The Health Officer and Nurse during the month of June traveled 880 miles holding 116 clinics at fifty-two different places. 5100 doses of typhoid vaccine were given. We have given the complete typhoid treatment to 820 persons and partially completed to three times as many more. 382 children have been immunized against diphtheria. These are daily being added to as our clinics continue this month. 119 people have been vaccinated for small pox.

Randolph Superior Court To Convene Two Weeks' Session

On Monday, July 15th, a two week's term of court for the trial of civil cases will commence in Asheboro. This is the regular term of Superior court for Randolph county and is composed of cases that will probably not arouse a great deal of interest, involving no great sums of money or property.

There are nine divorce cases slated for the opening morning which will probably be disposed of first of all. Judge John Clement will preside over the docket. Judge Clement has been in Asheboro several times to hold court and is greatly admired by many people in this section of the state.
The report that one week will be given over to the trial of criminal cases is not true and was probably started because of the fact that at one time recently a special term of criminal court was granted Randolph in July to clear a congested docket.

The order was good throughout the game and there were no casualties during the day, however late at night Will Spain, colored, of Asheboro and Danville was run over and suffered a fractured skull, dying the next day at Randolph hospital. The accident occurred near the town limits in West Ramseur. The driver of the death car failed to stop, but passersby picked the victim up and took him to the hospital. The attendance at the celebration of the fourth of July at Central Service station was a record breaker at night, especially. The barbecue and the motion picture attracted about all the folks that could find a place to crowd into the space and along the highway.

National Chair Co. Congratulated Upon 2 Progressive Years

As the National Chair company celebrates the close of their second year of business, a comparative look backward is of interest to Asheboro and Randolph county. On July 1st, two years ago, W. C. Lucas assumed management of the plant, which is owned by C. C. Cranford. During the two years Mr. Lucas has added new machinery and made extensive additions to the buildings.

Two years ago this enterprise employed thirty men, with a limited number of items in the out-put of the factory. Now, approximately one hundred and fifty employees are on the payroll.
In addition to new machinery, the limited number of items made by the plant have been expanded with a large selection of popular numbers, all of which secures a steady year-round company with a large, steady payroll which touches every business house in the town in a substantial way.

The Courier would like to extend good wishes for continued expansion and progress to the National Chair Company.

Randolph County Fair Officials Urge Farmers To Plan Exhibits Now

Make Hay While The Sun Shines Is Admonition To County Folk In Lieu Of Fair.

While the weather does not indicate that Randolph county fair-time is not far distant, W. A. Bunch, secretary of the association, reminds us that now is the time to plan for a good agricultural exhibit. As the fair officials phrase it, "work the pumpkins and pray for rain" so the Randolph county fair will be a complete success.

A cursory glance at the fair will reveal the fact that the exhibits in this county are far above the average display at most small fairs, and at much larger displays as well. Part of this success comes from early planning as well as cooperation at the fall season.

Already officials are beginning to plan about the exhibit building and how to make the exhibits more attractive than ever by adding novel features. A large show has been engaged for the midway and many early plans already set in motion. The dates are already announced now for September 24th through the 28th. Sometime ago it was decided to set the date of the local fair for the first week in October, but several reasons came up to warrant the change to the last week in September. Randolph folk are asked to take note of this change and make their plans accordingly.
