Charlie a Dummy? Look at This!

When stately Mae West murmured: "Come up 'n' see me sometime," dark and handsome Charlie McCarthy hurried to her famous mirrored boudoir before she had the phone out of her hands, hung his hat on the head of Mae's bed and settled down to enjoy himself as shown above. But he became the first man in history to turn Mae down when he declined a role in her forthcoming picture "Edgar Bergen, who disgusted Charlie by insisting on coming along, explained that the famous dummy already had his hands full with radio work.

Nine Students Initiated To Phi Beta Kappa At UNC

Chapel Hill, Dec. 10.—Nine new members have been initiated into the university Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

They are: Frances Sterling Brown, Drexel Hill, Penn.; James Wiggins Coan, Winston-Salem; George Alexander Heard, Savannah, Ga.; James Scott Hunter, Hendersonville; John Whitefield Kendrick, Greensboro.; Anthony Stanley Konefal, Bassic, N. J.; Roger Wilson Linville, Kernersville; William Tillman McGowan, Jr., Timmonsville, S. C.; Nicholas Cabell Read, Montgomery, Ala.

Three former students, Rufus Franklin Harward, Jr., Raleigh; Henry Wilkin, Lewis Jr., Jackson; and Elva Ann Ranson, Charlotte, who were graduated last June, were enrolled as members.

The new members, after being inducted into the organization by President Lawrence Hinkle, of Raleigh, were addressed by Frances F. Bradshaw, Dean of Men at the University, who congratulated them on their fine record, urging them to maintain the high pace set by the fraternity.

Among these men, who have maintained a scholastic average of 92.5 for eight consecutive quarters, are several student leaders. Heard is chairman of the Carolina Political Union, non-partisan student political organization. Hunter is president of the YMCA and Kendrick is chairman of the Foreign Policy League. Read was president of the University Club last year and Henry Lewis edited the 1937 edition of the Yackety Yack. Miss Ranson was secretary of the Woman's Association and vice-president of the YWCA.

Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood.—It's to be four pictures a year, no more, for Skippy, alias Asta, alias Mr. Smith.

Henry East, owner and manager of the brightest little wire-hair in pictures—"The Thin Man," "The Awful Truth," etc.—now turns down "unimportant" roles for his protégé. East thinks too many screen appearances will jeopardize Skippy's screen value, which is considerable, as East recently recently refused to sell the dog for $25,000....

Over-Priming
Speculation: Would any movie fan notice it if the star didn't rush over, between takes, to have the hairdresser smooth every last strand of hair into place? It seemed especially silly, seeing Deanna Durbin having her nice bob patted and brushed when it looked no different before or after. What 14-year-old school-girl, excited as Deanna was supposed to be in the scene, ever looked so perfectly coiffured?

Fred Allen (in "Sally, Irene, and Mary") memorizes his lines faithfully but the other day he fumbled a couple he was supposed to be reading Jimmy Dora. To from a letter.... Not strange, however, because they never, never write anything on movie letters.

French Do Own Make-Up
Today's quotation, from Halliwell Hobbes: "Life begins at 50, not 40. All the major emotions, love, hate, jealousy, great ambition, pride of power, determination to succeed at any price, are or should be the sole prerogatives of youth.... When hot blood cools and age advances, then is the time to rearrange one's viewpoints and so arrange life that its autumn shall be one of beauty and rounded-out accomplishment...." (Hobbes, by this reckoning, recently turned 10 years of age....)

Daniello Darrioux, like Annabella, will do her own make-up for pictures.... Must be an old French custom, inasmuch as Simone's first major battle in Hollywood was fought with the make-up man.... Annabella is concentrating on American ways and speeches now.... Orders in her home are for no French dialogue, and none but typically American food....

Steep And Eroded Land Retired

Raleigh, Dec. 8.—Approximately 1,400 acres of steep and eroded land has been retired to permanent pasture by farmers cooperating with the soil conservation service and State college extension service in the erosion-control demonstration area near High Point. An additional 600 acres of old pasture has been treated, giving 2,000 acres of improved pasture in the area.

While this is only a part of the complete erosion-control program which cooperators are putting forth on their farms it is a phase of the work that has enabled them to work out a better balanced farm program and a more even distribution of farm labor, James M. Parks, project agronomist, points out.

T. A. Winslow, a tobacco farmer who in 1935 established three acres of improved pasture as a part of his erosion-control program, is now making dairying his main farm enterprise. He has increased his dairy cows from three that supplied the family with milk to 15 cows from which he gets a monthly income throughout the year.

Z. L. Groome, another tobacco farmer, has retired several acres of tobacco land to improved pasture on which he is grazing beef cattle. He is growing additional crops of soil-conserving crops for winter feed, is growing a winter cover crop mixture of small grain, Austrian winter peas, and vetch for a spring hay crop and lespedeza as a summer hay crop, Parks said.

Toy Matinee At Carolina Features May Robson

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the Carolina theatre opens its doors to the kiddies of Asheboro and they will be guests of the "Toy Matinee," sponsored by the theatre with the cooperation of the Sorosis club and the Girl and Boy Scouts of Asheboro.

May Robson in "Three Kids and A Queen" is the feature picture to be shown the children, wherein Miss Robson as an elderly, eccentric and very rich lady, opens the story arriving in New York after an European trip with her dog, Aubrey, a pampered pooch on which she lavishes all her affection. In the course of the picture Miss Robson is kidnapped and plays poker with her captors.

The admission will be any and all old toys which the children would like to give to the needy children in Asheboro and vicinity. The used toys will be taken up and repaired by the Boy and Girl Scouts and then distributed with the aid of the Sorosis club.

All children are asked to come to the theatre and bring their broken toys in order that Santa Claus will be able to get around to the less fortunate children on Christmas morning.

Goat's Milk Now Discussed Topic

Describing the milk goat as "a handy pocket edition of the cow" that will thrive where it is not practical to keep a cow, the new Yearbook of the United States department of agriculture tells of progress in improving native goats by using sires of milk breeds—Saanen and Toggenburg from Switzerland.

Many native goats have too short a lactation period—only about four months—and are not heavy producers even when in milk. The best of the does in the milk breeds will produce for about nine months, and one Saanen doe made a record of nearly seven quarts of milk a day through a 9-month lactation. A good milker will give enough for a small family and may be kept on one-sixth to one-eighth the quantity of feed required for one cow.

V. L. Simmons, of the department believes milk goats are likely to become increasingly important as a practical part of live-at-home programs. On the average it costs less to buy a goat than a cow, and less to keep one. The milk makes a desirable addition to the diet. In the department's herd at the National agricultural research center the program of top-crossing has increased the average period of lactation 145 percent and the average annual production 335 percent.

Goat milk has about the same range in butterfat content as cow milk and varies in like manner with the breeds and between individuals. The fat in goat milk, however, is in finer divisions and though the cream does not "rise," it can be separated mechanically.

Movie of the Month "HURRICANE" TOPS LIST, SAYS COONS

By Robin Coons
(P) Feature Service Writer
Hollywood—Twenty minutes of sound and fury entitled "The Hurricane" to a place among the important movies of film history and make it an obvious choice for this month's No. 1 production from Hollywood.

Until the fictional story of Novelist Norhoff and Hall is realized on the screen. "The Hurricane" is a fairly routine treatment of reliable cinema stuff that can be catalogued in the Island Idyll bracket. It is done with photographic beauty, generally good acting, and all the customary trappings of this type of film. Innocent, happy, carefree natives cavort in sarongs and leis, eat mammoth banquets from nature's abundant hands, and swim and run and dance as a colorful background for the story of the native youth Terangi and his bride Marama.

The tale of Terangi, who loved freedom enough to accumulate a total of 16 years' jail sentence through repeated attempts to escape, has its quota of excitement, pathos and adventure, especially in the escape sequences. But the real money's worth in the picture is that 20 minutes of wind, rain, and tumultuous water which constitutes the screen's most realistic and terrifying depiction of the elements to date.

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

Question: How many pigs can be turned into a lot where steers are being fattened?
Answer: This depends upon the form in which the concentrate is fed, and the age of the steers. For two-year-old animals from one to two pigs should follow each steer when snapped corn is fed; one to two pigs when husked ear corn is fed; one pig per steer when shelled corn is used, and one pig to each two or three steers when the corn is crushed or ground. With steers that are less than two years old, the number of pigs would be reduced. In addition to the feed picked up in the lot, the pigs should be given an animal protein supplement and minerals.

Question: What is the best time to sow seeds in cold frames or hot-beds for the early spring garden?
Answer: The best time to sow the plants are wanted in the field and also upon the section. Hardy crops such as cabbages and lettuce are usually transplanted to the field as early as January 15 in the eastern part of the state. In the mountain sections, these hardy crops are started in the hotbeds of coldframes about January 1 to 15. For a very early crop, tender vegetables such as tomatoes and peppers should be started from 8 to 10 weeks before it is safe to set them in the field and for the main summer crops the seed should be sown from three to four weeks before danger of frost is over.

Question: Should oyster shell be kept before the laying hens at all times?
Answer: This mineral may be substituted with ground limestone but one or the other should be accessible to the laying flock all the time. The mineral content of the hen's body is nearly four percent and the mineral content of the egg is eleven percent so it is necessary that the birds have certain mineral elements for growth and repair of the body. Other necessary minerals are bone meal and salt. These elements supply calcium, phosphorus, sodium and chlorine and the oyster shell or ground limestone supplies additional calcium.

The coffee tree is believed to have developed originally in Ethiopia.

this technical achievement lead you to expect too much, you'll find the Goldwyn version of a hurricane a thrilling and devastating experience which may leave you limp in your seat. It makes the very praiseworthy typhoon of "Ebb Tide", another current film storm, seem like a good stiff breeze.

Aided by the furious moaning whine of the sound track, by the wild tempestuous music, and by a little imagination, you can share in the terror of the human beings who are washed and blown away with their pitiful houses by the "wind that overturns the world", and then you can marvel that there are survivors—Terangi and Marama among them.

Hall Shows Promise
The hurricane itself, engineered by James Basevi, the technical genius who did the earthquake sequence of "San Francisco", is so overwhelming that individual performances, even those of Raymond Massey as the duty-obsessed governor and Thomas Mitchell as the convivial Dr. Kersaint, do not stand out as they might in a less raucous film.

Jor Hall as Terangi exhibits promise, a handsome physique and prowess as a swimmer and diver. His effectiveness in the prison sequences indicates a possible future as actor as well as athlete. Dorothy Lamour makes a beautiful heroine, and C. Aubrey Smith brings ruggedness to the priest's role. Mary Astor is sympathetic as the governor's wife, a role not over-taxing her talents.

John Ford directed with his customary vigor, although his hand is not so apparent as in most of his films. That he brought 'em back alive—his actors and all who were subjected to Basevi's artificial storm—is not the least of his achievements here.

JIMMY SAVO, THE SAVANT, MYSTIFIES MISCHA, THE MYSTIC

Mischa Auer and Jimmy Savo, two of the six featured comedians in Universal's "Merry-Go-Round of 1938," get all tangled up in a mist of mysticism while preparing a sequence for the picture. Jimmy asks, "How do you go about being a Swami, do you know?" To which Mischa replies, "Why sure. I'm a Swami from the Swinnee shore. I'll show you. First you hypnotize the subject." Jimmy swims through the Swami lesson like a swordfish slashing off a slice of the sea. A trance descends on him and he declares, "I feel some strange power coming over me. Look, now I can hypnotize you." And, sure enough, he does. Mischa, mystic master of mesmerism, Swami from the Swinnee shore, slips under the hypnotic spell of Jimmy Savo, the newfound savant. Mischa finds himself at long last in the grip of a sticklish situation.
