The chief threat to Hopkins' pro- Freak Electric Storm And gram in the senate came from an administration spokesman—Senator Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina. Byrnes said today he would seek to cut the appropriation to $1,000,000,000 and to require local governments to put up 40 per cent of the cost of their relief projects. This proposal has substantial support within the subcommittee which will consider the bill. While the senate committee was arranging for Hopkins' appearance, the house heard a backfire from its bitter relief controversy. Representative Maverick, Democrat, Texas, demanded an investigation of WPA. Maverick proposed creation of a house committee of five to make a "thorough investigation of the works progress administration." The committee would be directed to investigate the extent to which relief was granted or denied, if any, and appointments to WPA positions governed by political affil-

Maverick also proposed the cre ation of a standing house committee to handle relief measures and a committee to frrmulate a permanent relief policy. The senate has also heard similar proposals but no action has been taken. Former Program Quickly Altered

Removing Publicity Amendment Will Not Open Hearings When Necessary.

Senate Must Vote

Doughton and Other Leaders Tried in Vain to Rush Measure Through Wednesday.

A committee of house represenatives meeting Wednesday in Washington, was critical of a part of the Roosevelt program and al-tered the plan formerly used by the Roosevelt program to use publicity as a weapon against wealthy persons accused of evading taxes. The first move made was to strike out the provision authorizing a joint congressional committee, which would conduct an inquiry into tax-dodging, to make public data obtained from tax returns and other treasury documents. Representative O'Connor, of New York, chairman of the rules committee, stated that the publicity amendment would not preclude open hearings when tax returns might be made the basis of questions put to witnesses.

The joint committee, by another alteration in the resolution, would be directed to submit the returns to the house ways and means and senate finance committees. Those committees would decide whether the information should go to the whole house or senate.

In addition, a section to which O'Connor objected, authorizing agents of the treasury to pursue the investigation at the discretion of the joint committee, was struck out in its entirety.

O'Connor said he expected to bring the resolution before the house on Thursday, with provision for one hour's debate. If, however, the committee's changes are approved, the measure will be forced to further delay while a senate conference is held over the bill. Chairman Doughton sought to bring the bill before the house on Wednesday, but met stumbling blocks in the form of O'Connor, and many questions pertaining to un- the procedure leaders sought to Maverick objected to efforts to pass the legislation swiftly. He complained of the technique whereby legislation is prepared in executive departments, and then sent to Congress. Some of the bills he said, looked as though they had peen written in foreign lands.

The proposed investigating committee, suggested after President Roosevelt said wealthy persons were evading huge sums in taxes, would inquire into methods of alleged invasion, and suggest remedial legislation. The wealthy persons accused probably would be summoned to testify.

Meanwhile Attorney General Cummings said at a press conference that four weapons should be used against tax evaders-prosecution, public opinion, new legislation and "discerning" court opin-
