County Office Is Opened To Assist Local Farmers

Rehabilitation Supervisor To Open Office: Here 2 Days Each Week

Debt Information

Farmers Are Advised To Take Advantage Of The National Service

Edgar H. Anderson, rural rehabilitation supervisor for Randolph county will be located in the Creamery building, Salisbury street, Asheboro, Tuesday and Friday mornings of each week to assist farmers in the farm debt adjustment service now being carried on through the services of the national agency.

Attention is called to this important work which is directly under the supervision of the Rehabilitation division of the Resettlement administration.

There is no cost connected with the service, and no farmer in danger of losing his property through foreclosure, or who has reached the point where he is not sure of the best course to pursue, should be without the advice and assistance of those persons whose experience and every-day duties give them more than average knowledge in untangling knotty debt problems.

Farm debt adjustment workers, through the assistance of voluntary debt adjustment committees, are now doing for the farmer with a difficult debt problem, just what many industrious business men in distress have been able to do for themselves, namely, laying out an adjustment on the basis of ability to pay and on the basis of what is best in the long run for both debtor and creditor.

Until further notice, Mr. Anderson will be in Asheboro, Tuesday and Friday mornings of each week and he or his representatives will be glad to confer with those desiring debt assistance.

A review of debt adjustment activities of North Carolina shows that total indebtedness of cases already adjusted in this state amounts to $2,344,633. The debts condition or refinanced on a basis were settled, placed in an active of ability to pay. Records also show that more than $65,000 in back taxes was paid into county treasuries as a result of the debts adjusted.

At a meeting of the local school board on Friday night W. H. Dewar was re-elected principal for the next year. All of the present faculty was re-elected except Mrs. Claude Dorsett and Mrs. Hal Bingham, who requested that their names should not be considered.

HUEY'S HEIRS VOTE WINNERS

Louisiana saw a new flame of Huey P. Long politics when the son and daughter of the late senator staged an old-time rabble-rousing rally to carry the election at Louisiana State University and sweep Rose Long, 20, above, into office. Her brother, Russell, 18, standing by Rose, managed his sister's campaign for students' vice president. His success at handling election crowds may be judged from the enthusiastic hand-clapping of platform sitters at right.

London Thronged Pre Coronation In Full Swing

Strike of Busmen Ties Up Street Traffic; 5,000 City Buses Idle.

Wallis Stays Mrs.

Duke's Fiancee Assumes Name of Warfield But Is No "Miss."

London.—Huge crowds estimated at more than 1,000,000 people swept into the full tide of gay, dazzling pre-coronation celebrations today while King George VI played host at a brilliant state banquet in Buckingham palace.

Jamming streets and hotels, breaking through police cordons and trudging gaily where they could not ride—London's busmen are still on strike—the coronation visitors swarmed around the palace.

They roared "we want the King" for hours while inside the Monarch entertained at the greatest banquet since the 1911 coronation festivities of his father, the late George V.

Hundreds of cars circled the palace, some with roofs loaded with gay, singing passengers.

The walkout of 25,500 busmen, tying up 5,000 buses and throwing London's traffic into an almost hopeless jam, gave every indication of continuing through Wednesday, coronation day.

But those who came—and are still coming by the thousands—from all parts of the world showed little concern even though 12,000 street car employes appeared eager to join the busmen. Some busmen's groups called for strikes of other public service employes.

Mounts—The Duke of Windsor's fiancee assumed her maiden name Wallis Warfield, her spokesman, Herman L. Rogers of New York, announced yesterday as a result of legal action in London.

Her name—under which she will marry the former British Monarch is now "Mrs. Wallis Warfield," he said. He emphasized it was "Mrs.," not "Miss."

Application for the change, dropping the name of Simpson, was made to a London court five days ago. The former Baltimore woman's solicitors advised her by telephone today the change had been legalized, Rogers said.

Highway Board In Session Today

Program Dividing State Into Ten Districts To Be Discussed

Raleigh.—The ten newly appointed members of the State Highway and Public Works Commission met here today with new Chairman Frank L. Dunlap to go into an all day huddle in an effort to divide the state into ten districts, for while Governor Clyde R. Hoey appointed ten district commissioners, none of these ten knows yet just what counties are in his district.

Incidentally, the house and senate roads committees tried for three months to work out districts that would be satisfactory, but finally gave it up and passed the buck to the new commissioners. For the law as finally passed stipulates that the ten commissioners, after their appointment, shall divide the state up into ten highway districts.

Well Known Woman Is Buried Monday

Funeral service was held Monday afternoon at the local Methodist Protestant church for Mrs. L. E. Cole, well known Asheboro woman who died early Sunday morning at her home in Asheboro.

Mrs. Cole, who was 69, was stricken less than a week ago, suffering a stroke of paralysis while about her usual duties. Dr. S. W. Taylor, pastor of the church, conducted the service which was followed by burial in the Asheboro cemetery.

She leaves several sons and daughters, all well known in this section:

Survivors are five daughters, Mrs. J. B. Presnell, Seagrave, route two; Mrs. Blanche Cagle, Spartanburg, S. C.; Mrs. Manley Williams, Mrs. Clyde Hendricks and Mrs. A. B. Cox, Asheboro, and two sons, E. B. and C. F. Cole, of Asheboro.

The Monroe Brothers, radio stars of Raleigh, entertained an enthusiastic audience in the courthouse last night. The affair was under the auspices of the P.O.S. of A. The program included a series of popular songs and instrumental numbers as well as several interesting dialogues.

Security Cards To Identify Only

Counterfeits Being Used To Cash Checks; Board Warns Merchants

Instances of alleged counterfeit social security account cards being used for identification in cashing checks brought from the Social Security board today a caution that cards issued by the board are for identification purposes under the Social Security Act.

Possession of an account card, holds no particular significance for other identification purposes or for the financial responsibility of the individual, W. L. O'Brien, Jr., field representative in charge of the Social Security board office at 828 Guilford building in Greensboro said.

The board wished to emphasize, Mr. O'Brien said, that under the circumstances in which account cards are designed to be used it is against the employee's interests to use a card other than his own.

Account numbers are being used by the board in administering the Federal old-age benefits plan and by the states in administering their unemployment compensation laws.

For purposes of the Federal old-age benefits program, employers, beginning next July, will use account numbers in reporting the amount of wages paid employees. These wages will be credited to the individual employee's social security account. The amount of old-age benefits will be based on the total amount of wages paid the individual employee in covered employment after 1936 and until he reaches age 65, Mr. O'Brien pointed out.

Employees in industry and commerce who do not have account numbers were urged to apply immediately at their local post offices for them. Duplicate account cards, Mr. O'Brien added, may be obtained in the same way by employees who have lost their cards.

The next period will close at press time, Thursday, the winner will be awarded two tickets for admission to the Capital's showing of "Nancy Steele is Missing."

Japanese interests will buy salt beds at Hanku, China.

Adjourned Session of County Commissioners on Monday, 10

The Randolph county commissioners at an adjourned meeting in the court house at Asheboro yesterday authorized the chairman to sign notes providing for borrowing $50,000 to meet pending obligations of the county. The funds were provided for in the budget but tax collection have not been sufficient to meet the present obligations.

The board appointed a special committee for appraisal of new buildings and improvements for taxation purposes. The two named were Clegg Garner and William Wingham. A third is to be selected by those two.

This special meeting followed the regular session of the board, held on Monday, May 3rd, according to the custom of meeting the first Monday of every month. There was no routine work at this session, only special matters disposed of by the full membership of the board present for the meet-

Sit-Down Strikes To Have No Place

Governor Tells Rotarians State Will Not Tolerate Such Conditions

600 At Session

J. Shepard Brown and John A. Park New Governors: Hill and Mack Lose

Governor Clyde R. Hoey, speaking at the 57th District conference of Rotary International at Pinehurst last night reaffirmed his assertion that sit-down strikes will not be tolerated in North Carolina. He promised "equal protection to all classes" and repeated his earlier assertions that labor and capital, have right which will be protected in this state.

Referring indirectly to recent labor troubles at Morehead City, where textile union organizers claimed they were escorted to the city limits and warned not to return, the Governor said, "This is a free State and the rights of all must be equally protected by all the officers of the law."

Approximately 600 Rotarians from the Carolinas are attending the conference. John P. Kennedy, a radio man, also spoke.

John A. Park, Raleigh newspaper publisher, and J. Shepara Bryan, attorney and superintendent of the Dunn city schools, were elected governors of Rotary Districts 57-A and 57-B.

They defeated Montgomery Hill of Greensboro and J. Mack Hatch of Belmont in the election today. The results were announced after tonight's addresses.

The Governor did not mention Morehead City by name, but told reporters recent labor disputes there prompted his address.

"Organizers of labor unions have the right to solicit memberships and otherwise peacefully organize such workers as wish to become members of the organization," Hoey said, "and no one has the right to hinder or prevent them from going forward with their endeavor, nor to seek to intimidate any worker who may wish to join.

On the other hand, he asserted, the organizers may not molest workers who do not wish to join a union.

"I have previously stated that sit-down strikes are unlawful and will not be tolerated in North Carolina," the chief executive told the Rotarians. "I reaffirm that position.

Dr. C. G. Smith and Henry Ingram are attending the conference as delegates from the Asheboro club. Arthur Ross, Jr., and Elwood Rhein are alternates.

W. R. SLOTZ, STAR ROUTE WINNER OF TIP TICKETS

Legion Post Nets $50 At Air Show

Over 2,000 Attend Sunday Affair; Pilots Thrill With Daring Stunts

Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons attended the air show staged by the Flying Aces at the Asheboro airport Sunday. The show, given under auspices of Dixon post 55, American Legion, netted that organization about $50. The total admissions paid, according to the management was $268. The receipts, it was stated, was decidedly lower than anticipated due to the lack of sufficient man power to direct traffic and handle the large throng which attended the affair.

The show was marked with a series of intricate stunts by the pilots, handling the ships. Miss Jessie Martin thrilled the crowd with acrobatic stunts atop a flying plane. Jack Huber one of America's outstanding parachute jumpers bailed out of a ship at approximately 12,000 feet and delayed opening his chute until about two hundred feet above the ground. Other acts included a "dog fight" by the pilots, power dives, barrel rolls, tail spins and other events.

Asheboro Home Is Selection of Bees

We've heard of chickens coming home to roost but today we received a report of "bees coming home to hive" although they didn't actually come home.

It seems that a large swarm were cut house hunting and decided upon Asheboro and its environs. So they came a-buzzing towards the home of W. R. Soltz, Asheboro Star route.

Mr. Soltz was plowing and Mrs. Soltz was working in her flower garden. She saw the swarm first, "here comes a swarm of bees," she called to her husband. "I can't leave the horses," he answered. But before any action was necessary the queen bee or king bee which ever is the boss-man headed into Mr. Soltz's wood shed.

It happened that Mr. Soltz had several empty hives in that shed. When he and his wife walked in the swarm had taken possession and completely filled one. After dark they moved the hive to a better location. The bees are doing well and apparently content with their new quarters.

Prominent Man Of Greensboro Dies

Harry L. Barton, Widely Known Architect, Is Dead; Community Builder

Harry Barton, well known Greensboro architect, died Sunday night in a Greensboro hospital following a week's illness. Funeral service was held this afternoon at the First Presbyterian church of which he was a member.

Harry Barton was one of the leading citizens in the community, in the religious, the business, the professional, the civic life he was always active, and was well known and esteemed by and unusually large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a devout member and elder of the First Presbyterian church and had for a number of years served as clerk of the session. He was active in the Kiwanis club, the chamber of commerce and all moves for the development of the community found in him a ready sponsor. He was a member of Greensboro Lodge No. 76, A. F. and A. M.

In the business life of the community during the past quarter of a century he had played an important part. Some of the more imposing structures in this and other cities throughout the state were designed by Mr. Barton and their construction supervised by him. Included are the Guilford county courthouse, the Greensboro City Hall, and county and municipal buildings elsewhere. The downtown Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. buildings, a number of the buildings on the campus of Woman's college, and a number of churches in the city and elsewhere throughout the state were the product of his handiwork.
