salary of $25,000.00 a year to destroy Mr. Hoover and his administration.

Mr. Jonas criticized the North Carolina Highway Commission asking for an increase of two million dollars, part of which he said would go to raise the salaries of state employees. He was in favor of paying school teachers a respectable salary, and deplored the fact that they were expecting to be paid off in script and due bills. He advocated paying the school teachers their salaries and if script must be used give it to the political office holders.

Mr. Jonas, who is a candidate for the Legislature this year in Lincoln county, pledged his vote against the sales tax. He described the sales tax as a poor man's tax, stating that housewives who bought 10 cent worth of goods paid a 10 per cent tax, while the rich man who buys a Pierce Arrow pays 1-5 of 1 per cent. He also pledged himself to the retention of the Turlington Act, and criticized the Democratic party for permitting their children and young people who belonged to the Young Democratic Club passing a resolution at their Asheville meeting favoring modification of the Turlington Act. He stated also that Governor Ehringhaus said that North Carolina was an economical governed state. The facts are that North Carolina had the second highest public debt of all the states in the Union and stood first in per capita indebtedness.

W. L. Ward, county chairman, presided over the meeting, who presented the local candidates, and H. S. Ragan, candidate for Legislature introduced the speaker. After Mr. Jonas spoke Hobart Morton, attorney from Albemarle, who was present, was called upon for a speech, and in a few words promised the people of Randolph that he would return later in the campaign to make some speeches.

Deaths

Lonnie L. Lowdermilk, native of Randolph county, but for some years past, a business man of High Point, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon in an automobile wreck near Kernersville. Another companion in the car was Leonard M. Oliver, who was killed and J. R. Griffin was seriously injured. The accident occurred on a curve, the car left the road, struck a tree and was almost completely demolished.

Mr. Lowdermilk is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Lowdermilk, of Asheboro. Some years ago he went to High Point where he has been prominently connected with a business firm of that city.

Funeral service was conducted at Yow's Chapel on Tuesday morning and burial followed in the High Point cemetery. Surviving are a brother, Clyde Lowdermilk, of Asheboro, and a sister, Mrs. W. I. Bowman, of Greensboro.

Mt. Lebanon Home Coming Day

Mr. Lebanon church will celebrate Home Coming Day on Sunday, October 21st. Preaching at the 11:00 o'clock hour will be by the pastor, Rev. Joel Trogdon followed by a picnic lunch at noon. In the afternoon, visitors will speak briefly. All members and former pastors of the church are cordially invited to attend. Special music will feature both services.

Mrs. Rosa To Lecture

The third of the lecture series on Child Psychology by Mrs. Bess Rosa will be held on Tuesday, October 23rd, at the Asheboro Baptist church. The topic for this lecture will be "Reward and Praise." The congregation of the Baptist church has graciously offered a permanent location in their church for these lectures during the year. All parents are invited to attend.

Chicken And Oyster Supper

A chicken supper and oyster stew will be held on Saturday night, October 20th, at the school house at Central Falls. This fete will be for the benefit of the Central Falls M. E. Church. The public is invited to attend.

Improving Grocery Store
Buck's Cash Grocery, a new store opened on South Fayetteville street last month, is now enlarging and redecorating the interior. The partition in the back of the store has been removed this week, making the store twice the former size, and new shelves installed. A coat of cream and black paint further adds to the attractiveness of the store which is new and modern throughout, with a stock of fresh groceries.

Singing Convention

The 21st singing convention of Coleridge township will be held at Concord M. E. church in Coleridge on Sunday, November 4th, beginning at one o'clock p. m. All the township singers are requested to be present at this convention. Visiting choirs are expected from Asheboro, High Point, Ramseur and Hemp. Everybody is invited to come and take part in this convention. T. A. COX, President, MADGE CRAVEN, Secretary.

Week End Guests

Miss Lucy Clyde Ross, student at High Point College, High Point, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Ross the past week end. She was accompanied home by two of her classmates, Miss Jo Williamson, of Thomasville, and Miss Rebecca Kearns, of Lumberton.

M. Bloom Returns

M. Bloom returned Tuesday from a month's visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Bloom, in Baltimore, Md. Mr. Bloom was injured in an automobile wreck three months ago and was a patient in Rex hospital, Raleigh, for two months before going to visit his parents and have special treatment in Baltimore. Mr. Bloom was injured in his back but is much improved. Mrs. Bloom went to Baltimore for the week end and to accompany Mr. Bloom home.

Reemployment Office Active

A large number of people are availing themselves of the opportunity to register at the National Reemployment Service branch office which District Manager, Wade Renfrow recently opened here for the convenience of Randolph county people, who had been going to High Point during the period when there was no registrar here.

GETS A GOOD PRICE FOR HIS TOBACCO

Harvey Bennett, young farmer from the Seagrove section, was in Asheboro Wednesday returning from Winston-Salem where he sold his crop of tobacco. Mr. Bennett took 604 pounds of tobacco to the market and received a check for $272.55 for his load. There were six grades of tobacco in the load averaging 46 1-2 cents per pound. Mr. Bennett was accompanied to the market by his father, Jerry Bennett, also of Seagrove.

Pugh And Lineberry Reunion

The eighth annual reunion of the Pugh and Lineberry families will be held at Gray's Chapel M. P. church on the Liberty-Asheboro highway at 11 o'clock, Sunday, October 21. The main address will be delivered at the 11 o'clock session which will be immediately followed by a short business meeting. At 12:30 o'clock the annual picnic dinner will be served on the church lawn. The afternoon will be given over to a social hour and a musical program.
