Miss Dix, retiring as she was by nature, appealed to the legislature of North Carolina so strongly that Dix Hill is the result. Many institutions of like character throughout the United States were started as a result of her efforts for aiding unfortunate, coupled with her educational methods. The talk was not only unusual and interesting in topic, but given in a most delightfully informal manner. Mrs. Smith held her listeners for an hour with this thrilling sketch of Miss Dix.

Mrs. Tillett Made Advisor Of Second District Democrats

Mrs. Charles W. Tillett, Jr., vice chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has been appointed Advisor of the Second District which comprises the southeastern states. This announcement was made at National Democratic Headquarters this week.

"North Carolina's Women's Division has an enviable record," said Miss Mary Dewson, National Director of the women's division, in making this appointment. "North Carolina has more women at work under the reporter plan than any state in the union," said Mrs. James H. Wolfe, assistant director of the women's division.

North Carolina also has the unique distinction of holding the first institute for Democratic women. It has held two with an attendance of three hundred women at each institute. North Carolina is the first state to have every county vice chairman a subscriber to the Democratic Digest. All these things in which North Carolina's women's division has taken the lead will be carried into every state in the union.

U. S. Civil Service Issues Warning On Wrong Information

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The United States Civil Service Commission says that numerous letters received at its office from different parts of the county indicate that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil-service examinations.

To guard against the loss of money paid for tuition of this kind the Civil Service Commission informs the public as follows: No one can promise appointments to positions for which the United States Civil Service Commission holds examinations. The claim that such assurance can be given brands the person making it as a fraud.

Information regarding examinations for the United States Civil Service may be obtained from the boards of United States Civil Service Examiners. There is such a board in each community which has a post office of the first or of the second class. In nearly all cities the civil service board is located at the post office.

Before paying money for tuition, or signing a contract, it is advisable to make inquiry concerning the prospect of examinations. There is reason to believe that agents of some schools deceive the public as to the probability of early examinations.

No school has advance information regarding the need for employees or the probability of examinations.

Card Of Thanks
We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their many deeds of kindness and sympathy, shown us during the illness and death of our dear husband and father.—Mrs. G. C. Brooks and family. Staley, N. C.
