

Inauguration Ceremony At Raleigh Auditorium Brilliant Affair Today

Hon. Clyde Hoey Is Now Governor

Opening Of Second 100 Years
Of Election By People Of
North Carolina

Former Governors Are In Attendance

Message To People Revealed Pride In State; Budget Message Next Week

All living governors of the state of North Carolina were assembled in Raleigh today, along with many who have aspirations for the future job hunters, prominent citizens—and just plain folk, for the inauguration of Hon. Clyde R. Hoey as 84th governor of North Carolina. The ceremonies took place in the vast auditorium at 12 o'clock after almost two hours of band music, marching, parading and general celebration. A military salute to the incoming Chief was given as was one to the outgoing executive with high school bands, military companies and people of all grades marching, singing and having a good time.

CLYDE R. HOEY
N. C. Governor

The inauguration today marked the beginning of a second hundred years government by the people of the state. Prior to 1916, the governor of North Carolina was not actually named by the people, for it was in that year that the first primary was held, permitting people to select their choice of a governor. And, it will be recalled by tracing political history of North Carolina, that prior to 1836 governors were elected by the general assembly. The governors of this state, then, fall into six classifications: those under the Lords Proprietor from 1585 to 1730; those appointed by the Crown, from 1730 to 1776; those elected by the general assembly, from 1776 to 1836; those elected by the people but not nominated in convention, from 1836 to 1916; and those nominated and elected directly by the people since 1916.

Former Governor Cameron Morrison and Mrs. Morrison, former Governor O. Max Gardner and Mrs. Gardner arrived Wednesday to be on hand for the inauguration and welcoming of the new governor of the state and his family in the state's mansion.

After this inauguration, Governor Hoey plans to attend the presidential inauguration in Washington on January 20th. The North Carolina delegation in Washington has planned a dinner for Governor Hoey in Washington, but are now of the opinion that a later date will be set for this honorary affair, rather than during the inauguration when the city is crowded to capacity.

Begin Painting Of Post Office

The painting of the plaster on the interior of the post office was begun Tuesday by Whitlock Bros., Pulaski, Virginia. The company has three men at work in the building and expects to be through in about ten days.

W. WILL INSTALL OFFICERS FRIDAY NIGHT

The Woodmen of the World will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in the hall. Installation of officers take place, and there will be social ceremonies. All members are urged to be present.

Randolph Health Office Improves Check On Disease

Work Of Dr. George Sumner And County Nurses Causes Better Reports

Less Typhoid 1936

Health Report For December Shows Chicken Pox Pre- valent In Randolph

Reports to the county health office on contagious diseases for December show that chicken pox hit many Randolph county children, the number of these cases, 35, being more than the total of all others together. This mild epidemic is still in full swing, eight cases having been reported this week.

Other diseases for December were reported as follows: venereal disease, 10; pneumonia, 8; scarlet fever, 7; diphtheria, 3; influenza, 2; measles, 1; meningitis, 1; septic sore throat, 1; and tuberculosis, 1.

Dr. George Sumner, county health officer, said Wednesday that 1936 had been a good year in the county from a health standpoint, many improvements having been made. A report of diseases in Randolph county shows an increase in the majority of instances in 1936 over the number in 1935, but this is chiefly due to more efficient work by Dr. Sumner and the county health nurses which has resulted in more cases being reported to the authorities than formerly.

A few diseases which occur periodically actually were more numerous than in 1935. Among them were German measles, of which there were 134 cases in 1936, and none at all reported in 1935.

The more careful check up made by the department in 1936 was most evident with respect to venereal diseases. In 1935 only 41 were reported—one chancroid, 30 gonorrhea, and 10 syphilis—though this almost certainly did not give a true picture of the condition in the county. In 1936 the health office was able to obtain reports on a total of 133 venereal diseases—5 chancroid, 60 gonorrhea, and 68 syphilis.

Valuable work was done in reducing the number of cases of typhoid fever. The 1936 figure was cut in half, as there were 8 instances of the malady in 1935 and only 4 last year. There was a startling reduction in the number of whooping cough cases from 88 in 1935 to 2 in 1936.

Figures of other diseases for the past two years follow. In each case the first figure is for 1935, the second for 1936.

Chicken pox, 58, 66; diphtheria, 13, 13; meningitis, 1, 2; influenza, 88, 163; lobar pneumonia, 13, 48; measles, 3, 23; infantile paralysis, 3, 1; pellagra, 11, 34; scarlet fever, 53, 83; tuberculosis, 18, 17.

Continued Rains Causing Concern

Rivers throughout several southern states have been continually rising during the recent prolonged rainy spell until streams along the Gulf and Atlantic watersheds came near the flood stage danger zone Wednesday. For almost a week rain has poured continuously damaging crops and flooding lowlands.

Conditions were worst in mid-south-Alabama where the Cahaba river inundated thousands of acres and a fleet of small boats stood ready to evacuate hundreds of families in the Selma-Uniontown area.

The Roanoke and other eastern North Carolina rivers also continued a slow rise that has done considerable damage to crops, highways and a few sawmills. South Carolina streams were receding after doing minor harm.

Ehringhaus Has A Federal Offer

Dame rumor has it that a justice department post-special assistant to the attorney general—awards Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina on expiration of his term of office this month.

Ehringhaus conferred with Attorney General Cummings and Solicitor General John Dickinson at the justice department yesterday and from usually well-informed sources it was learned Cummings offered him a place in the department's anti-trust division.

Should Ehringhaus accept Cummings' offer, it was indicated he would be given charge of the government's prosecution of 25 major oil companies and 60 individuals under indictment at Madison, Wis., on charges of conspiring to fix gasoline prices.

There is enough power in a stroke of lightning to run an eight inch fan for 160 hours.

News Flashes — from — Everywhere

CONDITION OF POPE CONTINUES SERIOUS

Vatican City.—The paralysis in Pope Pius' legs had grown so painful Wednesday that he could not bear the weight of a blanket on it, and attendants had to construct an arch to hold the covers away. His heart beat had speeded up to 129 times per minute, compared to the normal 68-72, and he had several spells of unconsciousness.

VOIDS REAL ESTATE LICENSING LAW

Raleigh.—The state supreme court Wednesday ruled unconstitutional the 10 year old law requiring that real-estate salesmen and brokers be licensed by the state real estate commission, holding it "burdensome and discriminatory." This law was applied only in certain counties, and the court's decision affects licensing by the commission only, not by the state.

FLORIDA MAYORALTY ROW SETTLED

Tallahassee, Fla.—Fred P. Cone, new governor of Florida, in one of his first official acts, revoked the ouster order by which ex-governor David Sholtz tried to remove Daytona Beach's woman-mayor, Mrs. Irene Armstrong, on charges of extravagance. Mrs. Armstrong had formed city police into a defense cordon around the city hall to resist efforts of state troopers to put her out.

HEARST, MAE WEST MOST HIGHLY PAID

Washington.—The report by the house ways and means committee of every person making more than $15,000 yearly revealed that the most highly paid in the United States were William Randolph Hearst, publisher, $500,000, and Mae West, screen celebrity, $408,833. Tops in North Carolina were S. F. Dribben, vice president of the Cone Export and Commission company of Greensboro, who received $77,500, and S. Clay Williams, chairman of the board of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, with $60,000.

Deep Snowfall Through Arizona

Rescue Parties Aid 200 Marooned People In North- ern Section Of Arizona

On Tuesday, January 5th, reports from Kingman, Arizona reveal many people marooned by heavy snows.

Rescue parties pushed through deep snow drifts to the aid of approximately 200 snowbound persons in northern Arizona as the U. S. weather bureau warned of additional snow tonight.

Those marooned included a Civilian Conservation corps camp of 157 Oklahoma and Texas youths in the Hualapai mountains near here. Lieut. William K. Ringold, commander of the camp, made his way to Kingman, to report there had been no suffering and that the food supply was sufficient.

CCC headquarters grew anxious regarding the welfare of the camp, when the new storm warning was reported. Telephone lines were down, and the camp's radio was out of order.

The breakdown of a snowplow bucking the huge drifts lessened rescuers' hopes of immediately reaching the camp. The plow had forced its way to a summit overlooking a valley where the camp is situated. Another plow was expected from a neighboring camp.

William M. Piatt Secured To Make Sanitary Survey

Durham Engineer Selected To Make Long Planned Sewer And Water Check

Within Ten Days

January 15 Limit For Sub- mitting Proposed City Pro- jects To Government

The sanitary survey of Asheboro's water and sewer system, planned for several weeks, will be completed soon, City Treasurer Walter Yow said Wednesday in announcing that William M. Piatt, consulting engineer of Durham, had been secured to conduct the survey.

The survey will be made as soon as weather conditions permit, and Mr. Yow said it would probably be made within the next ten days. The actual survey will be made by Mr. Davis, field engineer for Mr. Piatt. Mr. Davis will study the sewer outfalls and make tests for pollution in the streams that feed Asheboro's water supply.

While in Raleigh Tuesday to confer with T. S. Johnson, chairman of the state planning board, Mr. Yow was informed that the list of city improvement projects planned for the next years should be turned in by January 15. The government wants to know at this time what improvements cities all over the country are likely to make in the next few years so that provision for helping them may be made in the federal budget.

Asheboro's projects include the water-sewer-filter project and the city hall, which have already been submitted and approved. Plans for a complete sanitary sewer system are quite definite, and it is certain that Asheboro will need considerable work on street extension and repairs soon. There are several other minor projects which are being considered as possible, for instance, a well equipped playground or recreation center.

Plans Perfected For Coronation

Plans for the coronation of King George VI are going ahead in London on the same schedule as was planned for Edward. Special committees appointed to select coronation colors and fashions have reached a decision. The route to be followed by the king between Buckingham Palace and Westminster for the coronation in May has been picked out and has been made longer than necessary to relieve congestion by the throngs who will come to see the king.

Install Officers At Kiwanis Meet

Walter Craven Takes Office
As President; Larry Hammond Vice President

Ladies Night

John H. Brown, Winston-
Salem, Urges Cultivation
Of Greater Friendliness

The prolonged serious illness of Pope Pius has necessitated an order that cardinals heading congregations or executive departments of the Roman Catholic church not to leave Rome or Vatican City, according to foreign reports, said to be authentic. Pope Pius suffers continuing pains in his swollen legs and sleeps quite poorly.

The 79 year old Pontiff was raised almost to a sitting position in his bed in an effort by his physician, Dr. Aminta Milani, to overcome some of the difficulty he experienced in breathing because of asthma, one of the many ailments from which he suffers.

He was given an injection to stimulate his kidney action, and Dr. Milani ordered that this be repeated every four days.

Vatican sources generally admitted the Holy Father would have to celebrate either in bed or on a special chair the fifteenth anniversary of his election to the Papacy, February 6, and of his coronation, February 12.

Vatican informants said His Holiness hoped to send a message to the new pontifical academy when it meets for its first session on the anniversary of his selection as Pope.

A reliable source said Dr. Milani was consulting specialists concerning the Pope's condition.

It was also understood Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State who visited the Pontiff today as usual, had informed President Roosevelt of the status of the Holy Father's illness at the request of the United States Executive, made to the apostolic delegate in Washington.

Yesterday's medical bulletin, officially revealing for the first time that Pius' illness was considered

He urged all who could to attend the International Convention to be

(Please turn to Page 3)

OPENS 1937 CONGRESS WITH PRAYER

Opening a momentous session of Congress, Rev. James Montgomery, chaplain (at rostrum), prays before the standing House of Representatives. A few minutes later the House began its deliberations.

Prepared to speed neutrality legislation applicable to the Spanish civil war, members of the House of Representatives pause to bow in prayer at the opening of the 75th Congress, before plunging into the business organization. Chaplain James S. Montgomery, flanked by House officials, presides at the rostrum while the Congressmen stand.

President Roosevelt's Speech Highlight Of Congress, Jan. 6

The highlight of the opening of the 75th congress was the address of President Roosevelt who told them that a broad view and interpretation of the constitution was necessary. The President further stated that it was his belief that all future executives whether going out or coming in for a second term, should, in every fourth year, "review the existing state of our national affairs and outline broad future problems, leaving specific recommendations for future legislation to be made by the President about to be inaugurated."

The President's message was straight, clear-cut and dodged no issue. He discussed the depression crisis first of all, asking cooperation in the next four years; recovery, security, slum tenant problems, unemployment, trade evils, federal aid, the constitution, peace in America, the courts and like topics of national interest, concluding with the soundness of democracy.

Install Officers At Kiwanis Meet

Ladies Night

John H. Brown, Winston- Salem, Urges Cultivation Of Greater Friendliness

The principal address was made by John H. Brown of Winston-Salem, a former president of the Winston Kiwanis club. He was introduced by Rufus Routh, retiring president.

Mr. Brown encouraged the cultivation of greater friendliness and neighborliness in our daily living. His address was presented in a humorous vein and demonstrated his versatility as a speaker. His style of speech was reminiscent of that of the late Will Rogers, who was a personal friend of Mr. Brown.

Another distinguished visitor was Dr. J. K. Pepper, also of Winston-Salem, district lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, who was presented by Walter Craven. This was the first official visit of Dr. Pepper to any club in the district.

Dr. Pepper recounted the foundation of Kiwanis, which was begun in Detroit in 1914. The first convention had 15 members, who represented 20 clubs. The organization has now grown to a membership of 90,000, grouped in 1900 clubs in all parts of the United States.

He urged all who could to attend the International Convention to be

Dr. Pepper recounted the foundation of Kiwanis, which was begun in Detroit in 1914. The first convention had 15 members, who represented 20 clubs. The organization has now grown to a membership of 90,000, grouped in 1900 clubs in all parts of the United States.

Dr. Pepper recounted the foundation of Kiwanis, which was begun in Detroit in 1914. The first convention had 15 members, who represented 20 clubs. The organization has now grown to a membership of 90,000, grouped in 1900 clubs in all parts of the United States.

He urged all who could to attend the International Convention to be

(Please turn to Page 3)

County Fair Asso. Holds The Annual Meet Wednesday

W. A. Bunch Will Again Serve As President Of Or- ganization Another Term

Others Retained

Mr. Bunch Makes 1936 Treas- urer's Report Before Stockholders Meeting

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Randolph County Fair Association held in the court house Wednesday the satisfaction of that body with the manner affairs of the association have been conducted during the past year was reflected in the reelection of all incumbent officers for another term. W. A. Bunch will again serve as president and treasurer, W. B. Millikan vice president, and C. M. Hayworth secretary.

By a unanimous vote the stockholders moved to have the association put on another county fair in the fall of 1937. The dates and final arrangements are to be made by the officers. It is planned to follow the same general outline that made the 1936 fair such a good one, but to introduce new features that will be interesting to the public.

The meeting was called to order by President Bunch, who then requested T. F. Bulla to act as chairman, Mr. Bulla thereupon presiding for the balance of the session. After the customary checking of the stock the minutes of last year's meeting were read by C. M. Hayworth, secretary, and approved.

W. A. Bunch made the 1936 treasurer's report and this was ordered spread upon the minutes. Because of the removal of the side track into the fair grounds the surplus account was reduced by the amount covering the cost of this old siding.

C. E. Allen and Charles Hasty were appointed as a committee to measure and locate the corners of the vacant lot owned by the association and known as the old fair ground, in North Asheboro. The stockholders further decided to sell this property if a satisfactory price could be secured.

The following citizens of Randolph county were elected directors for 1937: J. T. Redding, Randleman; C. E. Allen, Kemp's Mill; T. L. Cox, Randleman; Jasper Vancannon, Seagrove; W. R. Williams, Seagrove; and A. I. Ferree; J. D. Ross, W. A. Bunch, W. J. Armfield, Jr., T. F. Bulla, W. B. Millikan, W. B. Brower, C. L. Hasty, C. M. Hayworth, J. M. McDowell, B. F. Brittain, and L. F. Ross, all of Asheboro.

Emily Diane Frye Rites Friday A. M.

Emily Diane Frye, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin C. Frye, died early this morning at the Randolph hospital after having been critically ill with pneumonia for the last two weeks. She was a member of the beginners' department of the Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

She is survived by her parents, one brother, Ervin Frye, Jr.; and by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cranford of Asheboro, and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Frye of Carthage.

Physician In Charge To Consult Specialists Concerning His Condition

The prolonged serious illness of Pope Pius has necessitated an order that cardinals heading congregations or executive departments of the Roman Catholic church not to leave Rome or Vatican City, according to foreign reports, said to be authentic.

Pope Pius suffers continuing pains in his swollen legs and sleeps quite poorly.

The 79 year old Pontiff was raised almost to a sitting position in his bed in an effort by his physician, Dr. Aminta Milani, to overcome some of the difficulty he experienced in breathing because of asthma, one of the many ailments from which he suffers.

He was given an injection to stimulate his kidney action, and Dr. Milani ordered that this be repeated every four days.

Vatican sources generally admitted the Holy Father would have to celebrate either in bed or on a special chair the fifteenth anniversary of his election to the Papacy, February 6, and of his coronation, February 12.

Vatican informants said His Holiness hoped to send a message to the new pontifical academy when it meets for its first session on the anniversary of his selection as Pope.

A reliable source said Dr. Milani was consulting specialists concerning the Pope's condition.

It was also understood Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State who visited the Pontiff today as usual, had informed President Roosevelt of the status of the Holy Father's illness at the request of the United States Executive, made to the apostolic delegate in Washington.

Yesterday's medical bulletin, officially revealing for the first time that Pius' illness was considered

He urged all who could to attend the International Convention to be

(Please turn to Page 3)

Asheboro Youth Will Attend World Scout Meet In Holland

David Stedman One Of Ashe- boro's Eagle Scouts, Lead- er In Troop 24

David Stedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sulon Stedman, was the first scout in the Uwharrie Council to sign up to attend the World Scout Jamboree in Vogelzang-Blommendal, Holland, July 29-August 13, Scout Executive Bunn Hackney of High Point has disclosed.

David has been a leader in the activities of Troop 24 since its founding and is one of Asheboro's five Eagle Scouts, having attained this highest of scout rankings during the past summer. He will also attend the National Jamboree to be held from June 30 to July 9 in Washington, D. C.

For sometime he has had an added interest as well as his scout work and has been a tireless collector of foreign stamps which is probably one of the prime reasons for his interest in the foreign trip.

DAVID STEDMAN