ADDITIONAL ACREAGE CONSERVED IN WILSON

Wilson, Aug. 16.—Approximately 850 additional acres of crop land in the lower part of Wilson county will be planted to soil conserving and soil building crops as a result of the heavy hail storm of last week, reports County Agent W. L. Adams. A check on the damage shows that 150 acres of tobacco, 200 acres of cotton and about 500 acres of corn and other crops were practically destroyed. This major damage was sustained by twelve growers while many other farmers had smaller acreages damaged from five to one hundred percent, Adams says.

Paul G. Trueblood Goes To Guilford

Noted Educator Takes Up English Department; Well Equipped.

Guilford College, Aug. 17.—Dr. Paul Graham Trueblood, of Roseburg, Ore., has been appointed associate professor of English at Guilford College for the year, 1937-1938 in the absence of Prof. Philips W. Furnas, who will be on leave of absence for study at Harvard university. Mrs. Helen Churchill Trueblood will be matron of Mary Hobbs Hall, girls' dormitory. Dr. Trueblood is a native of Iowa. He received his elementary and secondary and college education in Oregon, and in 1928 graduated from Willamette university, Salem, Ore., with the A. B. degree. From 1928 until 1931, he held a graduate assistantship in English at Duke university, where he received the A. M. degree in 1930 and completed residence requirements for the doctorate in 1931. He received the Ph. D. degree from Duke in 1935. Dr. Trueblood was instructor in English at Friends university, Wichita, Kan., from 1931 to 1934.

He spent the year, 1934-1935 in advanced study at Ponder Hill, Quaker graduate school, since 1935, has been head of the English department in the Mohonk school, Lake Mohonk, N. Y. Mrs. Trueblood is a graduate of Oregon State college with the B. S. degree. She has the certificate of dietetics from Santa Barbara Cottage hospital, and has been head dietitian of the Portland, Ore., Medical hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Trueblood and their young daughter will reach Guilford early in September. The University of Pavia, in Italy, was founded in 825.

Oak Trees Suffer From Leaf Blight

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—Leaf curl or leaf blight, a disease of native oaks caused by fungi, is widespread over North Carolina this year, according to O. P. Owens, of the State college department of botany. This disease appears in the spring before new leaves mature. Gray or bluish spots form on the leaves and cause the leaf surface to push out so that it is concave on one side and convex on the other. The infected tissue soon dies and turns dark brown. Sometimes a number of spots are found on one leaf. The fungi spreads rapidly from leaf to leaf and often 50 to 90 percent of the foliage becomes infected. Owens pointed out that leaf curl in advanced stages stunts the growth of oak trees and damages the root systems, as the diseased leaves cannot properly carry out their function of manufacturing food material. The disease was fairly widespread last year, and has spread still farther this year, but conditions favoring development of the disease rarely persist for several years in succession, he added. For this reason, the trees are seldom if ever killed by leaf curl.

The fungi lie over the winter on the bark and bud scales of the oaks. It may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture composed of 4 pounds of builders lime, 4 pounds of copper sulphate or bluestone, and 50 gallons of water. The spray should be applied in the spring about ten days before the buds open. However, Owens pointed out that spraying is not always advisable since the disease seldom persists in severe form for more than a year or two. Gross tonnage of ships applies only to the vessels, not to cargoes.
