Gala Sports Event On Deck Sunday At Thomasville

Chairmakers Face Mock-Judson Celebrating "Rube Eldridge Day"

The spirited Thomasville Chairmakers will celebrate what will be known as "Rube Eldridge Day" at Finch field Sunday, July 26, at 3:30 o'clock, playing the strong Mock-Judson nine from Greensboro.

Rube, better known as "Duke of Spero" will do the pitching for the chair team. He is known in this section of the state as the "grand old man of baseball." Rube was headed for the big leagues but due to training rules he missed his mark. Still he was one of the greatest of "old timers."

To give Eldridge air-tight support will be eight of Thomasville Chair Company's young ball players. Thomasville has such stars as Carr Smith and Rabbit Whitman, former big league men; Dickens, Aderholdt, Pinkston, Gaddy, Boyles and Ray Weston, who are college stars; and Adkins, Mellua, Outland and Johnson, who have played much professional baseball.

Joby Hawn, coach at Winston-Salem high school for several years is the manager and is liked very much. Mock-Judson has the "famous five" in their line-up. Everyone should see Yow, Whitt, Gray, Dave Barbee (big league star), and Buckerbee in action.

Thomasville has recently constructed a new ball park known as Finch Field, located between High Point and Thomasville, at the cost of over $15,000 dollars. Finch Field is considered one of the best in North Carolina, cool, comfortable and roomy.

The probable line-ups will be: Mock-Judson—Yow, ss; Whitt, rf; Gray, cf; Barbee, 3b; Huckerbee, lf; Doyle, 1b; Jessup, 2b; Shelton, c; Buckner, p. Thomasville Chair company—Whitman, cf; Dickens, ss; Pinkston, lf; Smith, rf; Adkins, 1b; Ray or Cooper, 3b; Aderholdt, 2b; Outland, c; Eldridge, p.

A wreck occurring four miles west of Asheboro about 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning on highway 90, resulted in the death of Harry Snyder of High Point. Mr. Snyder, who was about 35 years old, was said to have been going at a very high rate of speed and turned over at a place on the road known as "devil's hole." The impact of the car against the bank was so severe that his neck was broken, his face crushed and several other serious injuries, any of which might have resulted in his death.

He was taken to the Randolph hospital in Farlow's ambulance where he never regained consciousness and died two hours later. Accompanying the dead man was Verda Harris, who received a broken arm and other minor injuries, according to local police officers who questioned her. Mr. Snyder's body was taken to High Point shortly after his death and no funeral arrangements were made public in Asheboro.

Randolph County Fair Officials Meet And Name All Departmental Heads

At a recent meeting of the Randolph county fair association, plans were discussed and formulated for the approaching fair which will be held September 29th through October 3rd. Mayor W. A. Bunch is president of the association with ex-sheriff Ben Millikan, vice president, and C. M. Hayworth, secretary.

In the plans for the entertainment feature of the coming event, it was announced by Mr. Hayworth that the free acts, fireworks and various other smaller features that make for an interesting time, have all been arranged for and will be more interesting than ever before. The midway was assured several weeks ago.

The chief concern, however, of the meeting of recent date, was the selection of heads of the various departments in the exhibit buildings. A few changes have been made in the personnel of the organization for the coming fair, but inability to serve on account of health and other equally important reasons, was the cause assigned for making any changes whatever, save for the increased business making a few additions appear wise to the officers in charge.

School Supplies For Winter Term Now Being Stored

Reginald Turner, Superintendent, Loses No Time After Returning From School

Lose Two Teachers

Coal Purchased; Rewiring Building To Be Done; Improvements Pending

Having returned from Durham Wednesday at the conclusion of the first term of the Duke university summer school, Reginald Turner, principal of the Asheboro school, lost no time in getting to work on local school affairs.

One matter requiring immediate attention was filling the coal bins with this winter's fuel supply. Since the price of coal is expected to go up about August 1, the state school commission is very anxious that all city and county school systems obtain their supplies now. Mr. Turner has already put in orders for the coal, and it will be delivered soon.

In accordance with instructions from the county board of education, the local school board has advertised for bids for the lighting project in the main school building. These bids are to be submitted July 25, and Mr. Turner expressed the hope that one suitable to the county board would be procured so that a contract could be awarded and the work begun soon.

The principal said that in common with many schools in the state the severe winter had caused a reduced attendance, as a result of which the elementary school had lost two teachers. He is, however, still making efforts to retain these losses. In view of the fact that Asheboro will have a new elementary school and that there must be sufficient teachers for two schools now, he is particularly hopeful of getting satisfactory results.

Mr. Turner was also engaged Thursday in signing applications to various colleges for several graduates of the class of 1936. Among those who have applied are Mattie Green, Meredith; Cornelia Hedrick, Woman's College at Greensboro; and Carl Phillips, University of North Carolina. Hazel Underwood has made application to enter a training course for registered nurses.

Competent Scouts To Inspect Talent At Training Camp

Taking no chances on overlooking any young ball players of ability, the Asheboro baseball club has assigned three highly competent scouts to the baseball try-out camp which will operate in Charlotte starting next Monday according to an announcement today by Oliver French, president of the club. The camp will continue for approximately one week.

The scouts who have been assigned to conduct the trials for young players in the camp are Charlie Kelchner, who for more than 30 years has been known as one of the most colorful scouts in the game, and Joe Mathes and Pat Crawford, both former major league stars. In recent years Mathes has been devoting his time to managing minor league clubs and scouting. French also announced that Charles E. Plummer, field representative of the Asheboro club, will arrive in Charlotte within a few days to complete preparations for the camp.

Boys between the ages of 17 and 23 are eligible to attend the camp, French stated. The only requirements are that boys pay their own traveling expenses to Charlotte and their living expenses while here. Boys must also furnish their own shoes, gloves and uniforms. French added that a boy can secure a thorough try-out by spending three to four days at the camp and that those who make good and are assigned to contracts would have their expenses incident to attending the camp refunded.

The camp will be held at Robbins Field on South Mint street in Charlotte. The first session will start at 9 a. m. next Monday. No recommendations are necessary. All that boys have to do to secure a tryout is to appear at the park next Monday.

Asheboro Meets Durham For Title Here On Monday

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock on Lindley field the Asheboro Junior Legion baseball team will meet Durham in a contest that will decide the championship of the Central division of the American Legion eliminations. With the series tied at two games apiece after Asheboro's fighting comeback in Durham Wednesday, interest in both towns is running high and a large crowd is expected to see which team fortune favors.

The local boys should have a psychological advantage, playing as they are on their home grounds, but it is a peculiar fact that neither team has been able to win at home in this series. Nevertheless, Rufus Routh announces that the whole squad is in fine spirit and in good physical condition, and that all the pitchers will be in first class shape by Monday, after five days of rest. The team feels confident that after squaring the series it cannot now be headed, so come out Monday and support the boys in this crucial game.

Judge G. V. Cowper Administers Oath Of Office In Impressive Manner

Escorted By Prominent Men

Holds Enviable Record Already Held In Position

At an impressive ceremony held at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Frank M. Armstrong, attorney of Troy, formally took the oath of office as Judge in the 15th district to fill the vacancy made by the death of Judge John Oglesby of Concord, also a native of Troy. The young man, who is 35 years old, is one of the state's youngest Superior Court Judges. He was accompanied to the Judge's desk by his father, C. A. Armstrong, former Clerk of Court of Troy for twelve years.

Judge G. V. Cowper, presiding over the present term of Superior Court in Randolph, administered the oath of office after Mr. Armstrong presented his credentials, which consisted of an appointment from Governor Ehringhaus. He made a few brief remarks concerning the late beloved Judge, whose place Mr. Armstrong will take. Accompanying him to Asheboro Thursday were his father, and several friends; Lester Moffitt, Troy attorney; Walter Curry, judge of the Troy recorder's court; Paul Clark, a close friend and peach orchard owner of Rubyst; T. R. Wall, Liberty attorney; Norman Boren, Greensboro attorney; and H. C. Royals, Trinity attorney. The Asheboro bar were present in a group for the occasion, expressing considerable satisfaction over the appointment.

Judge Armstrong will be first called upon to assume his new duties Monday, when he will open a two weeks' term of court in Ashe county. He is among the youngest men ever named to Superior Court judgeship. His experience in holding public office has been limited to several years' service as prosecuting attorney of the Montgomery county Recorder's Court and as county attorney. He is a graduate of the law school of the University of North Carolina, and has been practicing law since 1924. He is chairman of the Young Democratic Club of Troy, chairman of the executive committee and commander of the Troy post American Legion.

"So long as there is a child in our land who toils in shop or tenement when he should be out at play, whose school is without a playground, and whose out-of-doors is bounded by the gutters of the public street, so long the masses will hate the classes; the policeman be to the boy an enemy instead of a friend; and the Republic has not had a square deal. To give the boy back his childhood is more than justice and common sense. It is sane government."—Jacob A. Riis.

Courier Thanks Advertisers In Special Section

The cooperation of the business firms who have made possible by their advertising the publication of this Recreation-Health edition is greatly appreciated by The Courier, a feeling which we are sure the executive committee of the playground commission agrees. The business men have always been ready to support any program which is for the good of the people of Asheboro, and have been especially loyal to causes advantageous to the children.

Since so many of them helped the playgrounds comparatively recently by subscribing to the Character Bond campaign, those who have doubled their assistance by placing advertisements in this section deserve special commendation. Their interest in the children of Asheboro marks these businesses as being worthy of the interest and patronage of the parents of Asheboro.

We wish to thank the following firms who have advertised in this section: Asheboro Dry Cleaning Company, Dan's Radio Service, The First National Bank, Service Beauty Shoppe, Randolph Drug Company, Motor Service Company, The Home Building, Inc., The Bank of Randolph, Model Laundry, Dr. Nat Walker, High Point, Fox Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company, and Economy Auto Supply.
