METHODIST UNIFICATION APPROVED AT CONFERENCE

Asheville.—The proposed merger of the three branches of the Methodist church received the approval of the Blue Ridge-Asheboro conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which ended in Asheville Sunday. Representatives of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, and of the Methodist Protestant church appeared before the conference to speak in favor of unification. Addresses praising evangelism and missionary work, and election of officers were other highlights of the conference.

CALL GUARDSMEN FROM MILL TOWN

Asheville, S. C.—After standing by for five days at the Monarch Mills to prevent trouble between the company and workers, the company National Guardsmen ordered by Governor Olin Johnston returned Friday. There has been no disturbance during the time they were here, and Sheriff Faucett of the governor that the 75 National Guardsmen were able to handle the situation. Conditions at the mill are said to be rapidly returning to normal. One union man is still in jail on a charge of hitting to riot and two remain on peace bond, but the community is now quiet.

ALLEGED BOMB MURDERER ADMITS SUICIDE IN JAIL

Asheville, Va.—Dr. H. R. Hege, a city dentist arrested October 10 in connection with the bomb murder of Curry Thomas, committed suicide in the Eastville jail today, cutting his throat and slipping his wrist with a piece of wire broken from his spectacles. He had taken away his watch glasses when, shortly after breakfast in his cell last week, he saw an artery in his wrist with the watch crystal, but his wrist was returned to him Sunday night when he complained of severe headaches without Mr. Thomas, a prosperous farmer of eastern Virginia, was blown to pieces July 22 as he opened a package he had just received in mail. His wife of six weeks worked as Dr. Hege's secretary for several years.

BUSSSES, JAIL IN BAD CONDITION

Asheville.—A Vance county jury concluded an investigation of school bus and jail conditions in the county Friday with a report showing mechanical defects in school busses, over-crowding in others, and unsanitary and crowded conditions in the jail. The jury listed such defects in the school busses as faulty brakes, no stop lights, broken floors, broken windows, leaking gas tanks, leaking radiators, no horns, and one without license. Some busses to avoid making three trips daily, this caused long hours for the children. In the jail prison-sometimes had to sleep with other persons, sleep in the hall, the cell built to accommodate was crowded with thirteen, whom was violently crazy.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE NOW KING'S OFFICIAL HOME

London.—The crown-topped flag which the royal standard of Britain was transferred to Buckingham palace to Buckingham Sunday, officially the latter as the residence of Edward VIII. He had been moving into the traditional home of English monarchs with his mother, Queen Mary, to arrange Marlborough another traditional royal home, to her liking before leaving the home which she shared with the late King George V. Buckingham has the official residence of the King of England for a hundred years and was the home of Edward VII, George V, his father, Edward VII, and his grandmother, Victoria.

TYPHOON SWEEPS PHILIPPINES

Manila.—One of the worst typhoons in the history of the Philippines hit the islands over the weekend, killing at least fifty people and destroying hundreds of crops and drowning many. Every river on Luzon where the havoc was high-flooding and the number of people feared drowned in the waters, is more than doubled. The typhoon barely spared Manila, as it raged for 40 hours. The China Clipper, in a tight preparatory to opening of passenger service to the Pacific, was held at Manila until the future of the storm has been determined.

All Sections Of County Suffered From Heavy Rain

Cloudburst In Glenola Section Believed Responsible For Floods

Halted Rural Mail

Many Dirt Roads In As Bad Condition As In Mid-Winter; Dam Bursts

As the flood waters in Randolph county go down, additional reports have come confirming earlier accounts of streams overflowing their bounds in practically all sections of the county.

A cloudburst in the Glenola section, where five inches of rain was said to have fallen late Wednesday night, caused Caraway creek and Deep river, the streams most affected, to rise to such great heights. It is agreed by all the older citizens that the rivers were the highest and most swollen in 25 years, and in some localities the highest in thirty or more years.

Rural mail deliveries were hindered to a considerable extent throughout the county, though in most places the carriers got through. On route two along Caraway creek, however, service was cut off Thursday and Friday. Postmaster J. O. Redding said.

County School Superintendent T. Fletcher Bulla stated that school busses were able to make their trips in practically every locality, though they were delayed and late in arriving. School attendance was good considering the handicaps many of the children had to overcome to reach their schools.

Deep river for its whole length in the county was turbulent, carrying away many small bridges and flooding the adjoining country. Naturally, though, its force diminished as the distance from the origin of the heavy rain increased, so that in the southwestern part of the county it was not as violent as in the northeast.

Caraway creek created havoc along its course. Reports indicate that the corn crop in Glenola suffered great damage. The dam at Troy Redding's place burst, flooding a large area.

Dirt roads in many parts of the county were practically impassable Thursday and Friday. In the neighborhood of the flooded rivers

Staley Faculty First To Record Education Asso.

Staley, Oct. 12.—The meeting of the Staley Parent-Teachers association was postponed on Friday evening on account of rain until Friday evening, October 16. Parents and patrons of the school are urged to be present at that time.

Four complete sets consisting of eighty books have been received by the school library to be used in the grades as supplementary readers.

The Henry Clay Literary society has been recently organized with Helen Riddle, president; Jack Foushee, vice president; Enid Moffitt, secretary, and Robert Wilson, treasurer. A very interesting program was rendered on Friday afternoon.

Jack Foushee has been elected president of the student body for the coming year.

The entire faculty of the school has joined the North Carolina Education Association. This is one of the first hundred per cent organizations in the county.

Many Randolph Women Plan To Attend Women's Rally In Raleigh Thursday Oct. 15

After the gathering of Democratic women held in the court house in Asheboro Friday evening with Mrs. J. B. Spillman, state vice chairman, the chief speaker, the women of the county are thoroughly interested in the present political situation in the state and nation. Mrs. Spillman made a very definite appeal to women as women to work as well as vote. In a speech that was far from the usual political discourse made by most speakers, she very quietly, but firmly, pointed out the line of duty and asked cooperation.

Mrs. George Burkhead, county chairman of the women and vice chairman of the party, is quite pleased with the response of this meeting and is anxious for as many women as possible to attend the state rally of Democratic women to be held in Raleigh on Thursday, October 15th. There will be a luncheon at the Sir Walter

Bridge Washed Away, Dam Partly Destroyed And Other Damage

Franklinville, Oct. 12.—"When A Woman Decides", a comedy in three acts, will be given in the school auditorium Friday evening, October 16, 7:30 o'clock. This play is sponsored by the local Masonic lodge and will be under the management of Mrs. C. F. Caveness. It is a popular play and will interest both young and old. Everybody is invited. The following is the cast of characters:

Billy Defoe, with a million or so, R. C. Fields; Maybelle Tones, pretty but phoney, Miss Dorothy Grimes; Silas Sawyer, just a lawyer, W. P. Rodgers; Hilda M. Burl, just an ancient girl, Miss Lucille Jones; Bessie Hayden, a poor little maiden, Miss Ruth Martin; Matilda Petter, a real man getter, Mrs. J. H. Mitchell; Rastus Toll, blacker than coal, W. L. Grimley; Mandy Dehaven, no whiter than a raven, Mrs. Lottie J. Husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Strickland have moved into the house recently vacated by Mrs. Etta Reeves, near Randolph Mill No. 2. The high waters of Deep River last week swept away about 60 feet of new section 4 feet high, built a year ago on top of the dam at Randolph Mill No. 1, also tearing up and washing away part of the bridge across Walnut creek, on River Drive near the railroad underpass.

Opening Session Of Supreme Court Favors New Deal

Refuses To Reconsider Decision Against N. Y. Minimum Wage For Women

Has 295 Appeals

Percentage Of Requests Granted To Government Highest In Many Years

The United States Supreme court met Monday for its first business of the term and getting down to work from the start acted on 295 appeals during the day.

The most important decision of the tribunal came when it refused to review an appeal on its invalidation of the New York minimum wage law for women. The original decision last spring of the justices to invalidate this act was raised to first importance by President Roosevelt's declaration that by it the court had created a no man's land between the authority of the states and that of the federal government. The court voted to hear an appeal from a decision declaring a similar statute in the state of Washington constitutional.

In the main other decisions were considered favorable to the New Deal, and New Deal leaders expressed themselves as very well satisfied. The percentage of requests granted in cases involving the government was the highest in many years. Major cases which had previously gone against the government and which the court will review are the public utility holding company act, the 50 per cent tax on silver profits, collective bargaining between railroads and their employees, an arms embargo to South American countries, transportation of prison-made goods into states that forbid their sale, and a case involving the right to pay in the devalued currency when a lease called for gold.

Of the 295 cases heard, the court agreed to review 57, declined to pass on 224, and refused 14 petitions for reconsideration of last term's decisions.

Revival Service In Progress At Baptist Church With Marked Success

Ramsey, Oct. 12.—Rev. Mr. Eller of Asheboro Street Church, Greensboro, is preaching in a revival service at Ramsey Baptist church this week. The people of the community have a cordial invitation to attend these services. Rev. H. M. Stroup, pastor, and his members are working for this revival and appreciate the assistance of all people of the community.

The industrial plants of the town are all running full capacity and have orders to keep them busy for some time. This is something to be thankful for as the winter months come on and provision must be made for each household. The thanksgiving season should be celebrated wholeheartedly this

Local Beta Club Observes Tapping Day City School

Twenty Prospective Members Are Invited To Join Local Honor Society

Dr. Smith Speaker

Speaker Cites Principles Of Club Upholding Virtues Of Great Men

Dr. C. G. Smith was the principal speaker at the Monday morning assembly of the local high school. The occasion was tapping day for the Asheboro chapter of the National Honor Beta club. The president of the local chapter, Helen E. Brown, presided. After a few remarks by Superintendent Reginald Turner on the aims of the club, the 20 prospective members were tapped and brought to the stage.

Those tapped were Bill Allred, Bob Allred, Thad Moser, Bud Hedrick, Wayne Burrows, Donald-Yow, Truitt Frazier, David Stedman, J. C. Ellen, Bernice Ragsdale, Jonell Grison, Etta Lee Craven, Alice Rachel Frazier, Olga Kinney, Marie Craven, Catherine Kearns, Helen Phillips, Edna Mae Wittingham, Dorothy Hicks and Sarah Alice Moore.

The officers of the club are: president, Helen Brown; secretary, Fernko Johnson; and treasurer, Mildred Millsaps. Other members are Betty Prevette, Sarah Hayworth, Margaret Pritchard, Margaret Honeycutt, Howard Brown and Velna Williams.

The members are chosen from the senior and junior classes. Only those are eligible who make a general average of 85 on all subjects. In addition to scholarship the candidates must be recommended for character by the faculty and student members.

Dr. Smith addressed the assembly on the watchwords of the Beta club, which are loyalty, honesty, courage, and leadership. He opened his talk with a discussion of possible words beginning with the Greek letter "beta", or "b", among them the Greek word for book, biblos.

A large part of his talk stressed the quality of leadership. He named a number of the great figures of the world who showed leadership in their youth, among them Lafayette, Wolfe, Montcalm, Pasteur and David.

He told an interesting story illustrating the manner in which Abraham Lincoln used his qualities of leadership. During his campaign for the presidency, among his bitter

Speaking Slated For Republicans In County This Week

Republican headquarters announce several speakings of importance for the coming week.

On Tuesday evening, October 13, at 7:30 p. m. Hon. Clifford Frazier, attorney of Greensboro and former candidate for governor, will speak at Liberty school house, Liberty.

Hon. L. L. Wall, prominent attorney of Winston-Salem and one of the best young orators of the state, will speak at New Market school house on Wednesday evening, October 14, at 7:30 p. m.

On Thursday evening, October 15, Hon. Charles A. Jonas, former congressman from the 10th district and present national committeeman will speak at the court house in Asheboro.

It is expected that large crowds will attend all these speakings.

Asheboro Man Is Victim Of Hit-And-Run Driver Sunday On Highway North Of Town

Apparently the victim of a hit-and-run driver, J. W. Isom was found on the Asheboro-Randolph highway in front of the home of Clarence Hughes about 7:30 Sunday night in a semi-conscious condition, his face covered with blood from a gash in his forehead. Isom was too dazed to recall just how he had been injured, but the evidence of those who found him point to his having been hit by an automobile which did not stop to aid him.

J. T. King, manager of Jones 1c to $5 store, who was among the first to arrive at the scene of the accident, was run off the highway, only 200 yards from where Isom was found, by a car which was zigzagging from one side of the road to the other. Some ten feet from Isom, tire marks showed where a car had swerved from the concrete to the dirt shoulder and then sharply back to the concrete again, as if the driver had seen him and attempted to avoid him unsuccessfully.

The car which Mr. King saw,

Many Prominent Democrats Will Be Present For This Big, Free Event

The Democrats of Randolph county will meet on Wednesday night, October 14th, in the Randolph school auditorium. All township workers and interested Democrats are cordially invited and urged to attend this meeting which is called for 7:30 o'clock.

The plan of precinct organization will be outlined at this time and recommendations for the coming election will be made to the workers present. There will also be a message delivered to the group from J. Wallace Winborne, state chairman of the Democratic party.

All Democrats in Randolph township are urged to attend.

Town Of Ramsey Starts Fall With Plants Running

The Rotary club was entertained at its meeting Friday by a program put on by four scouts who are candidates for the highest award in scouting, the Eagle badge. Bud Hedrick, Robert McGlohn, Bob Allred and Bill Allred participated, each demonstrating some scout activity which contributed to the earning of the badge. A fifth scout, David Stedman, was scheduled to take part but was prevented by illness. The scouts were introduced by Sam Miller, scoutmaster of Troop 24. Dr. O. L. Presnell was in charge of the program.

Among the guests were Walter Nau, principal of Balfour school, the guest of O. E. Schaefer; and Rev. H. P. Powell, David Christiansen, and Albert Hesketh, guests of C. C. Cranford.

Local Rotarians Are Entertained By Four Scouts

This is to be an occasion when all Democrats and their friends—possibly some Republicans—will gather to hear some good old-time Democratic doctrine expounded from the speakers' stand and on the grounds as Democrats gather to eat and enjoy the fellowship of each other. Those in charge of the plans assure the public that there will be plenty of food and a hearty welcome for any and all who care to join in this Democratic rally.
