Board Endorses Highway Head At Meeting March 1

County Commissioners Command Chairman Waynick For His State Work

Request By Baptists

Urge Commissioners Not To Call For Liquor Vote Until It Is Necessary

The Randolph county board of commissioners rallied to the support of Capus Waynick, chairman of the state highway and public works commission, who has been the target of increasing criticism, and passed a resolution at their meeting Monday recommending his reappointment.

The commissioners said in their resolution that Waynick had discharged his duties in a commendable manner, had given unsparingly of his time and effort to promoting the betterment of highway facilities, and had done all that could be expected from one in his position. Endorsing his administration, they specified that they favored his leadership for the highway commission whether it continues to operate as at present or is reorganized according to the proposal now before the assembly. A copy of the resolution was sent to Governor Hoey.

The executive-promotion committee of the Randolph Baptist Association submitted a resolution asking the board not to call an election on the local option sale of liquor (which the board may do at its discretion) unless forced to do so by the other method named in the law, the presentation of a petition signed by 15 per cent of the voters of the county. This resolution called attention to the fact that the association represented more than 3,200 residents of the county and numbered 29 churches. The board ordered it spread upon the minutes.

Also spread on the minutes was a notice served in person by L. T. Hammond that Ben Brown and E. M. Barber would hold the board responsible for the payment of $7 owed each of them in wages for work on the agriculture building. Brown and Barber were laborers on this job and assert that John Ferree, the contractor for the plastering the building, failed to pay them all that was due them.

The commissioners devoted a large part of the day to drawing the jurors for the term of criminal court which will begin March 29. It was ordered that L. T. Hammond advance the fee for serving civil summons in other counties, the same to be taxed in the line of costs in each case.

The commissioners also ordered that $50 be applied to the county welfare department from the emergency appropriation.

The tax report for February was presented by Sheriff C. E. King.

Two Hurt As Car Rams Into Truck

Wayne Spivey and his sister, Miss Dorothy Spivey, received numerous cuts and bruises but were not seriously hurt when their car crashed into a truck parked in front of the home of W. G. Lewallen on N. Fayetteville street about 6:20 Monday morning. They were coming from their home in North Asheboro to work when the accident occurred.

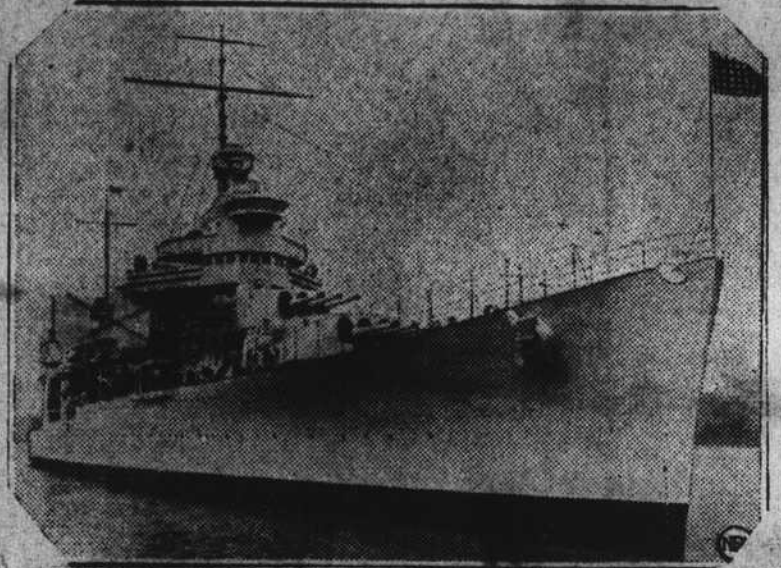

Officer Zeb Keever, who investigated, said that the icy condition of the highway at that point was probably responsible for the crash. The automobile was badly torn up, but the truck was not damaged.

The occupants of the car were taken to the Randolph hospital for treatment. Spivey left immediately after having his cuts attended to, but Miss Spivey remained for a time to recover from the shock and regain her strength.

The final votes for The Courier's Supreme Court poll is tabulated and has been of even more interest locally than was anticipated. While there have been several votes from Asheboro people, the majority of those coming into the office have come from rural sections of the county. Many of the votes have been accompanied by letters evincing interest in the question. An unusually large number of votes have come from the Staley and Bennett sections, which every nook and corner of Randolph has been represented. Trinity has also been represented.

Governors Of Six States Enter Plea

Dispatch Telegram To President Protesting Reduction Of WPA Activities

Lehman Is Leader

Claim Industry Cannot Absorb Vast Army Of Unemployed; Ask Relief

Governors of six states joined in a protest Sunday night before President Roosevelt for an audience at which they could submit suggestions for an "efficient and sound" solution of the unemployment relief problem.

Meeting at Governor Herbert H. Lehman's home in New York, the executives of Minnesota, Illinois, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, New York and Rhode Island, dispatched a telegram to Mr. Roosevelt saying:

"The cost of relief to employables cannot be borne by local units of government and we protest against the imposition of this burden onto the states and local units of government."

The conference, arranged by Governor Lehman, was an informal discussion of all phases of relief problems, which were found to be similar in the states represented. The governors were understood to be unanimous in the belief that the administration's plan to cut down the WPA rolls would throw a heavy strain on the funds of municipal as well as state governments.

With "scores of thousands" of employables still on home relief rolls, as one spokesman put it, the state and local relief agencies would be hard pressed to take care of persons severed from the WPA rolls who were unable to find jobs. (Please turn to Page 3)

Slot Machine Order Again Dissolved By Court Judge

The Randolph county slot machine battle was turned back by Sheriff C. E. King's favor Monday, as Judge Frank Armstrong, conducting a hearing in Greensboro, dissolved the order restraining the sheriff from seizing such devices in this county.

George F. Shaw, the plaintiff, was given until March 6, at 6 p. m. to remove all such slot machines from the county, and upon his failure to do so Sheriff King was ordered to seize and hold them pending further orders from the court. Consequently the scene of operations, which had shifted from Randolph county to High Point and from High Point to Greensboro as slot machine owners sought to evade confiscation of their machines, is now back home. In arriving at his decision Judge Armstrong held that the devices were definitely gambling devices such as were forbidden by statute and therefore illegal. The plaintiff was ordered to pay the costs of the action.

First Real Snow Of Winter Falls On Saturday Eve

Most Estimates Set Depth At Eight Inches In And Around Asheboro

Ideal For Snowballs

A Very Wet Snow With Precipitation Amounting To .57 Of An Inch

The snow which delighted the eyes of every youngster and most of the adults of Randolph county Saturday night has already suffered from three clear, sunny days, but enough remains to remind everyone that mild as the winter has been, it didn't pass without one real snowfall.

Estimates as to the depth of the fall have been just about as varying as the number of flakes. Conservatives have been holding the depth down to 6 or even 4 inches, while reported measurements have run as high as 11 1/2 inches. Unfortunately the device measuring rainfall as the city hall does not also measure snowfall; but measurements in several level places there Monday afternoon showed 5 inches of snow still on the ground, so that in all probability there must have been about eight inches originally.

The snow, the first worthy of being recorded in the town's weather reports, was a very "wet" snow and ideal for snowballs, which is after all the only excuse for its existence in places where it falls so infrequently that sleds are an extravagance.

Nevertheless, there were no evidences of broken windows or other such damage, nor did the snow bother traffic as much as was expected. Only one minor accident was reported in Asheboro caused by snowy streets, the highways were soon cleared, and schools were not forced to close.

The precipitation amounted to .57 of an inch, which marked the snow as very wet, and brought the total precipitation for the month to 3.11 inches.

Lines Down From Snow In Ramseur

Nancy Stroupe Elected President Of Music Club; Charles Tate Returns

Third Zone Meets

Rev. R. M. Hauss Delivers Fine Sermon; Interest In Courier Contest High

Ramseur, March 2.—The snow storm Saturday night left the town in darkness, some of the lines breaking and sending electricity lightning like in every direction from lines that were down. The service was necessarily crippled during Sunday. The heavy snow was a reminder of the one we had on March 4, 1927, though the temperature was lower at that time.

Many Ramseur people are disheartened with the action of lawmakers at Raleigh who ignored the will of those who elected them and passed the local option liquor bill. We are gratified to note that Randolph representatives didn't forget over night the attitude of their constituents toward liquor. Since legalized beer and wines in our community there has been a marked increase in drinking. It seems that there is little opposition.
