State, National and International Happenings Briefly Told

FEAR ARAB DISORDERS ARE REAL REBELLION

Jerusalem.—Observers of the guerrilla warfare that has been going on for 40 days between Arabs and Jews in Palestine have come to the conclusion that a well-organized rebellion is under way. Since April 15 there have been over 50 deaths and 150 persons injured. The casualties being about evenly divided between the two factions, though one Christian civilian and one British soldier have been killed and a number of police and soldiers hurt. The disorder started as a strike against Jewish immigration and sale of land to Jews, but has grown steadily worse despite the concentration of 3,000 soldiers, arrests of more than 600 persons, and practical martial law in central and southern Palestine.

NORMAN THOMAS GETS SOCIALIST NOMINATION

Cleveland.—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president in 1928 and 1932, was nominated again Monday by an overwhelming majority. Delegates staged an uproarious demonstration of approval, the climax coming when they carried Thomas on their shoulders to the platform for his acceptance speech, in which he made the statement that he had not spent a cent campaigning for nomination. George Nelson, a farmer and former Wisconsin assemblyman, was the unanimous choice for vice president.

HOUSTON AWAITS FLOODS AS WATERS RISE

Houston.—With rains of 12 inches reported in the watershed north and west of Houston, townspeople are preparing for water to enter the business district today. One man was drowned near Houston Monday, and six were trapped near Brownsville as floods blocked the roads behind them, but they are not believed to be in danger.

CANDIDATE ARE FILING CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Washington.—Many house members are already filing statements of their primary campaign expenses. Representative Bulwinkle submitted expenses of $435, and Representative Umstead shows expenditures of only $32.50.

SUPREME COURT DECLARES ANOTHER ACT ILLEGAL

Washington.—By a 5 to 4 decision Monday the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional another New Deal law, the 1934 municipal banking act designed to help cities and counties reduce their indebtedness through federal bankruptcy courts. As was the case with so many of the decisions unfavorable to the New Deal, the reason for considering this law invalid was that it violated states' rights. Objection to the law was started by a group of Texas bondholders who said that they were offered less than half the value of their bonds in a reorganization conducted under these bankruptcy proceedings.

TEXTILE MEN SEEK 100 PER CENT UNIFORMITY

Charlotte.—Leaders of the textile industry met in Charlotte Monday and worked out a plan to bring all textile mills into conformance with the wage and hour provisions of the former NRA code. With more than 90% of the industry already in line, members of the American Cotton Manufacturers association and the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc., expressed belief in their ability to win over the remainder by personal solicitation and by cooperation of manufacturers in all sections of the country.

EXPERIMENTS SHOW NEW USES FOR COTTON

Chapel Hill.—Dr. Frank A. Cameron, University of North Carolina chemist, said Monday that experiments he has been conducting over a period of several years to find new uses and a method of cheap production for cotton finally appear to be successful. His new method is to sow the cotton broadcast like wheat and to harvest it by mowing it a few inches from the ground. The seeds of this cotton will be used for oil, and the residue for alpha-cellulose, which can be obtained economically and for which there is a great demand.

FEDERAL AID SOUGHT AGAINST BLACK LEGION

Detroit.—Developments have been rapid in the investigation of Michigan's Black Legion, which is suspected of the murders of at least 50 men and the terrorizing of scores of others. The killing of Charles Poole, supposedly because he knew too much, started the police probe which has spread until Monday. Prosecutor McCrea declared that he would ask for federal aid. Michigan officials have added literature and members of the society which indicate membership of 125,000 and claim relationship to the Black Legion with the K. K. K. in its activities.

Cale K. Burgess Is Temperance Speaker At Ramseur Monday

Large Congregation Hears Forceful Speech By Well Known State Leader

Building Progresses

Ramseur Theatre Formally Opens Saturday Evening With Large Crowd

Ramseur, May 25.—Cale K. Burgess was at his best Sunday morning when he spoke to a large congregation here in the interest of temperance. Mr. Burgess, an attorney and layman of Raleigh, and one of North Carolina's strongest forces against liquor, brought a strong appeal for total abstinence and a strenuous campaign against the liquor evil, now, and until it is overthrown.

The speaker didn't bring a long list of statistics to prove his argument, but did give enough to show the increase of drinking since liquor is sold legally in some parts of the state.

The fact was emphasized that all drunkards begin drinking with the idea that an occasional drink will not hurt them, but the records show that three out of ten who drink at all, are destroyed, yet in the face of these known facts, a supposedly intelligent and professedly Christian people allow strong drinks to be sold legally and illegally when one million church members are enrolled on the state's church rolls.

A strong plea was made for an influence that would save this and future generations from the curse of alcohol.

The audience was convinced of the

McDonald Manager Answers Statement Of Hoey's Manager

William Armfield, 3rd, States That Facts Published Recently Vary Only Half Truths

Dr. McDonald Said To Have Led The House Fight Against Tax On Meals

William Armfield, III, manager of Dr. Ralph McDonald's campaign in Randolph county, in an interview with The Courier:

"As a result of the statement by J. V. Wilson, local attorney, in a recent issue of your paper, on Dr. McDonald's record on the sales tax I have looked into the matter and find Mr. Wilson's statements to be only part of the truth which often times is more misleading than complete misrepresentation of facts.

It is a matter of record and against the sales tax knowledge that this same Dr. McDonald led the fight in the last session of the legislature and did so in a very efficient manner. He was blocked, however, by the same crowd which is now trying to block him.

The facts in the matter are that after he saw the administration leaders had succeeded in passing a sales tax on foods and other necessities of life they included meals in cafes and hot dog stands so Dr. McDonald thought if the poor people were going to have to pay tax on their humble meals then the people frequenting hotels and high price dining rooms should also pay a similar tax."

Mr. Armfield states the facts in the (Please turn to page 5)

Total Poppy Day Sale Amounts To $192.00; Mrs. Burkhead Leads

According to Mrs. Fess Newsom, general chairman for the local American Legion Auxiliary sale of poppies on Saturday, 1822 poppies were sold. Serving with Mrs. Newsom on the committee was Mrs. I. D. Waggar and Mrs. Irvin Burrow.

The sale of the flowers netted $192.50 with special advertising amounting to $25.00, making a total of $217.50. Mrs. George Burkhead led the sales with Mrs. Rufus Routh winning second place. Mrs. L. C. Phillips won third place in the day's sales.

Several windows of the town were decorated for the occasion and attractive decorations in the business section of town. Mrs. Newsom is quite well pleased with the day's report, and wishes to express her appreciation for the cooperation from many sides.

TWO ASHEBORO MEN OFF TO AUTOMOBILE RACES

A. L. Brault, manager of the Motor Service company, left Tuesday for Chicago where he will look over some new shop equipment. Mr. Brault is especially interested in the races at Indianapolis. Mr. Brault has attended twenty-three of the twenty-six annual races. He is interested in a new type of shop equipment that will make valve work on modern automobiles what it should be. He has recently had his car equipped with a racing

Townsendites Bring Petitions

Newest move of supporters of the Townsend old age pension plan to gain support for their program came when a delegation of supporters from California trekked across country to Washington, D. C., to present Congressman Martin Smith of Washington and John Tolan of California, center, with petitions which they claimed were signed by more than 10,000,000 persons demanding enactment of the old age pension plan.

Teachers Have Gone Home After Closing Franklinville Term

Mrs. Peter Allred Seriously Ill; Temperance Day Observed At Local Churches

Franklinville, May 25.—Since the Franklinville school closed the teachers have returned to their respective homes. Miss Ruth Linberger to Gastonia; Miss Eunice Banks to Raleigh; Miss Sarah Hodgkin to Red Springs, and Miss Pearl Spencer to Siler City.

R. C. Fields has accepted a position in the Franklinville roller mill.

Mrs. Eva Black of Greensboro spent a few days last week here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Peter Allred who has been seriously ill for the past few days, was taken to High Point hospital Saturday afternoon where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

May 24 being temperance day for Randolph county, Prof. B. F. Brown of State college, Raleigh, delivered an address on the evils of alcohol at Franklinville Baptist church Sunday morning. His address was interesting, practical and clear of politics.

Several of our people attended memorial service at Gray's Chapel, Sunday.

Bankrupt Stock Is Sold To High Point Merchant On Monday

Harry Jacobs of High Point was high bidder Monday noon at the sale of the bankrupt stock of goods owned by Pearson Brothers, Asheboro merchants. The stock sold for $1775 plus the accounts. The stock of goods and fixtures were included in the sale price, according to J. T. Lambert, trustee for the Pearsons.

Pearson's store, a men's clothing store was closed about a month ago and properly advertised as to the sale of stock. Jacobs has operated in High Point for four years. He plans, however, during the sale to remain in Asheboro himself attending to the sale, which opens Friday.

It is now the plan of Mr. Jacobs to operate the store in Asheboro permanently.

Announce Birth Of Infant

Archaeological Society Of State To Begin Operations In Randolph In June

The Archaeological Society of North Carolina expects to begin an investigation of an area west of Asheboro about the middle of June. Dr. Douglas R. Hoge and a group of leaders were in Asheboro Saturday making the initial plans for the work.

Since organization three years ago, this society has been interested in tracing the former habitations of the Indians in this state and in examining various localities with a view to determine tribal movements.

Asheboro Folk Are Surprised Monday By Run-Away Auto

Ford V-8 Coach Parked In Front Of Bank Of Randolph Run Down Main Street

Does Little Damage

Strikes Covington-Prevost Grocery Store And Stops With Impact Against Wall

Spectators along Asheboro's main thoroughfare Monday noon were treated to the sight of an automobile traveling the highway unhampered by human control. For a time it seemed as if it might be a new radio-control experiment, but when the car drifted over to the left side of the street and bumped a truck, and then proceeded to carom off into the corner of the Covington-Prevost grocery store, it became evident that whether an experiment or not the trip was a decided failure.

Before long, however, the actual facts were disclosed. The car, a Ford V-8 coach belong to Fred Bingham, had been left parked in front of the Bank of Randolph. Mr. Bingham stated that he left the car in gear, and when the automobile immediately ahead moved off, his own car had nothing to stop it from rolling down the incline at that point.

The left front fender of the Ford was badly crumpled where it struck the brick wall of the grocery store, just missing the large plate glass window. Quite a crowd had gathered around the car as it blocked the sidewalk by the time Mr. Bingham found out where it had gone.

In the collision with the truck, belonging to J. E. Wood of Raleigh, the only damage was a slight denting of a fender and a cracked headlight on the truck. Wood went off without making any complaint.

Dr. J. T. Burrus To Speak In County For Dr. R. McDonald

From McDonald headquarters in Asheboro comes the announcement of several speaking engagements in behalf of that candidate. Dr. J. T. Burrus of High Point will be the speaker in several sections of this county.

According to William Armfield, 3rd, Dr. Burrus will speak at Trinity on Friday evening, May 29th; at Ramseur, Wednesday, June 3rd and at Asheboro, Thursday evening, June 4th. Mr. Armfield further states that an effort will be made to secure W. L. Lumpkin or some other well known person from the state headquarters to share the time with Dr. Burrus.

Dr. Burrus is well known in Randolph county where he has many friends. He is, perhaps, better known as a physician to his many patients in Randolph than as a politician although he was known to be a staunch opponent of the sales tax at the session of the legislature when he was a representative from Guilford county.

Tuberculosis Clinic In Randolph Reveals Caution Is Necessary

The Randolph county tuberculosis clinic conducted by Dr. George H. Sumner closed Saturday after examining 156 patients, 148 white and 8 colored. Positive reactions were found in 5 of the white cases and one colored, while one white case was questionable. Dr. Sumner also discovered that ten of those taking the tests had had the childhood type of tuberculosis, and sanatorium treatment was recommended for four of them.

Tuberculin tests were given to 34 white children, 18 of whom showed a positive reaction, and to 6 colored children, all of whom were positive.

Considering the results of the clinic as a whole, the percentage of those infected was held to be relatively small, since practically all of the patients had been in contact with tubercular persons.

Prominent Randolph Man Dies At Ramseur Home On Monday After Long Illness

Dr. C. S. Tate, Beloved Physician Of Old School, Dies At Daughter's Home

President Randolph Medical Society

Funeral Service Will Be Held Wednesday Afternoon At Ramseur Church

Dr. Charles Sidney Tate, well known and beloved physician of Randolph county died at his Ramseur home Monday afternoon after a prolonged illness. Dr. Tate, a native of Pender county, came to Randolph after he finished medical school at Baltimore in 1893. In those days Dr. Tate, as did other physicians, traveled to the homes of his patients on horseback, ministering to their physical needs. A physician of the old school, Dr. Tate continued his studies and kept well abreast of the times in his chosen line of work. He has served his county as coroner and on the board of health, which position he held at the time of his death. He was also at the time of his death, president of the Randolph county medical society. A member of the state medical society and his membership in the American Medical Association brought him in touch with many doctors of the outside, as well as modern methods of practice.

In his home town of Ramseur, he served on the school board and led an active life in the social, religious and civic affairs of his town. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, a steward of the Methodist church and teacher of the men's Bible class.

Dr. Tate was born in Pender county, near Burgaw, on December 17, 1868, a son of the late Mary Calvin and Thomas Hogan Tate, who was a Presbyterian minister. Receiving his early education in the schools of Pender, he attended the state University. Before going to the Baltimore Medical college, Dr. Tate taught school for a short time in his native county.

Marrying Miss Mary Ida Campbell, Dr. Tate established a home in Ramseur which he maintained until the death of his wife eight years ago. Since that time, he has lived with his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Graham and Dr. Graham. Mrs. Graham and another daughter, Mrs. John M. Foust of Mt. Vernon Springs, survive. One son, C. S. Tate, Jr., of Ramseur also survives.

Funeral service will be held at the Ramseur Methodist church of which he was a devoted and active member, Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Williams, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the service. Burial will follow in the Ramseur cemetery.

Few people in Randolph will be as generally missed as will Dr. Tate who did not confine his ministrations to the sick to his patients alone, for few of his friends were ever ill that the Doctor did not find a minute to run in with an armful of his lovely flowers which he grew with such care and success.

A Capital Columnist Gives An Opinion On N. C. Governor Fight

Drew Pearson, Veteran Washington Newspaperman, Advances Observation

Raleigh, May 25.—The eyes of the nation have turned to the campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor—to the fight between Clyde R. Hoey and Professor Ralph McDonald—writes Drew Pearson in the nationally syndicated newspaper column, Washington Merry-Go-Round.

What Democrats all over the country want to know, states Mr. Pearson, is whether or not Hoey can beat McDonald and thereby prevent in North Carolina the sort of thing that happened when Louisiana elected Long and Georgia elected Talmadge.

Mr. Pearson, veteran Washington newspaperman is considered one of the foremost political observers of the country. After a visit to North Carolina, during which he studied the political situation from the viewpoint of an outsider, he wrote in effect that the race in this state had narrowed down to a battle between Hoey and McDonald. He took the position that neither of the other candidates had much chance and, in fact, did not mention either of them by name in his article.

THREE LOCAL STORES TO OPERATE BY RECEIVER

Recent announcement reveals that the three grocery stores operated by Covington-Prevost in Asheboro are now being operated under a receiver. H. M. Robins, Asheboro attorney, has been named receiver for the firms which will continue to operate. Covington-Prevost, People's Store, and C. and P. Food Store in north Asheboro are the stores involved in the change. J. W. Prevost is acting as general manager of the three stores for the present and will continue to operate temporarily under receivership. At a later date, further details of the future management will be made public, but the stores will continue to operate.

Mrs. Fox At Home Mrs. L. M. Fox, who has recently had a serious operation at Randolph Hospital, has returned to her home on South Fayetteville street. Mrs. Fox's condition has been somewhat relieved by the operation.

Kendalls Expected

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kendall, of Santiago, Cuba, are expected the latter part of this week to visit Mr. Kendall's aunt, Mrs. Fannie McDaniel, on Asheboro route 3. Mr. and Mrs. Kendall are spending sometime in New York City and Boston before coming to Asheboro. Mr. Kendall is a former Asheboro boy graduating from the Asheboro high school in 1912. He is now president of the Foreign Banking company in Cuba, a branch of the Boston Banking Company of Boston.

Mrs. Fox At Home

Mrs. L. M. Fox, who has recently had a serious operation at Randolph Hospital, has returned to her home on South Fayetteville street. Mrs. Fox's condition has been somewhat relieved by the operation.
