

McCrary Extends Winning Streak

Turn Back Fourth Quarter Rally And Whip Carolina All Stars 38-32

Flythe, Glace Star

Large Crowd Sees Eagles Hold Early Lead Against Team From U. N. C.

The McCrary Eagles added the Carolina All Stars of Chapel Hill to their growing list of victims at the gymnasium last night, winning 38-32. The game was in many ways a duplicate of the one with Cone "Y" on Saturday, when the Eagles had things all their own way for three quarters only to have the visitors score 16 points in the final period in a rally that just failed. Last night McCrary jumped into an early lead and increased it steadily until it had a 34-16 lead at the three quarter mark. Again their opponents scored 16 points in the final period, but were stopped by the locals in the nick of time.

The All Stars were composed entirely of University of North Carolina athletes, past and present, a large crowd turning out to see them. Their line-up included, Glace, basketball star; Irwin, baseball luminary; Hutchins, Buck, and Stewart of the 1936 football team; and a mysterious individual who announced himself as Seaward, but bore a startling resemblance to an end who proved a capable substitute, for Buck in many games last fall.

The two All-Southern players in the contest lived up to their reputations. Flythe led the Eagles in scoring with 6 action shots and 2 foul points for a total of 14. Glace, topping the visiting scorers, was close behind him with 13 points, making 6 field goals and 1 free shot.

After a few minutes of cautious play at the start of the tilt, McCrary soon got the upper hand and led 12-6 at the end of the period. The crowd cheered every Eagle point, especially Flythe's one hand pivot shots which accounted for 6 points.

In the second quarter the Eagles went steadily and confidently on, everyone joining in the scoring but Essick, who handled the ball and led 12-6 at the end of the period. The crowd cheered every Eagle point, especially Flythe's one hand pivot shot while Swing was right on him. At the half the Asheboro boys led 22-9.

An entire second string started the third quarter for McCrary, but didn't last long. The All Stars rang up six points on two pivot tosses by Glace and a long one by Irwin, and back came the regulars, who then displayed their best form of

Fear Effects Of Freeze On Wheat

Continued Rains Have Resulted In Excessive Growth Of Tender Plants

Acreage Large

Advices Rolling Of Soil Immediately After Freezing, Prevent Drying

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—Farmers in the wheat producing counties of North Carolina are becoming apprehensive as to the possible effects that a severe freeze might have on their wheat crop, according to reports received by the Crop Reporting Service of the state and federal departments of agriculture. The continued rains and warm weather have resulted in an excessive growth of the plants as compared with the usual. In that very fact, however, lies the danger.

The rapid development means tender plant and shallow root growth. A severe freeze would not only damage the tops of plants, particularly those that have begun to joint, but would cause frosting or "sweping up" of the soil, with a consequent exposure of young roots and the ultimate drying up and dying of plants. Such a situation would necessarily cause considerable abandonment of the crop. One reporter advocates rolling or packing of the soil immediately after freezing in order to compact the soil about the roots. This would reasonably prevent their drying up. A gradual drop in temperature, resulting in hardening of plants would probably not affect the crop so severely.

The 560,000 acres seeded to winter wheat last fall in North Carolina, for harvest this spring is the same as that planted a year ago, and is the largest acreage planted in the state since 1919.

For the country as a whole, the 57,187,000 acres seeded this fall is by far the largest of record, the previous greatest acreage having been 51,391,000 acres sown in 1918. The relatively high prices at seeding time were undoubtedly responsible for a considerable part of the increase in seedings. However some of the most important increases are in the southern and eastern portion of the drought ever some of the most important to favor increased seedings and where the extensive failure of the 1936 crops resulted in an acute need for increased seeding for fall and winter pasturage and for early grain for feed.

In some areas where several recent corn crops have failed because of summer drought, there is also a tendency to shift some acreage from corn to wheat. The condition of the crop in North Carolina on December 1, at 86 per cent of a normal was 10 points above the condition for the nation's crop at 75.6 per cent, but was slightly below the condition on December 1 last year.

the game. For the rest of the quarter they limited the visitors to one free shot and tallied 12 themselves. Accurate passes from Flythe to Edwards allowed the latter to drop in two baskets, while Essick, who always stages a private scoring spree of his own sometime during the evening, aided the cause with two field goals and two foul points.

The final period was all in favor of the All Stars, with Flythe making 4 points to keep the Eagles' margin safe. Buck, held scoreless by Cheek up till now, fired in three at long range, none of which touched the rim, to lead the rally, but the McCrary advantage was too great to be overcome.

Bossong-McCrary Clash Saturday

Bossong and McCrary will clash again Saturday night in their fourth meeting of the season. The Eagles were victorious in the first two encounters, while the Indians came back to take the third tilt, and the gymnasium is expected to be filled with the supporters of these natural rivals.

The girls will also meet in their third encounter. Bossong won both of these, but the McCrary girls have shown great improvement since the last battle.

All record books kept by farms of Swain county last year indicate that the men made more money in 1936 than they did in 1935.

Health Dept.

The health department will hold its first well baby clinic in the office of the health department on January 27th at 1:30 p. m. Dr. J. H. Soady who is specializing in diseases of children is holding the clinic for us. We hope to make this clinic a monthly occurrence and it is planned to extend the clinics out into the county. The first clinic will be for white babies only. It is important that every baby be under constant medical supervision as this is the time of life where the death rate is the highest. The purpose of these clinics is to instruct parents how to care for their babies, giving schedules for feedings, exercise and sleep, and how to feed their babies in order to prevent disturbance of nutrition. Just because a baby is fat is no sign that his nutritional development is good.

The children will be given a physical examination to determine the state of their development and whether or not they have any physical defects, hernias, diseased tonsils, etc. Advice will be given about the prevention of acute communicable diseases such as diphtheria, whooping cough, and smallpox. Inoculations will be available for diphtheria and smallpox.

It is the aim of the clinic to prevent deaths during the early years of life by giving advice as mentioned above. Every child should be seen by a physician every month during the first three months of life, then every other month to the end of the first year and then at least twice a year until school age.

From my observation, even though our infant death rate is lower than the state and national average, I know that our parents need instructions on how to take care of their babies. It is requested that intelligent persons call attention to mothers who need this information and advise them to come to our clinic.

Remember the date January 27th at 1:30 p. m. This clinic is for white babies only.
