Beautiful Ceremony Saturday Marks Wedding Local Girl

The wedding of Miss Frances Sybil Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hughes of Asheboro, to Thomas Monroe Blankenship, son of Mrs. Emma Blankenship of Pineville was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church of Asheboro.

The vows were spoken before the Rev. Howard P. Powell. The ring ceremony was used.

The ushers were Russ Tucker and Charles Rankin of Charlotte, Nick Sample of Greensboro, and William Hughes of Asheboro. As they lighted the candles, Mrs. R. W. Crews of Thomasville played "Nightingale and Rose," Saint-Sanes, and "Indian Love Call" on the organ.

Proceeding the ceremony, Bill Barnett of Thomasville sang "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Mrs. Crews accompanied Mr. Barnett on the organ, and as the wedding party entered played the processional.

The bride entered with her father and was met by the bridegroom, who was accompanied by A. S. Blankenship of Charlotte. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of wedding cream satin, fashioned with full sleeves, and court train. She wore a fingertip illusion veil. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Marianne Hughes, sister of the bride, wore a white point d'esprit evening gown with a Queen Anne collar. She carried white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. R. E. Tucker, Miss Elizabeth Parlier, and Miss Edna Glades Ingram of Greensboro. Each wore a white tulle evening gown and carried a bouquet of white gladioli. The flower girl, Patricia Hughes, wore white tulle and carried a basket of tiny white flowers.

Mrs. Hughes, the bride's mother, was attired in blue mousseline de soie and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Emma Blankenship, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in pink lace with a corsage of cream roses.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and green cedar and lighted by white candelabra and candles.

After the ceremony, a reception for the wedding party and guests was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Asheboro-Greensboro road. In the receiving line besides Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and the wedding party were Mrs. S. F. Blankenship, Mrs. D. Auman and Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Powell.

Among those showing the guests through the home were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. Curry Loffin, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lewallen, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wood, Mrs. A. R. Hix, Mrs. May Byrd Hall, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Ferree, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cranford and Mrs. John Ingram.

Those who served were Mrs. J. A. Hightower, and Misses Myrtle Lea, Virginia Cross, Sarah Helen Covington, Imogene Kearns, Mrs. E. V. Hobbs and Mrs. Clarence Rush, all of Asheboro, and Miss Margaret Austin, of High Point, and Miss Stella Auman, of Charlotte.

Mr. Blankenship is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and is connected with a wholesale automobile agency of Charlotte. The bride was formerly employed as a secretary by an advertising agency in Charlotte. She is an attractive young woman who has a great many friends in the state.

The young couple have gone to Florida for their wedding trip. The bride wore an oxford grey costume ensemble trimmed in Siberian squirrel, with hunter green accessories.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Blankenship will be at home at 1501 East Seventh street, Charlotte.

Merchants Survey Reveals Shopping Important Matter

Staple Articles Are Rarely Bought Out-Of-Town Survey Shows

Interesting and informative information was dug up in a recent check on more than twenty thousand transactions in Greensboro stores. The object was to find out what people buy who shop out-of-town and why it is bought out-of-town instead of locally.

Standard staple articles are the least among items purchased out-of-town. Take groceries for example, the prices in one community are about the same as another. There is little inducement for out-of-town buying. One Greensboro store handling imported and unusual groceries not found in the ordinary grocery store, however, reported people coming from a distance of fifty miles and buying these items. Obviously the answer in this case was that these items could not be bought at home.

This conclusion probably holds good with the majority of merchandise so bought. Larger retail centers carry larger stocks, more variety and a more complete assortment of sizes and colors than is possible in the smaller retail centers.

Greensboro merchants in announcing the results of the study stated that there was a definite place in the retail distribution scheme for the alert, progressive local retailer in any community. As the largest retailing center of the northern Piedmont section Greensboro fills the position of the over-look shopping center for discriminating buyers who are unable to find what they want in their own communities. In this respect the modern stores, capable salespeople and friendly merchants of Greensboro believe they are rendering a service to the shoppers of near-by communities without in the least damaging the business of retailers in those communities.

The amount of out-of-town shopping from any one of the communities nearby Greensboro, it was pointed out, was not in itself great and would not support a large assortment of stocks in that community, however, the aggregate total of such business from the many smaller cities in the northern Piedmont area warranted the carrying of excellent stocks in Greensboro as the central shopping center.

C. B. Clark Will Manage Asheboro's Two Movie Houses
Coming to Asheboro Sunday, C. B. Clark has already formed a decided affection for the town, where he has already assumed his duties as manager of the two movie theatres of the town. Mr. Clark is from Columbia, S. C., where he was connected with the Palmetto Theatre Co., managing the Carolina Theatre at that place. He is experienced in theatre management and is quite pleased with the outlook for the coming movie season.

This list of officers include women whose names have long stood out in the state in various fields of club work as well as in U. D. C. circles. Mrs. J. D. Ross, attending to represent the Randolph chapter from Asheboro, was made state chaplain of the organization.

President of the state is Mrs. John H. Anderson of Raleigh, the former Miss Lucy London of Pittsboro, daughter of Major Henry London and Mrs. London. Mrs. Anderson has long been active in this work. Other officers of the organization are: Mrs. L. E. Fisher of Asheville, who was re-elected first vice president; Mrs. J. D. Bivens of Albemarle, second vice president; Mrs. J. F. Hayden of High Point, third vice president; Mrs. S. S. Holt of Graham, re-elected recording secretary; Miss Margaret Lee, Raleigh
