrary, to have each past president of the club plan and execute a program during the year. This plan started a short time ago with Arthur Ross, first president of the organization staging a splendid historical meeting. At that meeting, Frank McDowell gave an interesting historical sketch of Randolph, which drew forth a roundtable discussion afterward. From time to time, each president will present a program. This meeting will not count as the first of the program for J. D. Ross, but is a special guest-meeting of the organization of which Mr. Ross was chosen chairman of a committee to plan for the meeting.

It is the hope of the Rotarians that meetings such as these planned by the presidents, and similar to the one in progress for Friday of this week, will result in material progress for future Asheboro and Randolph county as well. The branching out of this group of business men to their friends and neighbors is typical of the organization which is designed primarily for just such a purpose as the motive of the meeting set for Friday.

Dr. Griffin To Locate Here

Dr. H. L. Griffin expects to locate in Asheboro within the next few days for the practice of his profession. Dr. Griffin has been practicing in Star for the past eight years. He will do general practice and minor surgery.

Various Churches Active This Week At Central Falls

Revival Meeting At Gravel Hill Commenced; Bible Study Course Is Closed

Enjoy Amos Barbecue

Social Features of Churches and Civic Groups Make Past Week Interesting

Central Falls, Aug. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie York, of Greensboro, passed the week end with Mr. York's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. York. Miss Annie Mae Beane, of Asheboro, who was until recently a resident of Central Falls spent the week end with relatives and friends here.

Colon York was the guest of Jack Bray at Ramseur Friday night. Mrs. W. H. Fields and children, of Greenville, returned to their home Tuesday after visiting relatives here for some time. Misses Pauline and Marie York, of Portsmouth, Va., have returned to their home after visiting relatives for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Frennell and Miss Vera Fields visited relatives in Siler City the past week end. New pulpit chairs have been donated to the Methodist church. These chairs are very appropriate for the size of the church and lend dignity to the auditorium. The choir platform has recently been provided with a rail and curtain. This adds greatly to the appearance. It is hoped that in the near future, sufficient money can be raised to repaint the church and furnish aisle and pulpit carpets. There has been talk of installing a new heating plant due to the fact that the one previously used has

Hyde Park Children Gets Smiles

President Roosevelt is all smiles as he responds to the greeting of some children who welcomed him upon his arrival at his Hyde Park, N. Y. home. The president plans to use his home as a "summer White House" for a 30-day stay.

First Grade Enrollment Necessary For Entrance

Smallest Car In World Bought By Local Druggist

Roy Reeves, proprietor of Reeves Pharmacy, was the center of attraction Wednesday morning as he rode through the streets of Asheboro in a six-foot red racer. Not only the children of the town, but grown-ups as well, followed in the wake of this unique car which was purchased by Mr. Reeves.

The car is a National Junior automobile and is truly a "wee pocket edition," that will run 60 miles on a gallon of gas. The tires are 12.75 by 2 1/2 balloon type. The seat is upholstered in a contrasting shade of leather and surprisingly comfortable.

Howard Delmar, is salesman-demonstrator from the National Sales Company, distributors for this little car, and was close by to answer questions and explain the workings of it to interested spectators.

Mr. Reeves plans to use this car as a Christmas present from his place of business, the plan for which will be announced later.

Criminal Court To Convene Monday For Week's Term Here

Randolph county superior court will convene in Asheboro on Monday, September 3rd for the trial of criminal cases. Judge A. M. Stack, of Monroe, will preside and Hon. Zeb V. Long, solicitor, will prosecute the docket.

This is an unusually heavy docket with several manslaughter cases that may turn into murder charges. Automobile theft alleged in members are also awaiting trial in the Randolph county jail, as are a large number of other inmates of the local bastille.

This is the regular September term of court, but is heavier than it has been for several terms of court. Judge Stack is supplying in this district for Judge Michael Schenck, who was appointed to the Supreme court bench. Solicitor Long is also well known in this district and will probably dispatch the trial of the numerous cases with speed and soon clear the congested docket.

Zone Number Three Missionary Society To Meet At Ramseur

Zone number three of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society will hold an all-day meeting at the Ramseur Methodist church on Tuesday, September 4th. Mrs. E. F. Brittain, of Asheboro, zone chairman, announces that the meeting will begin at 10:30 o'clock and will also hold an afternoon session. The Ramseur society will be hostesses at the noon luncheon.

State Women Stage Spirited Fight As Vacancies Named

Two Women Named To Fill Vacancies After Third Ballot; Victors' Margins Close

J. W. Winborne, Chm.
Women Demand Equal Representation in Political Matters According To Party Rules

In the most spirited fight for party honors since women began voting in this state in 1920, the State Democratic Executive Committee named women to fill vacancies left by resignations when they met in Raleigh Monday night. Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton, won by a slight margin to fill the vacancy as national committeewoman filled by Mrs. Palmer Jetman and Mrs. C. W. Tillett, Jr., of Charlotte was named State vice-chairman. Chairman J. Wallace Winborne, of Marion, was reelected unanimously. A state secretary will be named at a later date by the chairman.

Both of the new women party officials are from the western half of the State, as are both Chairman Winborne and National Committeewoman C. L. Shuping of the State. Candidates put forward by the east ran close races.

Mrs. Tillett defeated Miss Ethel Parker of Gates county by the vote of 69 to 60.

Miss Cobb was victor in a four-cornered race, winning on the third ballot over Mrs. Marshall Williams of Faison, 68 to 58. On the second ballot, Miss Mary F. Henderson of Chapel Hill, who received 31 votes, withdrew. Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylvia was the other contestant.

Governor Ehringhaus addressed the committee, holding its first meeting since its selection at the State Convention here in June.

Close Vote
Mrs. Tillett, nominated by Louise Alexander, of Greensboro, as a "woman who has known politics longer than she had known herself," went into office on the strength of a well-organized campaign. For her, seven speeches were made.

Miss Parker was nominated by Judge J. B. Manning of Raleigh.

Mrs. Tillett was named vice chairwoman to fill the vacancy when Mrs. Jetman resigned.

German, holds a federal office—leads the state welfare work—therefore she cannot hold a political office.

The fact that women are demanding equal political representation was not a secret at the Raleigh meeting, and was referred to openly. Mrs. O'Berry, in her farewell speech, pointed out that three districts in the state did not give equal representation to women, as called for by the new party rules.

General Regret Felt Throughout The State At Jeffress' Illness

General regret is expressed throughout the entire state over the critical illness of Edwin E. Jeffress, chairman of the state highway commission and president of the Greensboro News company. Mr. Jeffress suffered a stroke of paralysis of the left side while shaving on Sunday morning at his home on Country Club Drive in Greensboro.

Dr. Ralph Dees, of Greensboro and Dr. Albert Ayles, of Duke Hospital, kidney specialist who attended Mr. Jeffress in his illness a year ago, report that his condition is slightly improved. While he is suffering from hemiplegia, commonly known as paralysis, the type usually recurs in fatal form. The doctors, however, state that this is not always the case and that he has a fighting chance.

Bibb House History Graphically Traced By Trinity Writer

Days When Man's Mind Were Centered On Finding Gold Told By Rose Johnson

Special Meeting Soon
Children Of Village Turn Their Eyes Toward Old Trinity Campus As Sept. Nears

Trinity, Aug. 27.—The shades of the past would not recognize the house on North Main known by some few now, as the old Bibb place. It looks like it had just stepped out of the bandbox. Some may not know why this place is called the Bibb place yet, and by others as the Lineberry house, but there is a reason nevertheless, which dives somewhat into the past. Some eighty years ago, more or less, this pretty house now owned and kept up, and known as the June Royal place, was a tract of land reaching east and north for quite a distance and knew nothing at that time of soil erosion.

Sometimes before the great gold rush to California, a man by name of Foster from one of the New England states, was walking over the country about here, prospecting. He fell in love with this part of our town, and bought some fifteen acres more or less, from Joseph Johnson, one of the pioneer land owners of the place now known as Trinity. This man Foster soon after acquiring this property was seen by different ones passing to be digging in the ground and examining the soil in an easterly direction. He had by this time put up a little log house just about where a house stands today. Well, this man Foster did not find much, if any gold, and finally sold the place to Hammet Harris, who built a commodious house for that day and time but did not seem to prosper and finally sold out to the Rev. R. P. Bibb, a Methodist preacher who lived there for quite a while and then the old house came in possession of Logan Lineberry who bought it from Judge E. T. Boykin, of Clinton, a stepson of Rev. R. P. Bibb. Logan Lineberry built a more modern house on the same site, looked closely where the precious metal might lurk, and sold to Nance Elder, who finally sold out bag and baggage to one June Royals, who was the place gold mine and all.

As September draws near the children of Randolph will be gathering on the old campus where for eighty years they have gathered, and played and laughed, and done some studying on the side.

The protracted meeting at the Methodist church, will begin before long. Rev. Mr. Williams, the pastor, will preach and he will need very

(Please turn to page 8)

Many Improvements Show Upward Trend Of Fall Business

One of the best indications of the upgrade of business is the starting up of new places of business and the improvements made in business and home conditions. White Hall Service station, located at the intersection of two main highways, 70 and 77, six miles north of Asheboro, has recently changed hands and made remarkable improvements. The Service station has been repainted and remodeled and a large dining room added. The main dining room is attractive with a color motif of jade green and sun-yellow with six or eight tables to accommodate diners who have already found the charm of the chicken dinners obtainable at this place. There are also private dining alcoves in addition to the main room.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Grooms have leased the place from the former owners. Mr. Grooms was for a number of years connected with the Standard Oil company in the construction department, which fits him admirably for his new business.

Mr. White is getting his "ducks in a row" for school opening early in September. Bus routes are being

(Please turn to page 4)

Asheboro Furniture Dealer Opens Store In Neighboring City

W. P. Amos Opens Store In Randleman Saturday; Son To Manage New Store

W. P. Amos, owner and manager of Amos Furniture Company, of this city, announces the opening of a furniture store in Randleman, on Saturday morning, September 1st, at 9 o'clock. W. P. Amos, Jr., who has been associated with his father in the furniture business in Asheboro, will be in charge of the new store in Randleman. Mr. Amos expects to carry a complete line of furniture and house furnishings of the same high class quality as that carried in the Asheboro store. The store in Randleman will occupy the new building which has recently been completed opposite the Randleman Drug Company on the Main street of the town.

Mr. Amos bought out the Fox Furniture Company, one of the oldest establishments in the town and came to Asheboro in March 1932. Prior to coming here, Mr. Amos was in the furniture business in Kinston. This furniture man, having been in the business for more than twenty-five years, therefore, the slogan, "Amos Knows His Furniture," is warranted.

Revival At Charlotte
The annual revival will begin at Charlotte M. P. church next Sunday. Services at 11 a. m. Lunch on the grounds, and service again at 2 p. m. Every one is welcome.—R. L. Hethcox, pastor.

Miss Caroline Page is visiting friends in Rockingham for a week.

Double Funeral Arranged For Asheboro Brothers

Special Edition In Cooperation With Baptists

The members of the congregation of the Asheboro Baptist church expect to go into their handsome new church on Sunday, September 16th after almost a year without a place of regular worship since the burning of their church. They have, for several months, worshipped in the Sunset Theatre but will soon be able to enjoy the privilege of a church of their own again.

In celebration of this occasion, The Courier, at the request of and in cooperation with Dr. Herman Stevens, pastor of the Asheboro church, will issue a special edition. This special edition will appear on Thursday, September 13 and will be in the form of a congratulatory number in which many of the business concerns of the town and county will join.

The issue will not be composed exclusively of advertising, however, for a general history of the denomination will also be included. A sketch of the Asheboro church and its pastors will be an interesting part of the historical section. Every Baptist minister in the county has been asked to furnish a brief sketch of his church and of himself, all of which will go to make a valuable edition for those interested in county and church history.

$8,000 In Stock Is Sold At Ramseur By Atty. Robins

Several Social Functions Feature The Week And Prove Of General Interest

Plans School Opening

Pleasant Ridge Annual Meeting Draws Many Former Residents Of This Section

Ramseur, Aug. 29.—Hammert enjoyed the novelty of a stock sale Friday when some $8,000 worth of stocks were sold by H. M. Robbins at the bank building. Some of the stock in Ramseur enterprises, drug store brought two for one, while some sold for one-fifth par. A bank account was sold at one per cent of par. Times do change, less than five years ago the bank sold two for one and drug stocks weren't so hot.

A. W. Craven has been laid up a few days with an infected foot which threatened blood poison, but we are glad to say was avoided by quick treatment and is recovering nicely.

Many familiar faces were seen from the porch of "My House by the Side of the Road" Sunday when the folks returned from Pleasant Ridge annual meeting.

If all the folks of Greensboro and High Point who once lived in this part of Randolph, should come all at once and stay over night, it would help the grocery business for somebody.

Mr. White is getting his "ducks in a row" for school opening early in September. Bus routes are being

(Please turn to page 4)

U. D. C. Will Hold First Fall Meeting Tuesday, Sept. 4th

Mrs. W. C. Hammond, president of the Randolph chapter U. D. C., announces that the first fall meeting of this organization will be held on Tuesday, September 4th. At this time, fall plans will be made and activities for the fall and winter season will be put under way.

Grant Robins Dies At Home Of Son In Asheboro While Brother Dies In High Point

First Double Service In County For Years

Services Will Be Held At West Bend Church at 4:00 P. M. Where Both Members

Randolph county's first double funeral, at least for many years, will be held at West Bend church, on highway 62, on Thursday afternoon for two brothers, life-long residents of Asheboro. Jess Pugh, funeral director of Asheboro, will have charge of this unusual service which will be held at 4:00 P. M. by Rev. F. R. Cooper and Rev. Mrs. Fulp, both of Asheboro.

Quite extraordinary were the circumstances centering around the deaths of two brothers, life-long residents of Asheboro, Grant and Frank Robins. Grant Robins died at the home of his son, Vander Robins, in Dogwood Acres on Tuesday morning after an illness of two weeks with a heart ailment. He was 64 years old.

Frank Robins, 66, died suddenly from a heart attack, Tuesday afternoon in High Point, a few hours after the death of his brother, Grant Robins, had occurred in Asheboro. Mr. Robins and his wife had gone to High Point on Saturday for a visit to some of his wife's relatives. He had gone for a walk rather than accompany his wife on a shopping trip and was seen to sit down on the steps of a vacant house, in a few minutes observers saw him drop over. An ambulance was called, but he had died instantly from a heart attack.

Grant Robins is survived by two sons, Vander and Dolph, both of Asheboro. Frank Robins is survived by his wife and three sons, Claud, Nathan and Luther, all of Asheboro, and one daughter, Mrs. Will Ledwell, also of Asheboro.

Both brothers were members of the West Bend church which will probably be filled to its capacity for this double funeral which will, quite naturally, add interest to the occasion when these well known men are interred. Interment will follow in the family plot in the church cemetery.

U. D. C. Will Hold First Fall Meeting Tuesday, Sept. 4th

Mrs. W. C. Hammond, president of the Randolph chapter U. D. C., announces that the first fall meeting of this organization will be held on Tuesday, September 4th. At this time, fall plans will be made and activities for the fall and winter season will be put under way.

Delegates will also be named at this meeting to attend the state meeting to be held at Chapel Hill on October 10th and 11th. Mrs. Hammond urges a full attendance at this meeting. The members will be notified by telephone where the meeting will be held as soon as this is settled.

Friends Pay Honor To Mrs. L. M. Curtis On Her Birthday

Many Friends Meet And Enjoy Fellowship After Sumptuous Dinner At Franklinville

Miss Julian Better

Other Personal Items Of Interest To People In This Section Randolph County

Franklinville, Aug. 28.—Misses Esther and Golda Moffitt, of Randleman, spent the past week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moffitt.

Tate Welch, of Ramseur, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Welch.

Miss Katherine Julian, who underwent an operation at Randolph hospital, Asheboro, Tuesday afternoon is getting along very nicely.

Asheboro Woman's Club Plans First Fall Meeting Wednesday, Sept. 5th

The Asheboro Woman's Club will hold the first meeting of the fall on Wednesday afternoon, September 5th, at the home of Mrs. L. F. Ross. Mrs. Albert Parrish, Mrs. J. G. Prevett and Mrs. Arthur Presnell will be associate hostesses with Mrs. Ross. The meeting will be in charge of the educational department whose activities will begin in earnest with the beginning of school.

Another interesting feature for this meeting which will prove even more beneficial later in the season will be the assembling of the canned vegetables for school lunches. Each member of the educational department was asked to can at least a quart of some vegetable or soup mixture for the supplementary school lunches for undernourished children during the winter months. The members are asked to bring these cans to Mrs. Ross' home at this first meeting so that plans may be made for the work. There is no more important work of the club than this