

NEWS CONDENSED OF State and Nation

London, March 27.—Prime Minister Ramsey MacDonald emphatically assured the House of Commons today that the Treaty of Versailles was still in force, despite Germany's Conscriptio order.

New York, March 27.—Rumors that the Belcher case, regarded as the government's strongest test involving the constitutionality of the N. R. A. and all new deal legislation would be dropped, were confirmed today.

Raleigh, March 27.—The legislature today ratified into law a bill legalizing beer and malt beverages containing 5 per cent alcoholic content in North Carolina.

Washington, D. C., March 27.—Rexford Guy Tugwell, Under-Secretary of Agriculture, is virtually assured of what may become the most important administrative position in the new relief work organization, it developed today when it became known that President Roosevelt planned to place under his control the whole land use program, including rural rehabilitation, soil erosion work, sub-marginal land activities and perhaps the Mississippi Valley development.

Berlin, Germany, March 25.—The eyes of the world turned toward a Berlin where four powerful men from as many nations met in discussion of dealing with the German arms crisis. The men participating were Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary; Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Great Britain; Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, of France, and Under-Secretary of the state Fulvio Surcich, of Italy.

Shelby, March 25.—People in Shelby were shown a hatful of hailstones averaging an inch and a half in diameter that were picked up 19 miles out of Shelby on Monday. Roy McBrayer, Shelby insurance man, picked up the hailstones and drove to Shelby where the hailstones were intact two hours later at the office of a notary public.

Concord, Mass., March 26.—Gold leaf valued at more than $500 was stolen from the towering steeple and the four clock faces of the historic First Parish Unitarian church. A man called upon a committee with the plausible tale that he had been sent by his firm to inspect the leaf and report its condition. He examined the steeple and advised the committee that the job was standing up well, but that a fussy patching job was needed at one spot. He was told to do the job and the next week spent several days putting about the steeple. He went off without reporting to the committee, and when they asked the company for a bill the theft was revealed. Investigation showed that gold paint, already turning a grayish green, had been substituted for the gold leaf.

London, March 27.—A report from London relates how Victor Jourado, a London lapidary and antique dealer, possesses the secret of making synthetic diamonds. An old man, says Jourado, who is guarded day and night, is turning out brilliant diamonds under the very noses of the diamond magnates and their syndicates that they cannot distinguish from real. Mr. Jourado told a reporter of how a dealer approached him with the synthetic stone with which he "cut the glass window like butter." Jourado then bought the exclusive rights for the world which will turn out imitations of L 100,000 diamonds for L 15,000. It is further stated in the report that jewelers feel no love for the old man who possesses the secret nor more for the purchaser of the world rights.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 25.—It was decided Monday that after hearing all local witnesses in the Andrew Mellon income tax hearing case, to move the case to New York, then possibly to Washington, to complete the taking of testimony. Robert H. Jackson, chief government counsel, warns formally all business men inclined to abuse the privileges the law accords them.

Lambert's Attend Celebration Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lambert and daughter, Rose Marie; Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lambert and children, Cary M. and Virginia; and Miss Massa E. Asheboro Rotarians Will Sponsor Play For Crippled Children Play, "The World's All Right," Will Be Presented April 8th And 9th At Capitol.

The Asheboro Rotary Club will sponsor a musical show, "The World's All Right" which is today going into rehearsal among the talented actors of the town. The reason for presenting this show is to raise funds for the furtherance of the work among crippled children of Randolph started by the Rotarians some months ago. Several children are now having treatment and braces and funds to carry on this splendid work are necessary.

The club, therefore, decided to combine business and pleasure and stage this charming musical show for the pleasure of the public and for the profit of crippled children. The show is built around a clever plot revealing the troubles of a radio station announcer and how his dumb office boy led him through the deep waters.

Many well known citizens are taking part in this show. The cast includes Red Underwood, Bobby Gene Truesdale, Sidney Truesdale, E. O. Schaefer, Elwood Rhein, Guy Purvis, Tom Truesdale, Russell Parks and others who will be announced later. The play will be presented at the Capitol theatre on Monday and Tuesday, April 8th and 9th.

Quarterly Meeting

Many Social Happenings In Ramsour During The Week; Personal Items Of Interest

Ramsour, March 26.—In spite of the rain Sunday night several people gathered at the Methodist church to hear Rev. J. M. Page, of Raleigh, deliver a message on "Temperance, and some of the political propaganda of today. His plea was for citizens who are personally dry, politically dry, prayerfully dry, militantly dry, using many illustrations to make plain the attitude temperance folks ought to have. Numerous facts were given that put quite a different slant on the situation from that seen in the press usually. Rev. Mr. Page has been here a number of times before and always has an interested audience.

Rev. L. D. Thompson held Quarterly Conference here Sunday morning, after delivering a fine sermon. Good reports were made for the Greensboro district and the outlook is good for the remainder of the year.

Advisory Board, Meeting Friday, Names Cranford To Represent Local Welfare Unit

Mrs. Craven Added

Advisory Board Adds Mrs. I. F. Craven, Of Ramseur, As 7th Member Of Group.

Naming C. C. Cranford as chairman and member from the Randolph unit to serve on the district advisory board, the Randolph advisory board met Friday, March 22, with Mrs. Drake, head of case workers, in charge. A seventh member of the advisory board, Mrs. Fletcher Craven, of Ramseur, was named. At this meeting the Medical advisory board, composed of D. B. McCrary, Dr. Gregg and Dempsey Barnes, was appointed.

The advisory board was named several days ago and is composed of the following, who represent various sections of the county; C. C. Cranford, Asheboro, H. L. Ragan, Archdale; Ernest Kearns, Asheboro, route 2, Dr. C. D. Kistler, Randleman; Herman Cranford, Asheboro, Russell Parks, Asheboro, and the new member, Mrs. Fletcher Craven of Ramseur.

The purpose of the board is to act as an intermediary between officers and the community, enabling the workers to serve the communities' needs in a more efficient manner.

This district is composed of Randolph, Guilford, and Rockingham counties.

Relief families in Randolph have received 33 mules and eight mares to date. The distribution of these animals is to aid families who have been receiving direct relief funds to help themselves. It is now possible for Mrs. Drake's office to dispense commodities to the county welfare office. Canned milk, hamburger, soup and canned kraut are among the items listed. This food will materially aid the county work that three 75 destitute families directly on the county with no provisions for their support.

This work will necessarily come under the county budget later but at the present, there are no provisions for its financing.

Recently a sewing room was opened in Randleman employing ten women and having Mrs. Ralph B. Russell in charge. Mrs. Grady Ridge is in charge of the Asheboro sewing room with thirteen other women employed. Plans are on foot to open others in this county but at the present no authentic information is available.

Final House Vote Gives Sales Taxers Smashing Victory

Bill Passed To Senate Where Fight To Lower Sales Tax To 2 Per Cent Is Expected

To Finance Committee

Other Bills Before The Legislature Of Interest To People Of Randolph.

Raleigh, March 26.—The $62,000,000 biennial revenue bill, containing the three per cent exemptionless sales tax, was passed by the house and sent to the senate today. Final house action marked a smashing victory for the Ehringhaus administration and a complete rout of the McDonald-Lumpkin anti-sales tax forces in the lower branch.

Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham said that when the money bill came to the Senate he would immediately refer it to the senate finance committee where it is scheduled to be held for two days to allow hearings on sections changed in the house.

Senate leaders say that they expect a fight to lower the sales tax rate to two per cent or continue present exemptions of nine basic food articles.

McDonald and Lumpkin led the opposition to the three per cent sales tax, urging the house to give (Please turn to page 8)

Pre-School Clinic Will Commence In Randolph Schools

Dr. A. G. Gregg, county health officer, and Miss Elizabeth Pratt, public health nurse for the county, will on Monday, April 1st begin a round of the schools in Randolph in a pre-school clinic health program. The Parent-Teacher organizations in the various schools plan to cooperate with the county board of health in these plans and it is most important that every parent with children to enter school next fall plan to meet the doctor and prepare the children for entrance to school next fall.

This is a most important step for parents and the health department of the county is offering this examination free to children. Too much cannot be said of such a constructive program. Teeth, tonsils, lungs, etc., take care in advance of entrance to school, have a great bearing on the school life of children. Parents are urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Planting Program In Progress Throughout Town Of Ramseur

Ramseur, March 27.—One thing the Garden Clubs are partly responsible for is the interest shown in flowers and shrubbery in Ramseur.

The past few weeks the nursery people have placed some attractive settings about the homes of the town and on school and church grounds. Some fine shrubs indeed have been planted and this added attraction to the landscapes, is a sign of community pride of a harbinger of progress. In a few days the town looks forward to a general clean-up campaign and then as the warm days come the town will bloom with a great variety of summer flowers. It is fine for all the folks to join in this annual resurrection of plant life and cooperate with nature in making the world more beautiful. Let the good work go on. Make war on the wild onions and weeds and plant shrubs and flowers.

Bunch Valedictorian & Sister Salutatorian

Pre-School Clinic To Be Held In April; Highly Important Health Movement.

One of the most interesting announcements coming from the Asheboro school during this term was made from the office of Superintendent R. J. Hilker on Wednesday. This item concerned the scholarship records of the 1935 graduating class as follows:

W. A. Bunch, Jr., general average for four years in high school 95.1 per cent; Mary E. Bunch, 94.1; Sidney Truesdale, 92.2; Margaret Walton, 91.7; and Mary Rollins, 91.1.

W. A. Bunch, with the highest average, will deliver the valedictory address at commencement; and his sister, Mary E. Bunch, with the second highest, will deliver the salutatory.

Pre-School Clinic In April The Asheboro city schools, assisted by the local Parent-Teachers' association, are sponsoring an educational clinic to be held at the school building, some time in April, for children now under school age, who will be old enough to enter school next fall.

The clinic will be conducted by the county physician, Dr. Gregg, and the county nurse, Miss Pratt. Members of the Parent-Teachers' association will aid in giving out information to parents as to the date of clinic and in providing transportation for children.

Every child will be given a thorough physical examination, and his parents instructed concerning his chief defects and how they may be remedied. Instruction concerning proper nutrition and proper clothing for the child will also, be given. Suggestions will be offered concerning vacation activities for the summer months.

Other notices of the clinic will be published later.

School Rooms And Halls Painted The halls and classroom of the Asheboro city school building are being greatly improved by a coat of white paint. Painters working under an FERA project, are doing the work. When the men have completed the work on the Asheboro school building they will move on to other school buildings in the county that need touching up with paint.
